

DO YOU READ?

Of course you do. Never in the world's history has the reading public been so well supplied with periodical literature. Your home has its share. But periodicals differ widely in character, as do the tastes and requirements of the individuals of the family. No single publication will cover the ground.

The Commoner offers here some suggestions as to selection, and gives an opportunity to combine two or more subscriptions at bargain prices.

Last year The Commoner's special clubbing offers proved very popular with our readers. Many thousands took advantage of the low rates. This year we have some even better subscription bargains. In this advertisement will be found a list of combinations that we believe have never been excelled. The quality of the periodicals, the arrangement of the clubs, and the low price, all combine to furnish an opportunity that no one who reads should overlook.
