otherwise than for the protection of Cuba from the assaults of foreign foes, and for the better safeguarding of American interests in the waters south of us.

"These interests have been largely increased by the consequences of the war with Spain, and will be still further increased by the building of the isthmian canal. They are both military and economic. The granting to us by Cuba of the naval stations above alluded to is of the most importance from a military standpoint, and is proof of the good faith with which Cuba is treating us. Cuba has made great progress since her independence was established. She already stands nigh among her sister republics of the new world. She is loyally observing her obligations to us, and she is entitled to like treatment by us.

Oil Cure for Cancer.

The Dr. D. M. Bye Co., of Indianapolis, Ind., report the discovery of a combination of soothing and balmy oils which readily cure all forms of cancer and tumor. They have cured many very bad cases without pain or disfigurement. Their new books with full report sent free to the afflicted.

"President Roosevelt likes a joke, even if it is one which touches a tender spot. Last night with Mrs. and Miss Roosevelt, he occupied a box at the National Theatre to hear Fritzi Scheff score a great success in Barbette. One line ran as follows: "What, a diplomat steal? A diplomat never steals. He simply annexes." The entire audience turned towards the president's box and joined in a shout of laughter. The president laughed as heartily as anyone and waved his hand in glee at Senator Hanna, who was in another box. It was some minutes before the singers could go on with the opera."—Walter Wellman's Washington Dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald, November 11.

proval secures to the United States economic advantages as great as those given to Cuba. Not an American interest is sacrificed by the treaty, a large Cuban market is assured to our producers. It is a market which lies at our doors, which is large, capable of great expansion, and which is particularly important to the development of our export trade. It would be, indeed, shortsighted for us to refuse to take advantage of such opportunity and to force Cuba into making arrangements with other countries to our disadvantage.

"This reciprocity treaty stands by itself. It is demanded on consideration of broad national policy as well as by our economic interest. It will do harm to no industry. It will benefit many industries. It is in the interest of our people as a whole, both because of its importance from the broad standpoint of international policy and because economically it intimately concerns us to develop and secure the rich Cuban market for our farmers, artisans, merchants and manufacturers. Finally, it is desirable as a guaranty of the good faith of our nation towards her young sister republic to the south, whose welfare must ever be closely bound with ours. We gave her liberty. We are knit to her by the memories of the blood and the courage of our soldiers who fought for her in war; by the memories of the wisdom and integrity of our administrators who saved her in peace and who started her so well on the difficult path of self-government. We must help her onward and upward; and in helping her we shall help ourselves.

"The foregoing considerations caused the negotiation of a treaty with Cuba and its ratification by the senate. They now, with equal force, support the legislation by the congress which by the terms of the treaty, is necessary to render it operative. A failure to enact such legislation would come perilously near a repudiation of the pledged faith of the nation.

"I transmit herewith the treaty as amended by the senate and ratified by the Cuban government.
