ECZEMA

Also called Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pruritus, Milk-Crust, Water, Poison, Weeping Skin, etc.

I believe eczema can be cured to stay. I mean just what I say C-U-R-E-D and NOT merely patched up to return again. Remember, I make this statement after handling nearly a half million cases of eczema and devoting 12 years of my life to its treatment. I don't care what all you have used nor how many doctors have told you that you could not be cured, all I ask is just a chance to prove my claims. If you write me TODAY, I will send you a FREE TRIAL of mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will surely convince you at it has me. If you are disgusted and discouraged, I dare you to give me a chance to prove my claims. By writing me today I believe you will enjoy more real comfort than you really thought this world held for you. Just try it, and I feel sure you will agree with me.

and brought about the nomination of Wilson. What happened at Baltimore may to a more exciting and spectacular degree happen at the coming convention in San Francisco. Those in the party elements who fight Bryan and everything of the Bryanistic stamp whose records do not stand the limelight of publicity, are the ones who gnash their teeth and stoop to villification at every progressive move made by Bryan and it is this sort of fellows whose records are to be found accurately recorded in Brother Charley's card indexes. And how it does make 'em "bile" when he spirings it on some of them which usually proves gall and worm-wood! —Hastings, Neb., Democrat.

BRYAN

William Jennings Bryan still occupies the center of the stage in any part of the country he visits. His smile is as broad as ever and his voice rings out upon the air with as much vigor as it did twenty-five years ago. I trust our readers will pardon a personal reference, merely to show the beginning of the change of public sentiment from the Republican to the Democratic party. My father was a Republican member of the Nebraska legislature and one of the eight Republican presidential electors on the state ticket when McKinley was elected president. When a boy, I would sing Republican campaign songs and whoop it up for Old Glory at my father's political meetings. I thought the United States flag rightfully belonged to the Republican party.

When I was nineteen years of age, W. J. Bryan, an eloquent young lawyer of Lincoln, was sent out by the congressional campaign committee to stump the district, a rock-ribbed Republican district, for the Democratic candidate for congress. The Democratic candidate was defeated, but Mr. Bryan's clear reasoning was an effective moulder of public thought. He put the aspiration of young men into language that could be easily remembered and effectively used. He simplified the problems of government and made them plain to the boys who were to be voters two years from that time. The first fundamental principle, he told us to remember is "to trust in the people" Have faith in them because that faith is the foundation of free government.

He explained the iniquities of the high protective tariff, the effects of the liquor traffic, he advocated National prohibition, National Women Suffrage and the election of U. S. Senators by direct vote of the people. As a result, hundreds of boys of Republican families boldly proclaimed their faith in Bryan and the Democracy he preached and when he became the congressional nominee two years later these boys came forward with their votes in such numbers as to overturn the big Republican majority so confidently expected by their fathers. Bryan was elected to congress. Two years later he was re-elected by increased majority. He was sent as delegate to the Chicago Democratic convention where by his expression of things fundamental and constructive in popular government, he became the nominee for the presidency. He has three times been the candidate of his party for the most exalted office in the gift of the whole people. He has sat in the president's cabinet. And yet, during all these years, whether in or out of office, he has always worked among the people in the vineyard of governmental problems, going here and there in his Democratic simplicity and has earned the title of "The Great Commoner." We are as proud of Bryan today as we were when we cast off the parental yoke of Republicanism at the age of 21. He has been our political guide for more than a quarter of a century. And now we want to say in all candor to the young men of Dewey county and to the women who will cast their first vote at the coming election: follow Bryan. Study his teachings. Burn deep into your minds and hearts the simple truths of his democracy.

We now have National prohibition. Equal political rights for women. popular vote for U. S. Senators and many other reforms brought about largely through his untiring efforts. He is now working for the world wide peace. He believes the ex-soldier boys and their mothers and wives have more interest in their homes than they have building up a military autocracy and huge munition plants in this country.—Taloga, Oklahoma, Advocate.

BRYAN DEMOCRACY'S PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

A Washington dispatch, dated May 1, says: The Bryan democracy in the District of Columbia has started a campaign to elect delegates to the San Francisco convention who will support the following program:

Federal and state legislation to reduce the cost of living; recognition of labor's right to collective bargaining; government ownership and democratic control of public utilities; restoration of prewar liberties, and enforcement of the prohibition amendment.

This program is thought to be about what William J. Bryan will support at the San Francisco convention.

"Say, Doctor, This Prescription Works Like Mag'c."

Physician Says Nuxated Iron Quickly Puts Astonishing Strength and Energy Into the Veins of Men and Brings Roses to the Checks of Nervous, Run-down Women.

Ask the first hundred strong, healthy people you meet to what they owe their strength and see how many reply "Nuxated Iron." Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says: "Thousands of people suffer from iron deficiency but do not know what to take. There is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron, to enrich the blood, make beautiful, healthy women, and strong, vigorous iron men. To make absolutely sure that my patients get real organic iron and not some form of the metallic variety, I always prescribe Nuxated Iron in its original package. Nuxated Iron will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances."

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. Sullivan can be obtained from any good druggist with or without a physician's prescription on an absolute manufacturers' guarantee of success or money refunded.

Creating an Estate

All are striving to create an estate. When death comes, if there is no insurance, a forced sale of the property often causes a large loss, whereas, the proceeds from a life insurance policy will furnish ready money for the immediate needs and the executors of the estate can have time to dispose of the property to the best advantage.

The cash value of a man's life to his family, if he earns but $1,000 a year, at age thirty-five is over $14,000. No man would go without fire insurance on that amount of property and yet if he carries no life insurance, he is forcing his family to carry a risk for this amount unprotected. Why not transfer this risk from the family to
