

MARK ANTONY DELIVERING THE FUNERAL ORATION OVER THE DEAD BODY OF CAESAR

CAESAR'S name has stood through all the ages as the embodiment of imperial power. His untimely end after reaching the pinnacle of earthly glory is one of the great tragedies of history. The picture shown herewith from Ridpath's History is but ONE of TWO THOUSAND in the complete work, and serves to illustrate but ONE event out of all the THOUSANDS which make up the history of every empire, kingdom, principality and Nation, accurately and entertainingly told in the world-famed publication.

Jefferson Davis said: "I esteem Ridpath's History of the World of very great value, and hope it will find a place generally in the libraries of our schools, as well as upon the shelves of readers in every walk of life."

Prof. Warren, President Boston University, said: "I should be glad to see it placed in the library of every young person in the United States, and even in the English-speaking world. In families where there are bright children it will render excellent service to the cause of popular intelligence."

Professor Long, Supt. Public Schools, St. Louis, said: "I unhesitatingly commend Dr. Ridpath's History of the World as the ablest work on that subject which I have ever examined. The engravings, maps and charts are alone worth the entire cost of the work."

COMMONER READERS

have shown wonderful appreciation of our remarkable offer. We have shipped this splendid History to delighted readers living in every state of the Union. It is endorsed by the scholarship of the world, and by the great American people as the only History of the World worth having. To read Ridpath's History of the World is to know peoples and races, kingdoms and empires, principalities and powers; to behold senates in session, armies marching, battles fought and victorious legions coming home; to follow the march of civilization westward from the Indus to the Euphrates, from the Euphrates to the Tiber, from the Tiber to the Thames, from the Thames to the Hudson, from the Hudson to the Mississippi, and from the Mississippi to the Pacific shore. Ridpath's History of the World has been purchased and strongly endorsed by William McKinley, President of the United States; General Stephen D. Lee, Commander Confederate Veterans; General Lew Wallace, Commander and noted author; Henry M. Teller, Senator from Colorado; Charles Curtis, Senator from Kansas; and by the Presidents of Brown, Bates, Amherst, Smith and practically all other American colleges and universities. EVERY AMERICAN CITIZEN should know the history of his own country and of the world to intelligently perform his full duty as a citizen in the Government of This Nation. How else are we to judge of the great national questions that crowd upon us for decision except by some knowledge of the past. Our Colonial Policy, the Question of the Trusts agitating the great business and commercial world, the respective rights of labor and capital, the conflict between Socialism on the one hand and organized business and industry on the other—these and hundreds of other important questions press upon us as a nation for intelligent discussion and decision. How have such questions been met in the past? For the answer read the history of ancient civilizations which flourished, decayed and died and have been so thoroughly obliterated from the face of the earth that even the location of their splendid cities is unknown. Read the history of mighty Babylon, or of imperial Rome as a kingdom, then as a republic, and finally as an empire, and familiarize yourself with her growth, development and decay. Read the history of the French Revolution, the establishment of the republic, out of which came the empire dominated by Napoleon. Then when you know history, when you know the cause of the rise and downfall of empires and nations, and not until then, will you be able to intelligently discuss and decide the great questions that are pressing now everywhere for attention. The growth, development and decay of the nations of the world constitute the most inspiring theme that can claim the attention of man. It is an inspiring story, and Dr. Ridpath has told it better than it has ever been told before. Send Coupon today.
