Abraham Lincoln Said:

"Neighbors, Give Your Boys and Girls A Chance"

These are the words used by the great emancipator in his famous speech, delivered at his old home to his friends and neighbors at Springfield, Ill.

Recalling what little opportunity he had in his early youth to get an education, and looking back to the days when he walked miles and miles for a book (for he then owned none of his own), Abraham Lincoln pleaded with the rural and village people, his old friends and associates to give their children a better chance—a chance to fight the battles of life successfully.

SURELY YOU want to give your boys and girls a better chance, not necessarily a college education, but better still, a home education. It is not always the school that gives the education; you can give this same opportunity or better to your family right in your own home. Good books—valuable books. Oh! how Lincoln cherished these.

What would Lincoln have said had you asked his advice on buying a great History of the World, an entertaining and educational Library for your home, "The Library of Universal History," and especially if we offered it at less than half of the regular price and on easy terms?

We want you to see these volumes, examine them in your own home without any expense on your part, then you can decide. That is what the family in the picture below have done. Mail the coupon now before you forget it. See the volumes themselves—it costs you nothing.

Note the quiet, peaceful, happy home scene, the family gathered around the table under the bright lamp, old folks and young folks reading the Library, and the child looking at the pictures. Surely you want to help your family. Do not neglect the opportunity, do not wait until tomorrow but cut out and mail the coupon at once.

This offer is made possible by the failure of the publishers, The Union Book Co., of Chicago. It is impossible to name a lower price for cash in full, as this is less than half the publisher's price and is made only to close out the few remaining sets quickly.

WITH THIS HISTORY you may sit beside the madman, Nero, on his awful throne; touch his mantle and hear him speak. Walk with Caesar and gain inspiration from this genius of the Romans. Enter the ancient Coliseum and behold once more the martyrdom of the Christians, whose bravery and sacrifice of life among hordes of red-jawed jungle beasts, paved the way for the Christian religion in Rome. Ride beside Alexander the Great, whose steel-hoofed charger dashes over the blood-stained battle fields of his career. Stand beside the mighty Nelson at Trafalgar, and hear his hoarse commands as the English fleet sweeps the power of France from the ocean.

Look once more at the gory battle field of Waterloo; see English and French in mortal combat; see the mighty Napoleon sitting like adamant, the old guard around him, scanning the field and realizing his iron reign was over; then talk with him at St. Helena, where, standing alone, he gazes over the trackless ocean, watching the mists gather and dissipate as had his power and greatness. Travel back for sixty centuries when man was but a being of the forest, as unlike the man of today as we are unlike the lowest in the grade of humanity. Attend the Bacchanalian banquet of the ancient kings of Assyria and Persia; watch their mighty armies clash. Go to ancient Babylon, walk its streets and see and hear as you would in the days of Balthazar.

Stroll among the pyramids of Egypt and pry into the wonderful secrets which these majestic relics of antiquity possess in their enormous bosoms; sail down the Nile and visit the ancient cities, the great white palaced cities which flourished a thousand years before the dawn of the Christian era; yes, before the rise and fall of the eastern empires; see Greece in her regal power, overcome by the hordes of Rome; watch Spain as she rises to dominating power, only to fall and crumble and decay; then go through the wars of the English and cross the ocean to our own shores.

Watch the starving line of patriots battling against the wealth and bullets of the mother country; grasp the hand of Washington at Valley Forge, walk through the snow with him and hear his cheering words to his shivering, ragged army; sit with him on his wide veranda and talk with him at Mt. Vernon; follow the thrilling rise of our own republic and pass through the dark days when brother was arrayed against brother. Know the mighty rail-splitter, Lincoln, as he was. Stand beside Grant at Vicksburg, or Meade at Gettysburg; hear the awful cannonading, and see the dashing lines cut to pieces. See the valor and the courage of the gray, through the very eyes of the indomitable Lee, view all these thrilling events as if the world were passing once more before your own eyes.

To own this history means you need never spend a lonely evening. It is ennobling to commune with the children of destiny. To be associated with great men and events is to be great oneself, and you will add to your store of knowledge, which is power, and to the richness of your life.

Rev. Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus,

President Armour Institute and Pastor Central Church (Auditorium) Chicago, says:

"Without the slightest touch of religious or political bigotry, the editors of the 'Library of Universal History' have dealt soberly and deeply with the forces of church and state which have ruled mankind. With great scholarship they have not become dull; with a trained and genuine power of imagination they have never become vague. It is a work of real genius; its thought is clear and vigorous, its English pure and eloquent. I am certain these volumes must be of immense popular service in stimulating historical study in our country."

Hon. Chas. A. Towne, of Minnesota and New York, says:

"I take pleasure in giving my unqualified indorsement of the 'Library of Universal History'. I have bought no historical work in recent years that makes the whole range of the world's history so readily accessible, nor which tells it in more interesting style."

Adlai E. Stevenson, Ex-Vice President of the United States, says:

"The 'Library of Universal History' is indeed a complete record of the human race. It should find a place in every library. Both for reference and general reading it will prove invaluable."

"The Atlanta Constitution" says:

"In its scope this work is a wonderful one. The authors have a command of historic knowledge and versatility in arranging the sequence of historical events that make their work singularly simple and attractive."

E. Benjamin Andrews, President University of Nebraska, says:

"The educational value of the 'Library of Universal History' is sure to be very great, and it should be in every private library."
