Mrs. Eisenhower And Fashion

Now that there is a new President and a new party in office, there could reasonably be much speculation as to the possible political import, but with a new First Lady in the person of Mamie, as she is fondly called, the fashion path seems well charted.

Famous people are always watched by the fashion industry and by the public. Many have been known to launch any number of important fashion ideas. Witness the influence of Frank Sinatra on bow ties a few years ago; or the Windsor know in ties and the plus-fours popularized by the Duke of Windsor.

What little girl did not yearn for Shirley Temple curls over a decade ago? The Eisenhower jacket, popularized by the President when he was a general in World War II, is still a fashionable gear.

There have been many predictions as to whether or not Mrs. Eisenhower's bangs will join the "immortals." My opinion is that those now famous bangs will never rival the influence of Mme. Pompadour on past and present coiffures, but the new First Lady will set a fashion pace unrivalled for quite some time.

Possessing a very youthful figure (she wears size twelve), she wears clothes with a flair and a conviction. Knowing her type, (very feminine) she wears those costumes which flatter her figure and personality, regardless of the latest fashion whim. For example, it is reported that she looks best in full skirts, so she wears them often, and prefers them to the newly introduced sheaths.

The millinery industry will be happy over the fact that Mamie has a fondness for hats. She reputedly carried fifty with her on the campaign train. This will be a boon to a facet of the fashion industry whose position has been becoming increasingly precarious. Mamie might conceivably be credited with preventing the women's millinery industry from suffering the fate of the men's hat business.

Too, Mrs. Eisenhower is said to

Social Briefs

The Mary Bethune Literary and Art Club is having a "Bake Sale" on Saturday, February 21, at the Urban League.

The Decca Social Club met at the home of Mrs. John Adams, 340 North 22nd Street on Tuesday, January 27th. Mrs. Millie Cole, and Mrs. Harris, were accepted as new members. After the meeting a delightful repast was served by the hostess.

The LaFollettes club met last week at the home of Mrs. Delores Grisby. The group voted unanimously to continue to support the Carver Rest Home for the year. A delicious repast was served by the hostess.

be that rare phenomenon, a grandmother who looks well in a strapless dress. Here's hoping that she will not start a craze among less well endowed grandmothers to wearing strapless gowns.

Yes, it will be interesting to watch the First Lady's fashions for the next four years.

Powell-Bean Repeat Vows

Miss Robbie Lee Powell, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. R. H. Powell became the bride of Howard Bean, son of Mrs. Cicero Johnson on January 25th, at the home of the bride's parents with the bride's father officiating.

The bride selected traditional white for her gown, balerina length, fashioned of Chantilly lace-over-satin and nylon tulle. A sculptured lace bodice emphasized a key hole neck line covered with tulle and topped with a lace wing collar. Long fitted sleeves formed bridal points at the wrist. The bouffant skirt of tulle featured a wide lace inserted panel on either side. With this the bride wore a Juliet cap of Chantilly lace and pearl from which fell a double elbow length veil of imported nylon illusion.

The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with two white gardenias.

Robbie Lee was attended by her sister, Miss Freddie Lou Powell who wore a yellow ballerina length gown of nylon net over taffeta. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Verne Wilson was best man. A reception followed the wedding. The couple will live in Denver, Colo.

Quinn Chapel News

Next Sunday is Founders' Day at Quinn Chapel. At the morning service, Rev. John R. Harris will preach a special Founders' Day sermon from the subject: "The Key to the Door."

At 4:00 p.m. the sermon will be by Rev. J. F. Thompson of Omaha, Nebraska. This program is sponsored jointly by the Stewards Board and Youth Fellowship. It will feature: Rev. Alfred Newton, Rev. #### To Keep Plants Moist

Here is a way to keep a plant moist for several days without watering. Set a bowl of water above the level of the plant. Twist several strands of darning wool together, and soak them in water. Place one end of this wick at the bottom of the bowl and let the other end hang over the plant. A steady drip will continue until the bowl is empty.

Olives

If the olive bottle is still half filled, put a small pinch of salt in the bottle, pour in a teaspoon of olive oil, replace the cork, and the remainder of the olives will keep nice and fresh.

Burnt Spots

To remove burnt spots on granite cover the spots with a teaspoonful of soda and a little water and heat it. Never scrape with a knife.

Satin

To renovate satin material, rub over the soiled spots with a cake composed of magnesia and prepared chalk. Follow the grain of the goods. Let remain for several hours and then rub off with a soft cloth.

Varnished Paper

To clean wall paper that is varnished, melt a bar of yellow soap and pour into a pan of warm water. Use a soft white-wash brush for applying, and do not have the brush too wet.

Eggs

To keep eggs fresh for a long time, rub each egg, while fresh, with either butter or glycerine.

Warts

To remove warts, dip a toothpick in nitric acid and touch the wart not oftener than once every two days. Great care must be taken not to touch the surrounding flesh.

Nosebleed

Some methods that have been found effective in checking nosebleed are to have the patient lie down with head partly raised. Roll rag or paper and force between gum and upper lip to press real tight. Apply ice to back of neck. If the bleeding continues, plug up the nostril with gauze, cotton, or clean muslin, working pad firmly up into the nose with a penholder or similar object. Remove carefully when the bleeding stops.
