

The jury at Harrisburg, Pa., in the capital fraud case returned a verdict of guilty against John H. Sanderson, furniture dealer, former State Auditor Snyder, former State Treasurer Matthews and James M. Schumaker, former superintendent of grounds and buildings.

George W. Moore, a well known democrat of Ohio, died at his home in Granville, age 83 years. The highest tributes are paid to the memory of this good man by all who knew him.

Dearie, My Dearie!

A little laugh and the world grows bright;
A single smile and the world's all right;
A single tear—and then comes night.
Dearie, O, my Dearie.

One soft caress and the cares of day
Fade like the leaves in an autumn
gray;
Love's handclasp—then let come
what may.
Dearie, O, my Dearie!

Lights of home! Then the world's hard fight
In the evening rest is lost to sight;
Care shut out from the home nest
bright.
Dearie, O, my Dearie!

Hushed is the din of the market's
roar
In the children's song at my cottage
door;
Out of the strife and with thee once
more.
Dearie, O, my Dearie!

Preparation

"Is Leary ready for his dash to the pole?"
"Almost; he's got the relief expedition provided for."

The Real Difference

"For the life of me I can't see any real difference in the platforms."
"Perhaps not, but there's a mighty lot of difference in the intentions of the men nominated on them."

Seasonable

Lay away the poker, shovel
And the furnace agitator;
And begin the fumigation
Of the old refrigerator.
What we save in the hard coal's price
We'll now proceed to pay for ice.

Perhaps

"My barn is overrun with rats and mice," said the dairyman, "but some how or other I seem unable to keep a cat."
"Perhaps the well known feline aversion for water will explain your failure," said the customer who had reasons to know."

Different

The mere stockholder applied to the general manager for free transportation.
"We are not allowed to issue passes now," said the G. M.
"Huh!" snorted the mere stockholder. "I guess the interstate commerce commission's ruling does not apply to dividends."

All Ready

The representatives of the special interests, acting as a partisan body,
had framed up the platform.
"That's a splendid document,"
said one. "it couldn't be better."
"You are quite correct," said another member of the convention.
"Now we must work diligently to deceive the people into believing that we really mean what we say."

Impossible

"Aw, doncher know, I made a great fool of myself once, but I'll not do it again, doncher know,"
drawled Algy Bleeker.
"No, I don't think you will—again," retorted Miss Caustique.

Another Recruit

"It's a regular nature fakir," observed the man who was jammed up against the rear rail.
"Now what?" we asked.
"March. Neither a lion nor a lamb this time."

Toilsome

Finally Groucherly dug up a dime
and handed it to the unfortunate mendicant.
"Why don't you go to work and earn money?" growled Groucherly.
"Gee, don't you call this way o' gittin' it work?" exclaimed the mendicant.

Dull

"How's the gold brick business, Bunkoly?"
"Dull. How's the mining stock business?"
"Rotten."
"Let's stir things up."
"All right. I'll give you a thousand dollars' worth of my stock for one of your thousand dollar gold bricks."
"Bully! You believe you're beating me and I'll believe I am beating
you. We must keep in practice."

Brain Leaks

Will wins where wish fails.
The church has no monopoly of hypocrisy.
Destiny is the excuse men offer
for failure.
The heirs seldom look for the taint
on an inheritance.
Reforms worth while are seldom
performed over night.
Just about the time a man learns
to live he has to quit.
A man can look a long ways back
if his past is lighted with smiles.
A great many wrongs are committed in the name of "good business."
Every man you lift up lessens the number who are able to drag you down.

Good nature often imposed upon is more satisfactory than a continual grouch.

We would all be sure of heaven
if allowed to manufacture our own religion.

Fret & Fuss are usually hustling
to secure "accommodations" from Work & Wait.

A square deal is not to be expected of the man who is always dodging
'round the corners.

The mother with a "good baby"
is the envy of all the women who know her.

People who use religion as a cloak usually wind up without a rag of respectability.

Economizing in taxation at the expense of the lives of children is a criminal form of economy.

When a man's wages become a salary, it merely means that he is worrying himself sick trying to keep up appearances.

When a woman with a poodle dog
in her arms enters the crowded car
we never have any trouble finding something interesting in our newspaper.

The Washington Herald says the world's coal supply has been reduced four billion tons. And we know the location of the furnace that consumed most of it.

The workman who has his hands
washed and his coat on by the time
the whistle blows is usually complaining because his wage envelope
does not grow heavier.
