

Kappa Pledges at Nebraska U. Have Athletic Ability

By BURT F. NEWTON

Kappa Pledges at University of Nebraska possess athletic ability. Recent initiates into the Scroller club of Kappa Alpha Psi's Eta Chapter at the University of Nebraska include four men who promise to achieve by their athletic ability fame for themselves and the fraternity during their college careers.

One of the Scrollers will become the first Negro to earn a varsity letter at the University of Nebraska in more than three decades. Clinton Ross, outstanding Cornhusker eleven of 1913-1914, was the last Negro to earn a varsity letter. Ross, incidentally, was also a member of Kappa Alpha Psi. He became a charter member of Eta when the chapter was established on the Nebraska campus in 1916. Ross is now an attorney in California.

The four new Kappa pledges and their athletic fields are as follows:

Charles Bryant, sophomore from Omaha, was a member of the current Nebraska football squad. Bryant lacked only 15 minutes of lettering this past season as he became an important member of the squad in the last four Cornhusker games. In order to letter a player had to have 75 minutes playing time.

A back injury kept Bryant from making the trip to Oklahoma and possibly robbed him of lettering time. Bryant had made all the other trips and had playing time in all the other games. Just under six feet and weighing 185, Bryant was the fastest lineman on the Husker squad.

An All-State guard selection from Omaha South High in 1950, Bryant came to Nebraska and played freshmen football without the aid usually given athletes. However, he was given an athletic scholarship this year and is expected to be a regular guard on the 1953 eleven.

Robert Fairchild, president of the Scroller club and sophomore from Omaha, is the fastest sprinter on the Nebraska campus. Fairchild saw action last spring with the track team and won the 60-yard dash in two indoor meets. Freshmen were allowed to compete in the Big Seven last year.

In an indoor meet against Kansas State, Bob was running even with Thane Baker—member of Olympic team and Big Seven sprint champion—when he suffered a leg injury that kept him out of competition for the remainder of the season. Bob had not scored enough points to earn his letter. However, Fairchild still has the chance to become the first Negro to letter since Clinton Ross. He reports that his leg is in "great shape" as he works out daily for the coming track season. Bob was an outstanding athlete at Omaha Central High School.

Jon McWilliams, six-foot 175-pounder from Sidney in western Nebraska, is secretary-treasurer of the Eta chapter Scroller club. An All-State halfback in 1951, Jon starred on the current freshman team. In a summary of fresh talent, quick and shifty McWilliams was called: "Best halfback of all."

Haynes Harrington is a six-foot five-inch giant from Anderson, Indiana, where he was an outstanding prep school basketball player. Harrington was sent to Nebraska by friends of Nebraska's basketball coach, Harry Good. Mr. Good coached in Indiana before coming to Nebraska. Harrington, now laboring with the freshmen basketball squad, is considered a great prospect.

Having already learned that the fundamental purpose of Kappa Alpha Psi is achievement, Bryant, Fairchild, McWilliams, and Harrington have gone far in accomplishing the aims and purposes of the fraternity.

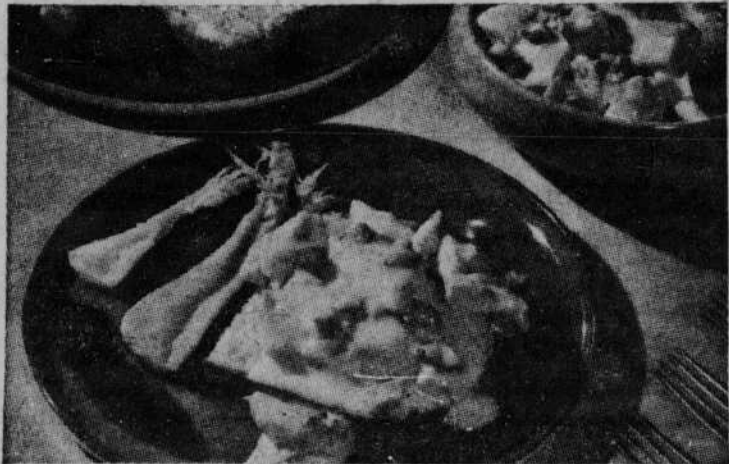

MIAMI—Quarterback Alkin "Mr. Cool" Hepburn scored the first touchdown of the 1951 Orange Blossom classic when he "sneaked" through the North Carolina Eagles forward wall 4:34 of the initial quarter.

Toasted Corn Bread Tops Chicken a la King Taste

Just how the name "King" came to be associated with this popular luncheon, dinner or supper dish is a matter that usually brings forth a little discussion.

Some claim that Chicken a la King was named for a Philadelphia restaurant owner who dreamed up the dish late one evening, years ago, when his supply of chicken was low and a late-evening crowd ordered chicken. Others believe it was so named because it is fare fit for a king.

Whatever its rightful origin may be, you can't beat Chicken or Turkey a la King for goodness when it is served on toasted corn bread. Corn bread possesses a rich flavor that's naturally sociable with the tasty creamed chicken or turkey. A strong point in favor of this combination is that the toasted corn bread will not go limp when it's covered with the hot mixture.

Toasted corn bread makes the perfect base for the King method of using the strippings taken from the left over carcass of a holiday bird, whether it's turkey or chicken.

CHICKEN a la KING ON TOASTED CORN BREAD

- ¼ cup green pepper, chopped
- 1 tablespoon onion
- ¼ cup butter or margarine.
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 cup chicken stock
- 1 cup cream
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon white pepper

- 2 tablespoons pimiento, cut
- 3 cups diced cooked chicken or turkey
- 2 egg yolks, well beaten
- ½ cup chicken or turkey stock, cold

Toasted corn bread (recipe below) Brown green pepper and onion lightly in butter or margarine. Blend in the flour. Add stock and cream and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salt, pepper, pimiento, and chicken, and cook, covered, 20 minutes in top of double boiler. Just before serving, stir in the well-beaten egg yolks mixed with the ½ cup stock. Serve on squares of corn bread which have been split and toasted in toaster or broiler. Yield: 6 servings.

CORN BREAD

- 1½ cups corn meal
 - ½ cup sifted flour
 - 1½ teaspoons salt
 - 3 teaspoons baking powder
 - 2 eggs, beaten slightly
 - 1½ cups milk
 - ¼ cup melted butter or margarine.
- (If self-rising corn meal and flour are used, omit salt and baking powder.)
- Mix and sift the dry ingredients together. Combine beaten egg, milk, and melted butter or margarine which has been cooled. Pour liquids over dry ingredients, mixing only until moistened. Pour into a well-greased 8- or 9-inch square pan and bake in a 400°F. oven until it shrinks from the sides of the pan, about 20 to 25 minutes.

Fashion Trends

Fashion Will Be A White Christmas

Seems that it will definitely be a white Christmas this year. At least that is the way it appears from the fashion point of view.

In preparation for the forthcoming holiday season, stores everywhere are featuring the ever fashionable white ball gowns. White has always had a special type of appeal for evening wear, and this year more than ever, that perennial favorite is seen in profusion.

The very bouffant ball gowns, in traditional fabrics such as nylon net and tulle are in the majority, but a very impressive number of very slim silhouettes are in evening wear. This latter no doubt was inspired by the advent of the "Siren Look," but when seen in white and some of the other colors not generally associated with so sophisticated a silhouette, the effect is wonderful. There is indication that there will be great acceptance of this new narrow line.

Further attesting to the popularity of white is the recently revived interest in little white furs—mink and fox—worn with gala full length gowns which promise to contribute glamorously to the holiday festivities.

The white furs appearing on the fashion horizon are in reality only touches of fur—a wonderful thing that is too, for anything larger than a muff in the new glamour white furs is absolutely prohibitive as far as the average pocket-book is concerned. But the little scarfs, stoles, muffs and brief jackets certainly add a touch of elegance and drama to the nation's fashion picture.

The millinery industry will be making its contribution to the white holiday season. Already the little white hat can be seen in millinery departments throughout the nation. In fact, the white hat has already become popular as a fashion item this season. The new deep cloches are very much in evidence, as well as such perennial favorites as the pillbox and beret.

One thing of interest is the fact that hats are really covering the head this year. The most popular silhouette is the deep crown of the '20's with little or no hair peeking out from underneath the new cloches in much the same manner as the flapper of that time.

Finally, the jewelry of the season is in keeping with the idea of a white Christmas, for rhinestones are without doubt the favorite jewelry of the moment. While rhinestones are not white in the truest sense of the word, they have the brilliance, the clarity and the sparkle without which Christmas—white or otherwise—
