Disc Diggins

By JOANN BOTTS

This week finds the newest releases by some of our favorites. At the top of the list is, "Till I Waltz Again with You", by Teresa Brewer. Ella Fitzgerald and Louis Armstrong give out with "Would You Like to Talk a Walk".

The coolest number since the blizzard is "Pedal Pushin' Papa", while on the flip side is a funeral story, "The Bells, By the Dominos. The local Disc favorite is "I Don't Know" by Willie Mabon. A real gone Guy singing a real gone song.

We'll be hearing a lot about the newest disc discovery, Tommy Edwards, get "You Win Again" and see for yourself.

Freddie Mitchell, who gave us "Delicado", last year, comes through with "Later Gator" and "Blue Coal" for '53.

The new arrangement of "Ramona" by Les Brown is really swingsational. Frankie Laine has two new fine-as-wine numbers in "Your Cheating Heart" and "I Believe".

While out shopping clothes-wise pick-up a number or two disc-wise, for remember, "Variety is ALWAYS the spice of life.

The Lincoln Chiefs announce the outright purchase of fleet-footed infielder, Herman B. "Dusty" Rhodes, from the Boston Braves organization. He is 6' 1", 175 pounds, is married, has a son 21 months old, and is 25 years old. He served 2½ years as a sergeant in the Army, being awarded the bronze star. He broke into professional baseball with the Chicago White Sox farm system in 1947 in Fulton, Kentucky, in the Kitty League. Then the White Sox moved him up to Superior, Wisconsin, in the Northern League in 1948. In 1949 he hit over .300 at Waterloo, Iowa in Class "B" III League, and there in that season, in his first 38 attempts to steal second base, he stole all 38. He was a member of the All Star team in 1948 and 1949. One year he played short-stop and the next year second base. At the end of 1949 he was drafted to the Milwaukee Brewers for $6,000.00 from the White Sox farm club at Memphis in the Southern Association. He stayed with Milwaukee that spring and was optioned to Hartford in the Eastern League. Rhodes has just gone through a calamity, his house and entire household furnishings were destroyed by fire. Since leaving Hartford in 1950, he has played with the Tennessee State-Semi-pro champions. He credits Johnny Mostil of the White Sox as being the manager who has helped him most, in professional baseball. He was signed by Doc Prothro of the Phillies, to his first contract. Prothro was then a scout for the White Sox.

mation League and Public Affairs Committee of the Council, will be held at International House of the University of Chicago.

Mrs. Arthur G. Laufman, national director of women's activities for B'nai B'rith, will give the keynote speech. Speakers on the discussion panel are: Sister Mary Ellen O'Hanlon, Rosary College; Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, national president, Federated Colored Women's Organizations; and Jean Alexander, social education secretary, United Christian Youth Movement.

Meet Shirley Thomas, a commercial arts major at the University of Nebraska. Shirley, tall, brown-eyed and full of fun, complains of having her major work misinterpreted. "When I tell people I'm in commercial arts, they think I like to draw." Shirley is a fine typist, and has worked one summer in the Omaha City Court House as a file clerk. Her father is Mr. Wendel Thomas, mortician, of Omaha. Before the family moved to Omaha in 1939, they were residents of Lincoln. Shirley says, "I'm pretty finicky about my food, but I think I could eat barbecue at least once a day." Shirley pessimistically forecasts a change for the worse in the world situation since Joe Stalin's death. "Any successor of his will probably try to follow in his footsteps, and they were leading to World War III." Shirley likes sports and is now looking forward to good tennis weather.

Oline Foxall is no longer a member of the University student body. Oline dropped school last week and returned to her home in Omaha.

Haynes Harrington and Jon McWilliams participated in the freshman-varsity indoor track meet Saturday. Both fellows are on the freshman team.

The University Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Emanuel Wishnow, appeared in concert Sunday afternoon at the Student Union. The 70-piece orchestra's feature presentation was Dvorak's Symphony No. 5 in E minor—New World.
