Washington News

A Washington dispatch says: "The selection of Justice White gives the democrats a long chain of chief justices. The only two republican chief justices were Salmon P. Chase and Morrison R. Waite."

Representative Joel Cook of Pennsylvania who suffered a second stroke of apoplexy at Washington last Saturday and has been in a semi-comatose condition most of the time since then, was taken to his home in Philadelphia.

James N. Huston, treasurer of the United States from 1889 to 1891, was convicted, together with Harvey M. Lewis of Cincinnati, O., and Everett Dufour of this city, by a jury in the criminal court on indictments charging the use of the mails to defraud in connection with the operation of the National Trust company and other concerns. The trial lasted five weeks, but the jury was out only a few hours. The maximum penalty for the offense is two years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000.

President Taft will soon fill the following appointments: A judge for the Eighth United States circuit, vice Vandevanter, promoted to the supreme court; an assistant justice of the court of customs appeals, vice Hunt, promoted to the court of commerce; an additional judge for the eastern district of New York; a new district judge for northern Ohio, vice Taylor; a district judge of middle Pennsylvania, vice Archbold, promoted to court of commerce; a district judge for South Dakota, vice Carland, promoted to court of commerce; a district judge for eastern Washington, vice Whitson, deceased; an assistant justice of the supreme court of New Mexico, vice McFie, whose term has expired; an assistant justice of Porto Rico, vice Figueras, deceased.

The Lorimer investigating committee has unanimously reported that the testimony did not sustain the charges of bribery in connection with Mr. Lorimer's election to the senate. A Washington dispatch says: "The committee took up the evidence in its entirety at an executive session. It canvassed the testimony, weighed the evidence and the arguments, and took into consideration all the facts that have been advanced in connection with the charges concerning Lorimer's election. The members decided there had been shown no foundation for the charges that bribery had entered into the election. The motion finally was offered to report to the full committee of the senate. On this motion there was no dissenting vote. Following this action the sub-committee's report will be prepared for the full committee at once, and will be sent to the senate within a short time. The sub-committee consists of Senators Burrows of Michigan, Bulkeley of Connecticut, Gamble of South Dakota, Heyburn of Idaho, republicans; Frazier of Tennessee, Paynter of Kentucky, and Johnston of Alabama, democrats."

A Washington dispatch carried by the Associated Press says: "The plan for an immediate selection of the democratic members of the next ways and means committee will be acted on with a view to framing a tariff bill for submission to the next congress. Just what action is contemplated on the part of the ways and means committee of the next house has not developed, but the indications are that any tariff measure brought in by its democratic members, who will constitute a majority of the committee in the next congress, probably will be along the line of revision, schedule by schedule. The call for the caucus was circulated at the instance of Mr. Clark of Missouri, the minority leader, and Mr. Underwood of Alabama, his right arm in congress. It does not specify any particular business. The ways and means business, however, is that to facilitate the work of the next congress along tariff lines the democratic majority members should meet early enough to have its action in shape to submit to congress when it convenes in December, thus making it necessary to choose the democratic members before the present congress expires. This will be effected by having those who participate in the caucus constitute the democratic membership of the next house, including, of course, such members of the present house as have been re-elected."

Charles W. Morse's petition for a pardon has been formally presented to the department of justice.

Chandler P. Anderson has been appointed counsellor of the state department to succeed the late Henry M. Hoyt.

The United States supreme court has announced that conspiracy under the Sherman anti-trust law is a continuing offense and has held good the indictment in New York in 1909 of Gustave Kissell and Thomas B. Harter under this law, as far as the statute of limitations was concerned. The two men were identified with the sugar fraud cases.

The reapportionment by congress may deprive Nebraska of one representative.

Senators Aldrich and Lodge have joined forces with Senator Cummins in piece-meal revision of the tariff. They made it plain, however, that they would not go too far in their new alignment.

The Alabama delegation in congress pledged themselves for Champ Clark of Missouri for speaker of the next house.

A national memorial to Abraham Lincoln, to be erected in Washington at a cost of $2,000,000 is proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Cullom of Illinois.
