The Striking Difference

He struck for decent wages and was promptly thrown in jail When he gently smote a "scab" up the head. And his union was berated and its principles assailed; It was called a place where anarchy is bred. Jam the fellow into prison! Keep him there until he rots! He disturbs the even tenor of our ways. He would form a trust in labor! Perish all such horrid thoughts— Keep such anarchists in prison all their days!

Call the troops and call the sheriff; Call the judge and get a writ! Show the common working devil He must keep his proper level— That's it!

He cornered wheat and doubled up the price of flour and bread, And saw starvation spread on ev'ry side.

Hungry children cried for supper, want and misery were spread While he quickly garnered in the golden tide. Hail the great financial captain! Hail the King of Golden Wheat! Bow in honor to this wonder worker's mind.

He has piled up added millions and his corner is complete; As a plunger he's the king pin of his kind.

Bring the royal robes of purple, Let the dancing girls be brought. On him royal roses shower As a tribute to his power— That's what!

If in sheerest desperation he protects his little flock By the theft of but a single loaf of bread,

Clasp the handcuffs tight upon him, thrust him in the prison dock; Fling the curses of the righteous at his head!

But if by manipulation he depletes the widow's store, If by cunning he can mint her tears of gold;

If he profits by the burdens he imposes on the poor We must hail him as a man of business bold.

Thrust the small thief into prison! For the big thief praises sing! Workers, keep your proper station, Board of Trade men rule the nation— Sure thing!

Improper Defense

"Prisoner at the bar, you are charged with having entered the kitchen of the complaining witness and stealing therefrom three loaves of bread, said act constituting a burglary. Guilty or not guilty?"

"Your honor, I admit having entered this man's kitchen and taking a couple of loaves of bread, but—"

"Then you plead guilty?"

"Not yet, your honor. You see the man who complains against me cornered wheat and forced up the price of bread. I did not have enough money to allay the pangs of hunger suffered by my children, and I thought it only just that the man who caused their suffering should help dispel it. So I broke into his house and took two loaves of his bread. I could have taken many valuable things, but all I wanted was something for the kiddies to eat. So, your honor, I think there are miti—"

"That will do, sir!" sternly commanded the judge. "On your own admission you are guilty and you are sentenced to jail for sixty days. People of your class must be taught that property rights must be protected."

"But I was protecting my children, and they are more to me than this man's—"

"Thirty days more for contempt of court." A moment later court adjourned, and while the prisoner was being escorted to jail and his hungry children were crying for bread, the judge was being escorted to a fashionable cafe by the man who had doubled the price of bread.

After all human life is the cheapest thing on the market.

A Song of Wheat

The farmer gladly sows his wheat, Sows his wheat, Sows his wheat. The farmer gladly sows his wheat, His heart filled with elation. And in good time he threshes it, Threshes it, Threshes it. And in good time he threshes it And hauls it to the station.

It sells for what it cost to raise, Cost to raise, Cost to raise.

It sells for what it cost to raise, He doesn't feel so funny. The bulls and bears they play with it, Play with it, Play with it. The bulls and bears they play with it And gather in the money.

Honestly, Now—

Did your wife ever use your razor to pare her corns? Did she ever go through your pockets while you were asleep? Did she ever threaten to go home to her mother? Did she ever neglect the children for her club? Honestly, now— Did she?

Just Like a Man

"John, bring me home a cake of yeast." "You don't need it." "But I can't make bread without it." "Don't see why; don't have to have yeast to make bread raise these days."

Sure Sign

"Jones is a very extravagant man."

"What makes you think so?" "Why, the last time he ordered coal he ordered enough to run his furnace two of three weeks next fall."

Brain Leaks

Some men need a guardian—others need a club. Individual rights end where society's rights begin.

It is just as easy to throw roses as stone—and a lot more satisfactory.

Seventeen sees a lot of foggism in forty-five, and forty-five sees a lot of foolishness in seventeen.

Don't it just beat all what a lot of vacant rooms is left in the house when the biggest boy takes his few belongings and hikes out?
