

The Commoner.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

Table with subscription rates: Single Copy 5c, 12 Copies $5.00, 3 Months $12.00, 6 Months $22.00, 1 Year $40.00.

THE COMMONER, PUBLISHED BY THE COMMONER, 117 N. 3RD ST. PHILADELPHIA, PA.

The New York Evening Post is for 'Left and Right'.

It is said that President Roosevelt was only able to see the cards.

Capital has been very slow since the war.

Now what would the administration regard as the basis of peace?

The Boston Traveler deserves considerable credit for its attitude.

A senator says the times of automobile ownership are anti-social and destructive.

'North Carolina and Kentucky are to be recognized as the great states'.

American army uniforms made of British cloth is a good idea.

Stuyvesant Fish says that a man accustomed to living on a ship...

The Philadelphia North American accused Mayor Ross of calling the truth.

Mr. Bryan at Typographical Union Banquet

ON Thursday evening, August 11, at the Lincoln Hotel, Mr. Bryan was a guest of the Typographical Union No. 2399 at a banquet...

MR. T. J. BRYAN, President of the Typographical Union, presided at the banquet...

I am glad to be the guest of the Typographical Union. I appreciate the compliment of this organization...

I am glad to be here when you pay this compliment to an admitted member of the fraternity...

I am glad to be associated with you in the bonds of this organization for two reasons...

A reader of The Commoner sends in the following description of Jefferson's home life...

It is a beautiful tribute to a man whose heart was full of love for his fellows...

that, no matter what we may desire, we can not have it. God has so linked us together that, no matter how much we may desire to confine our efforts to the things that benefit ourselves, we can not do it.

I repeat that this world is so constructed that no good thing can be monopolized. And it is well that it is so.

It is a beautiful tribute to a man whose heart was full of love for his fellows and who, while measuring up to the highest duties of citizenship, was not above the modest kindnesses that beautify individual life and bless a neighborhood.