MR. BRYAN'S BOOK The Old World and Its Ways HIS TOUR AROUND THE WORLD AND JOURNEYS THROUGH EUROPE

Interesting and Instruc-tive Story of Tour

16

The journey around the world, of which this book is an illustrated and descriptive record, embraced a period of nearly one year. It was a trip to the East by way of the West, and covered practically the civilized world. It was made under the most favorable auspices for observation, for procuring facts, and for study.

Mr. Bryan entered upon his journey after par-ticipating in two spirited presidential campaigns as the candidate of his party, and his reception by people of all classes, by those high in civil, official and military life, can be regarded as a high com-pliment to every American and believer in Ameri-can institutions. The sources of information given him were exceptional.

Mr. Bryan describes men and things that inter-ested him wherever he went. He gives his im-pressions of the world's nations—their rulers and inhabitants. He made a special study of systems of government, religious conditions, trade methods, advection and monetary systems and the above of government, religious conditions, trade methods, education and monetary systems, and the charac-teristics of all the people. He portrays, in short, the peoples of the earth as they are today, and as he saw them on the highways and byways. His book will prove of profoundest interest to every reader, and is a work of untold educational value. It should find a place in every home library, and be read by every member of the family. The nar-rative of this journey will interest every one who reads and thinks. reads and thinks.

It will interest the student of governments and of governmental institutions.

It will interest the financier, and everyone in-terested in the financial systems and theories, be-cause Mr. Bryan looked into the monetary methods of the governments he visited. He outlines these methods and presents his conclusions in a way to specially entertain and instruct.

It will int.

est the commercial world, because of the detailed information he gives concerning commercial methods of all countries.

It will interest the farmer, because the tillers of the soil, primitive in method and laborious in man-ner, received his attention, study and comparison of methods with our own.

It will interest the minister, the theological student, the church member, because he made a study of the religions of the various countries he visited -theories and practices-and he gives them to the reader with a clearness and simplicity of phrase that will interest and inform all.

It will interest the foreign-born citizen, because it gives, in Mr. Bryan's own words, the story of his visits to the rulers, the high ...nd the lowly, and the beautiful spots of their native land, with faith-ful illustrations of noted scenes and pictures of prominent countrymen.
