financial deals were frequently and persistently sent out of the penitentary greenhouse. It is a matter of notoriety also that state money borrowed from Bartley has been pald back to him since he has been in the penitentiary, but not one dollar of it has yet reached the state treasury.
In the face of these facts, the palaver of Covernor Savage about the travesty of justice in the conviction and sentence of Bartley and his laudation of Bartley as the savior of the state's business interests by propping up tottering banks with money lawlessly taken from the state treasury for his the chorde gain, will scarcely touch persuasive powers that have induced Governor Savage to look upon Bartley as a martyr to the public welfare not reach the great body of the people who were pillaged and plundered by Bartley and his confederates. The common people will insist upon asking what was so pointediy asked in the repubsican state convention, if a man who steals more than $$ 500,000$ of public money is entitled to a pardon after he money is entitled to a pardon after serving only one-fourth of his sentence, why should not the poor maa who steals a horse worth only a few who steals a horse worth ond dollars enjoy the same favor
The universal verdict of the people of Nebraska, excepting those who have been directly or indirectly mixed up with Bartley and hecided disapproval of the Bartley pardon.-Omaha Bee (rep.).

Badly Frightened.

Confirmation strong as Holy Writ, of the bellef that Mr. James J. Hin is badly frightened by the storm of pubIic sentiment his ambitions have aroused, is given by the statement of C. S. Mellen, president pro tempore of th : Northern Pacific, published in yesterday's Times.
There is something refreshing, an we cunfess to appreclation thereof, at the spectacle of Mr. Hill suing for consideration from the man who for years he bitterly opposed, from the official whose decapitation he has of ten threatened, from the gentleman who has no sympathy whatever with Mr. Hill's methods-least of all with his contempt for public sentiment an his determination to ride roughsho over law and equity.
Having yielded to Mr. Hill's solici tations, Mr. Mellen yields gracefully It is an open secret that he would no have yielded at all had not the pleadings of Mr. Hill been seconded by the requests of eastern gentlemen to whom Mr. Mellen feels himself under obligation. It is to be noted, however, that Mr. Mellen does not say that he will not resign upon the first symptom by Mr. Hill of the exercise of the arbitrar Mr. Hill of the exercise of the arbitrary power over Northern Pacific affairs that the president of the Great North ern claims to the present agitation, he frequently sought to put to the proof.
It would not be fair to Mr. Mellen, for whose abilities the Times acknowledges areat admiration for acknowl to claim him as the source of authority for its statement that he does not Intend to resign, that he will not work not such with Mir. ## An Adverse Opinion.

With the usual hurry of free advice, the kind offer of Dewey. Schley and Miles for the use of the democratic natonal coavention of 1904 is issuing gathered around these distinguished fficers. The democratic party it is sald, can have anv one or any two of the gallant chfeftains who are now suffering from friction with the president and cabinet.
Democrats can eliminate all dizcussion concerning the professtona achlevements of the three notabilities, and can yet reach a quick and accurate conclusion to the effect that not ane of them possesses the attributes
Nothing in the career of Dewey Schley or miles indicates the discre tion and breadth of judgment which are first and most necessary of reton of great clvil affairs, Giving er ery consideration to their abilitios in been limited since boyhood, there seems to be little doubt that they are in those qualities rather below than above the average of even the army and navy
Nor does the democracy know that ny one of the three is a demorrat ither in the sense of voting allegianc In fact, all the probabilities are that though they may not be devotedly at tached republicans, they are not demo tached crats.
But the controlling objection is that the election of Dewey, Schley or Miles would do the democratic party more harm than good. We should have an other Grant administration, withou Grant's saving grace of silence, ani without his saving faculty of simpl directness when he did happen to thoroughly understand a great civic problem. Either of the famous sallor or General Miles would be surrounded with artful conspirators who would in reality administer the executive offce The president would have none of that experience among public men which lone can lead to sound judgment is selecting advisers. There would be mistakes, fallures and scandals. And for these misfortunes the democratic party would for another generation be compelled to bear the responsibility.
At the present stage of its history the democratic party needs, if it ever did, the ripest judgment, the most presidential nominee. The voters whose impulses are toward the party require a man whose political principles have been deeply laid in reflec-flict.-St. Louls Republic.
