

The Carver Home A Haven

To Pity Die
To relief

In the early morning of February 10, 1953, a Negro vagabond was found lying on the lawn of the white Lincoln resident. After having failed in her attempt to oust the man from her property, the police were summoned.

By the time the police arrived, curious passer-bys had assembled, among whom were some who saw that instead of being drunk (as was assumed), the unknown vagabond was ill and in need of immediate medical care. Where could he go? What would happen to him?

Seeing the immediate and serious need for adequate facilities and care for unwanted and needy people, five persons, namely: Mrs. Corey E. O'Hara, Mrs. Mary Shelby, Mrs. Sara Walker, Dr. M. F. Arnholt, and Atty. Lloyd E. Chapman, took this problem before the County Board, and in November, 1936, a home was established as a County Project of the W.P.A., at 2014 S Street under the name of the Carver Rest Home, for the care of needy Negroes.

When the W.P.A. was abolished, the five Board of Trustee members became incorporated among themselves and purchased a house and lot in 1942, at 2001 Vine Street. It was and still is a non-profit institution.

The Carver Nursing and Rest Home, as it is now called, depends principally upon funds secured from the Old Age Assistance, through the Welfare Association.

The Home is adequate to care for eight patients at once but at present there are only six. Patients are admitted with the mildest diseases to the most serious; such as, broken limbs, and cancer. Each patient is allowed the

Dog Owners Get Deadline Of March 1

Public Safety Director, Ray Osborn, has issued a warning to dog owners. Says Mr Osborn, "After March 1, we will start filing complaints against owners of unlicensed dogs." That's the deadline. Only about 50 per cent of Lincoln dogs have licenses for 1953.

Leslie C. Loomis, Humane Society Superintendent, further adds: "With spring approaching, dog owners must respect the rights of their neighbors, and keep their dogs at home. Flowers and gardens are important to some. The owner is liable for any damage done by his dog. Ignored complaints on the owner's part will result in the animal being taken to the shelter. Which under the new ordinance, a $5 pound fee.

As an aid to owners of untrained dogs, Mr. Loomis has set aside Wednesday and Saturday mornings for dog training. Any dog owner may take his pet to the shelter for help in training and teaching obedience. Appointments for another time will be made at the shelter if it's impossible to come on the two designated.

Loomis suggests that the dog be penned up or tied up during the hours children are going to and from school.

their personal physician, all physicians called respond readily and speedily at all hours.

Mrs. Lenora Lintz, the present operator of the home, was hired by the Board of Trustees, as nurse and housekeeper. She maintains living quarters on the first floor, so as to be available twenty-four hours daily to perform such duties as are required.

Though facilities and funds are limited, The Carver-Rest Home is coming into its own as a Haven of Rest for the poor.

A vote of praise is humbly extended to you, the Board of Trustees, and to you Mrs. Lenora Lintz, for a job that is continuously being well done.

Couple Promotes Brotherhood Here On 'Capitol Tour'

A Fort Valley, Georgia man and his wife, are on a consecrated tour of the world.

With the achievement of "World Brotherhood" as their goal, Mr. and Mrs. Ashton B. Jones arrived in Lincoln on their "State Capitol Tour for World Brotherhood."

Lincoln is the 30th state capital which they have visited with the hope of creating and strengthening brotherhood in America.

Over a period of 21 years, in which they have traveled over 300,000 miles, visited every state in the union, along with 20 foreign countries, they have continuously advocated brotherhood. They have no specific denomination.

Though Mr. and Mrs. Jones realize the obligation that is on their shoulders, they deem it a great joy to be giving their lives to the cause of world brotherhood. It is their hope that they can live a life which will encourage others to practice the principles of brotherhood.

Formerly a member of the Methodist Church in Georgia, he was later ordained a minister by the Congregational Church, but later became a member of the Quaker faith because he "admired the way in which they practice brotherhood."

World Day of Prayer Proclaimed By Gov. Crosby

The first Friday in Lent, February 20, 1953, has been proclaimed "The World Day of Prayer" by Governor Robert Crosby. In more than one hundred countries tomorrow, people of many tribes and nations will lift their hearts to the "Father of Lights" praying that into the darkness of this world His light may shine.

In the early dawn His children in the Fiji Islands will begin the circle of prayer which will continue for more than twenty-four hours until concluded on St. Lawrence Island in the Arctic regions. Prayers of adoration, of thanksgiving, of penitence and of intercession will rise in a mighty chorus, that in time of frustration and uncertainty, of despair and desperation among individuals and nations, mankind will learn through Christ to "walk as children of light." Only thus shall we find the way to peace and brotherhood.

Omaha Urban League Honors 3 Persons; Club Granger Speaks

The Omaha Urban League Tuesday night, February 10, cited the chairman of the Omaha Housing Authority, an educator, a high school student and a social club.

The awards, made at the League's twenty-fifth anniversary banquet at the Livestock Exchange Building, were for "services in the field of human relations."

John J. Larkin, Sr., was named the citizen making the most important contribution to racial relations in Omaha in the past year.

The Urban League credited him, as chairman of the housing authority, with "courage and conviction" in fighting to end segregation in the Federal housing units here.

Certificates of merit went to Eugene Skinner, principal of Long School, the only Omaha Negro to hold such a post, and to Florence Goodwin, a senior at Technical High School, for being an outstanding student and leader.

Miss Goodwin was chosen gov-

Equal Rights Bill Passed In Montana

(This was taken from the Billings, Montana GAZETTE).

HELENA, Montana— After bitter debate the House narrowly passed a bill Wednesday, February 11, to guarantee Negroes and other citizens equal rights to public accommodations like hotels, restaurants and theaters.

The equal rights measure was proposed by the Cascade County delegations as an answer to specific problems of "intolerance" in Great Falls.

Ole S. Gunderson (D-Cascade) said the 500 Negro soldiers stationed at the Great Falls Air Base have been turned away from the doors of eating places, hotels, theaters and barber shops.

"The soldiers didn't ask to be sent to Montana," Gunderson said. Nevertheless, "a man who is good enough to serve in the Army is good enough to have public accommodations."

Fritz Norby (R-Cascade) backed the bill as a matter of "tolerance versus intolerance. We have treated our colored people a good deal like the Indians, and both are black marks on our history."

Mrs. Jack Arnold (R-Rosebud)

ernor of Girls State at Lincoln last year.

The club honored was The Rattlers, a group of young men dedicated to bettering the social and civic life of the Negro in Omaha. President George Curry accepted the award.

Over seven hundred persons at the banquet heard Lester B. Granger, executive director of the National Urban League, say the problem Negroes face in the United States can have worldwide consequences.

Mr. Granger, recently returned from a social workers' conference in India, said India is the key to what will happen in the rest of Asia and Africa.

And the Indians are watching the United States to see how this country handles its race relations.

"They feel that if the United States can't settle its human relations problem, then this country will be a poor example to pattern after."

A letter from Nebraska Govern-attacked the measure as one which would "make a law against Whites" by requiring them to admit colored persons to their places of business.

She said "more housing for the colored is the solution for the Great Falls problem."

Majority Leader R. N. Wiedman (R-Lake) also spoke against the bill because he said it would force a hotel owner to let in "any kind of a bum or derelict."

Editors Note: Other than the 500 soldiers stationed in Great Falls there are probably no more than 1500 Negroes in Montana. Butte, Helena, Great Falls, and Billings are the only cities with any noticeable number of Negroes.

McCaw Speaks to Fraternity Brothers

Arthur B. McCaw was present at the February 10 meeting of the Eta Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi and spoke to the group. McCaw, a member of Omaha Alumni Chapter, is an initiate of Eta Chapter. The meeting was held at the Chapter house with Polemarch Charles McAfee presiding. Robert Fairchild is president of Eta pledges.

nor Robert C. Crosby to Mr. Granger was read by N. P. Dodge, Jr., president of the Omaha Urban League board of directors. Mr. Dodge presided at the banquet.

Officers are N. P. Dodge, Sr., president and board members for the coming year, presented by Nominating Committee Member Arthur McCaw, were unanimously approved.

Letter Of Apology

Mr. Granger: I am sorry I cannot be present personally to welcome you to Nebraska. I want your stay in Nebraska to be pleasant, and I know that Nebraskans will be the wealthier in the knowledge of human experience because of your visit here.

I have heard it said that you Urban Leaguers are trying to work yourselves out of a job. May the day be hastened when there will not be a need for organizations to be formed for the sole purpose of giving American citizens an opportunity to live normally.

Our nation would gain in many ways. Two of which would be the end of second-class citizenship, and the release of the productive effort of all of you capable people who are engaged in this area of human relations.

(Editor's note) The above message is a letter written to Mr. Lester B. Granger, when he was in Omaha to speak at the Urban League banquet, by Governor Robert Crosby.
