The big dirigible balloon, Akron, constructed under designs of Melvin Vaniman, exploded while 1,000 feet in midair, over Absecon Inlet, near Atlantic City, and plunged into the water. The balloon's builder, Vaniman; Calvin Vaniman, his younger brother; Fred Elmer, Walter Scott and George Bourtilion were instantly killed. Only two of the bodies have been recovered. Vaniman and his associates had risen in the balloon to give it a last try-out preparatory to an attempt to cross the Atlantic ocean.

An Oyster Bay dispatch to the Louisville Courier-Journal said: Colonel Roosevelt said at Oyster Bay, in commenting on the nomination of Woodrow Wilson, that the past ten days at Baltimore had demonstrated the utterly irreconcilable nature of elements in the democratic party, and that, after all, the nomination could only have been obtained through the support of Taggart in Indiana and Sullivan in Illinois.

Taft delegates who controlled the Ohio state convention's first session at Columbus recently, defeated an anti-Taft man for the governorship of the state and named Judge E. B. Dillon as the candidate of the republican party.

A witness testified in the investigation of Judge C. H. Hanford that the judge had been drunk while presiding over his court.

George B. Swift, former mayor of Chicago, died of an attack of acute heart disease at his home.

A "gusher," producing 200 barrels of oil a day, was brought in at Hartford, Okla.

Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris, only daughter of the former late General U. S. Grant, was married at Coburg, Ontario, to Frank H. Jones, formerly first assistant postmaster general of the United States.

A. Piatt Andrew, assistant secretary of the treasury has resigned. He wrote a bitter letter criticising the conditions of the treasury department and denouncing Secretary McVeagh. Secretary McVeagh has replied that Andrew was a trouble maker.

Colonel Roosevelt's party will hold a convention about August 1st. Senator Dixon will have charge of his campaign.

Harriet Quimby, the woman aviator, who was flying with a passenger, W. A. P. Willard, in the aviation meet, fell from a height of 1,000 feet into Dorchester Bay, Boston. Both were killed.

Five minutes after going on the witness stand in the Darrow bribery trial at Los Angeles, Detective William J. Burns asked the protection of the court and a little later was fined $25 for contempt.

George Wingfield declined the appointment as United States senator from Nevada, and former Chief Justice W. A. Massey has been appointed.

Governor Osborne, of Michigan, issued a statement which is interpreted to mean that he will support Governor Wilson.

The state convention of progressives will be held at Jackson, Mich., July 20th. Governor Osborne opposed the plan to organize a third party at that meeting. Some say he will stay by the republican organization and others say he will act more independently.

Theodore Roosevelt has issued a statement to the effect that both of the old party's platforms have missed the mark. He intimates that he will straighten it out at his convention.

The democratic national committee will hold a special meeting on July 15th to outline the campaign work.

Senator La Follette has made another demand upon Theodore Roosevelt that he produce a statement of his campaign expenses.

Governor Osborn of Michigan, republican, has issued a statement saying that republicans who are in favor of progressive measures should refuse to join a third party movement, retaining their places in the old party so that they may later join in a general cleanup and in the meantime casting their vote for Woodrow Wilson.
