Remarks About Nourishing Food.

"A physician's wife gave me a package of Grape-Nuts one day, with the remark that she was sure I would find the food very beneficial, both for my own use and for my patients. I was particularly attracted to the food, as at that time the weather was very hot and I appreciated the fact that Grape-Nuts requires no cooking.

"The food was deliciously crisp, and most inviting to the appetite. After making use of it twice a day for three or four weeks, I discovered that it was a most wonderful invigorator. I used to suffer greatly from exhaustion, headaches and depression of spirits. My work had been very trying at times and indigestion had set in.

"Now I am always well and ready for any amount of work, have an abundance of active energy, cheerfulness and mental poise. I have proved to my entire satisfaction that this change has been brought about by Grape-Nuts food.

"The fact that it is predigested is a very desirable feature. I have had many remarkable results in feeding Grape-Nuts to my patients, and I can not speak too highly of the food. My friends constantly comment on the change in my appearance. I have gained 9 pounds since beginning the use of this food."

"There's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

termined after further report, the London embassy having been ordered to investigate the charges that the young woman was subjected to cruel treatment.

It was pointed out that if Mrs. Emerson, mother of the young woman, has complained to the embassy it must have been subsequent to the sending of Charge Laughlin's report which said the mother had filed no charges, although she was granted an hour's interview with her daughter.

Secretary Bryan will immediately take up with Chandler Anderson, the counselor of the department, the question of what is to be done. Practically there are no precedents, the nearest similar case being that of Mrs. Maybrick, when some of the highest officials in the United States petitioned the British government to release the American woman from the prison where she was serving a life sentence. It was held by several secretaries, notably Blaine and Hay, that there was no warrant for a direct official request from the United States government for clemency in Mrs. Maybrick's case, so these representatives were unofficial, though made through the American ambassador in London.

Secretary Bryan wishes first to establish the complete regularity of the judicial proceedings in the case of Miss Emerson, and if he follows the ordinary course and ascertains that there has been no discrimination against the woman on account of her nationality and that she has not been treated in a cruel, inhuman manner, forbidden by the principles of the law common to all nations, he likewise probably will confine himself to the exercise of his functions in an unofficial way to secure an amelioration of Miss Emerson's condition.

Former Secretary of State Knox will, according to the Philadelphia North American, be a candidate to succeed Boies Penrose in the United States senate. Penrose's term expires in 1915.

Victor Murdock of Kansas, will introduce in behalf of the progressives, a number of measures in line with the progressive platform.

Congress met in special session Monday, April 7. President Wilson delivered his message in person Tuesday, April 8.

LITERAL

A lawyer was cross-examining an old German about the position of the doors, windows, and so forth, in a house in which a certain transaction occurred.

"And now, my good man," said the lawyer, "will you be good enough to tell the court how the stairs run in the house?"

The German looked dazed and unsettled for a moment. "How do the stairs run?" he queried.

"Yes, how do the stairs run?"

"Vell," continued the witness, after a moment's thought, "ven I am oop-stairs dey run down, and ven I am down-stairs dey run oop."
