The New Homes

By Mrs. Jennie Edwards

Did you visit the new houses open for inspection of the George Randol Project?

If so, you found them to be in the desirable part of the city, easy of access, and most prepossessing in appearance. Livable homes; and every nook and corner, in every room spells comfort, beauty, and convenience, and all the closet space! Every woman's dream, to say nothing of the full basements with natural slanting steps.

On close and critical examination, one finds compact units of windows and doors, with all fittings flush and tight, to be void of drafts and cracks so there's never a fear of rodents if and when settings comes.

Years ago while engaged in his work in the East, perhaps it never

Christ Is The Answer

By Mrs. Margie Turner

The world wants peace, but it doesn't seem to know how to get this peace. Just as soon as we get out of one war, we start to prepare for another. What this world needs, is CHRIST. He is the answer to all of our problems.

There are Allied Nations who profess to know Christ, but are not living for Him; yet they want peace. He is saying to those nations today as He did to His chosen people of Israel, "If My people which are called My Name shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from Heaven and will forgive their sins and will heal their land."

Unto those who do not profess to know Him as their personal Saviour, He is saying: "Come unto Me all ye that labour and are heavy laden and I will give you rest"; "Take My yoke upon your shoulder and learn of Me, for I am meek and lowly in heart and ye shall find rest unto your souls, for My yoke is easy and My burden is light."

Sin is the cause of world confusion; therefore Jesus is our only hope. There is no need to try and bring about peace in our own strength. We can't do it; for God has said in His Holy Word, "Not by Might, nor by power, but by My Spirit."

Even America needs to come occurred to George Randol, that in 1953 he would assume the modern role of a biblical character for folk seeking homes, and we find him playing this part as he did in Green Pastures as Pharaoh, with all his pastures and soul.

We might say anyone could have done the same; but no one did. The sacrifice of time; change of business, new ventures into the field of real estate with its many complexities, takes a brave man and one inspired by God. Orchids to George Randol.

back to God. If we would humble ourselves and repent our sins, Jesus would give us peace, for He is speaking the same words today to those who serve Him, that He spoke to His Disciples a long time ago. "Peace I leave with you, My peace I give unto you, not as the world giveth, I give unto you." Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

Again I say, CHRIST, is the only answer for world peace.

Western League Chatter

Springs last year, is still getting a look by the White Sox. Johnson started a game last week but was relieved after three shaky innings. He allowed four hits and issued four walks although only one run was scored. Johnson is the Western League strikeout artist. The former Monarch hurler erased Bobby Shantz's mark last year.

Bill Bruton is the first Negro Western League graduate to win a regular major league berth. He was with Denver in 1951.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. What rules govern the removal of a man's hat in an elevator?

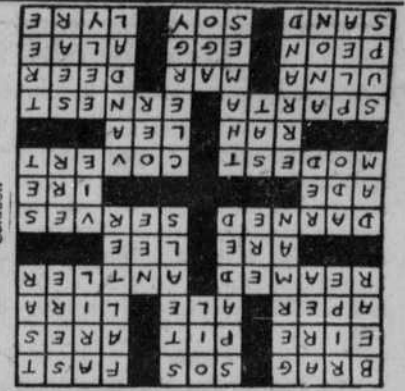

A. The well-bred man removes his hat in the elevator of a hotel or apartment building. It is not required in the elevator of an office building or department store. It is optional, however, in the latter places, and many men do.

Q. When should announcements be sent of a marriage that has been kept secret for several weeks or months?

A. Since a secret marriage is not a prescribed affair, there is no definite time for mailing announcements. It is entirely optional.

You Are the Detective

The young actor, Pendleton Gray, seems very much distraught when you enter his dressing room and gaze down at the body of the pretty young actress, Betty Jean Riley. Clad in a dressing gown, she lies on her back, her hands tightly clenched. You stoop and pick up the little bottle lying on the floor next to her. After removing the cork and sniffing the contents, you immediately recognize that the bottle must have contained one of the fastest-working and most powerful of poisons. "I couldn't stop her!" exclaims the handsome actor, as he nervously lights a cigarette. "She swallowed it and dropped to the floor as though she had been shot. She was dead almost before I could move!"

"Suppose you give me the whole story," you suggest.

"I guess it was partly infatuation and partly professional jealousy," Gray says. "Anyways, she had been giving me plenty of trouble lately. We were formerly engaged to be married. Then when I began to get better parts on the stage, she asked me to use my influence in her behalf, too. I couldn't do anything about that, and she became so mean and nasty about it that we finally split up. Recently, though, she's been after me again, ever since she landed a small part in my latest play. Wanted to patch things up between us, and again wanted me to help her get juicier roles.

"She came storming in here again this evening, holding that little bottle and threatening to end her life if I didn't do something about it. I thought she was bluffing and tried to laugh her out of her tantrum. But it was no good!"

You gaze thoughtfully about the room for a moment, then ask, "Did you touch her or anything at all before phoning me?"

"No. I could see she was dead." Then you say, "The story you've told me is a pretty good one, but there's just one little loophole that makes me suspect you haven't told the truth."

What has aroused your suspicions?

SOLUTION

Although Betty Jean's death was instantaneous, you found the cork in the poison bottle. She most certainly would not have had time to replace the cork, and Gray told you he had touched nothing at all.
