Miscellaneous.

Friendship takes its proof in actions—love in words.
It is folly to attempt any wicked beginning in hope of good ending.

Who sows in autumn must expect snow for a harvest. So is life.
In trials, infinitely clearer than in great deeds, actual character is displayed.

"This world," remarked Horace Walpole, "is a comedy to those who think, and a tragedy to those who feel."
It falleth out with love as it doth with vines; for the young vines bring the most wine, but the old is best.

Memory is the cabinet of imagination, the treasury of reason, the registry of conscience, and the council chamber of thought.
Money in your purse will credit you—wisdom in your head will adorn you—but both in your necessity will serve you.

Enemies are as necessary to the proper development of the full grown man as friends. When lived that man that amounted to anything, but could count his enemies by the score?

The youth who follows his appetites, too soon reaches the cup, before he has received its best ingredients, and by anticipating his pleasures, robs the remaining parts of his life of their savor, so that his eagerness only produces a manhood of imbecility and an age of pain.

Domestic peace can never be preserved in family jars.
How should a husband speak to a scolding wife? "My dear, I love the still."
"Beware," said the potter to the clay, and it was ware.

Molens being asked to compare the love of jealous and unjealous people, said the former loved most, the latter best.
A jeweller advertises that he has a number of precious stones to dispose of, adding that they sparkle like the tears of a young widow.

A person being asked why he had given his daughter in marriage to a man with whom he was at enmity, answered—"I did it out of pure revenge."
Impudence often staves a fellow on in life, but a gentleman "down east" is so remarkably diffident that it required three clerks to bring forward his balance to the bankers.

It is a sign a man is very poor, when he is forced to patch his figure with the relics of the dead, and rifle tombs and monuments for reputation.
A friend, in speaking of California, says if you call a physician, he generally releases you, if not of your disease, at least of the ostent of your pocket-book. For three "ahms" and a "ah," I paid, in August last, twenty-seven dollars.

FRED OOD FISK.—Cut the fresh cut into slices about an inch in thickness, and dry it in a towel; have ready bread crumbs, and the yolk of an egg beaten, salt and pepper the dish, dip each slice first in the egg and then in the bread crumbs, have ready boiling lard, and lay them in to fry, until a nice brown; drain off all the fat from each slice, and serve hot.

TO TAKE THE OUT OF MORTAR.—Dip the part stained with ink into cold water. Then fill a small basin with boiling water, and on the top place a pewter plate; lay the mortar upon the plate, steam salts of lemon or tartaric acid upon the ink spot, rubbing it with the bowl of a spoon, the spot will immediately disappear.

BUCKWHEAT WITHOUT YEAST.—You can prepare these delicious breakfast or tea cakes thus: mix a quart of buckwheat flour in a butter as usual, adding a teaspoonful of carbonate of soda, dissolved in water; rub this in well stirred in, add a teaspoonful of tartaric acid, also dissolved, and salt. Bake as soon as prepared.

SWEET POTATO PRESERVING.—Boil the potatoes and rub them through a sieve, wash and dry, mix with sugar and a little salt, and pack in a wooden tub, or a large tin, with a layer of salt between each layer. This is an easy and profitable business.

For expenses of surveying, defining, and marking such portions of the boundaries of the Creek and Seminole countries as do not consist of well defined natural boundaries, and compensation for expenses of Indian commissioners, per twenty-first article treaty seventh August, eighteen hundred and fifty-six, ten thousand dollars.
