PARSONS CHARGES SECRET DEAL

Representative Cannon, in whom the nation takes an interest, and every now and then some side light is thrown on the dark spots of the speaker's history whereby the essential nature of Cannonism comes more strongly to light.

Representative Parsons of New York, who is chairman of the republican county committee of New York, is the latest to perform a service in this connection. Coming from any but a republican party leader, what he has to say would be set on one side as mere rumor. Coming from him the statements can hardly be doubted.

Mr. Parsons charges that the Tammany votes in congress which were cast for the speaker's re-election were given him as a result of a bargain, the compensation to Tammany being the defeat in the New York state legislature by republican aid of certain bills for the purification of elections. These bills, if enacted, would have made it very difficult for Tammany to commit certain corrupt acts in the coming city election which Mr. Parsons charges it will now commit in order to defeat the will of the voters.

In other words, Cannon and Cannonism in congress were protected against an impending defeat by a bargain which not only strengthens the agents of corruption in New York but bids fair to damage the republican party's own candidate at the coming city election.

The republicanism of Cannon is a disgrace to the republican party of the nation, much as the republicanism of Lorimer is a disgrace to the party in Illinois.—Chicago Record-Herald, Rep.

ALDRICH TO GET A CENTRAL BANK WITH TAFT'S HELP

The following special dispatch is printed by the Philadelphia North American, a republican paper:

Washington, October 5.—That Senator Aldrich will seek at the coming session of congress, while Speaker Cannon still controls the house, to establish a national central bank is indicated in an inspired article circulated through the country tonight by the Associated Press. This is the second article distributed in this way and designed to prepare the country for the Aldrich scheme.

In carrying out their plan to put through a financial system satisfactory to the big corporate interests, the senate leaders are ready to admit now that the financial legislation which they forced upon the nation after the panic of 1907, despite the protests of the business men of the country, is both inadequate and vicious. It must be replaced, they assert, and that immediately.

President Taft has already agreed to the Aldrich plan, according to the writer, who says:

"As it is the common belief that it will form the basis of the curative legislation to be recommended by the monetary commission, and because President Taft, in his recent Boston speech, signified his own favorable disposition toward the project, it is timely to disclose to the public what is believed to be in the minds of the president and the eighteen members of the monetary commission when they refer to the central bank."

Here are the details of Senator Aldrich's plan, as described in the inspired article:

"A bank of the people and for the people" is the definition of this institution made by George H. Reynolds, president of the American Bankers' Association, in his Chicago speech. He pointed out that the people were to be the stockholders, for any one would be privileged to buy the bank stock just as he might a government bond. A small interest on such an investment would be guaranteed by the government; any earnings more than sufficient to pay the guaranteed interest would be shared by the government and by the stockholders.

"Political control of the great bank would be made at least extremely difficult, by the life appointment of the officers. Integrity of operation would be assured by a board of supervisors appointed by the president, the secretary of the treasury and the comptroller of the currency (subject to the approval of the senate), for alternate terms of at least eight years to bridge over political mutations. "Thus would be met the objections founded upon the history of the old United States bank, that the central bank might be proscribed to political uses and be made a powerful engine for the perpetuation in power of one party.

"It is not intended that the cen-

Cannot Rest

Your appetite is gone. What little you eat distresses you. Strength is failing—are bilious. You have headache, backache, feel blue and melancholy—and cannot rest or sleep. The fact is your nerves are unstrung, and you are on the verge of nervous prostration. They must be strengthened, renewed. They will not cure themselves, but must have a nerve remedy. This you will find in

Dr. Miles' Nervine

It is prepared for just such ailments, and is a never-failing remedy, because it soothes, feeds and builds the nerves back to health.

If allowed to continue, stomach, kidney and liver troubles will soon be added to your already overflowing measure of misery.

"I suffered from nervous prostration. When I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine I couldn't hold anything in my hands, nor get from one room to another. Now I do all my own work."—MRS. CHAS. LANDRUM, Carthage, Mo.

Nervine seldom fails to do all we claim for it, and so we authorize druggists to refund money if first bottle does not benefit.
