Boats, and Value thereof. The St. Louis Republican in speaking of the Missouri River, says: There is no trade in the United States, if there be in the world, that employs as many steamboats as does that of the Missouri River: nor is there a River in which as good, staunch built and fine boats are required. The Missouri is a dan-The house was crowded on both evenings, and being put together in the staunchest manner. There all felt they had their "money's worth." Du- is not a river in the West in which a good boat is so brought long since for its recovery. rant has about as much drollery in him as is liberally supported as on the Missouri, nor is there a River where as high prices for freight and passage are paid. Steamboat officers and their crews are better paid in the Missouri than in any other River, and boats that run it make more money than they could anywhere else. In fact, the Missouri is the great River of the West. The people who are ema concert at Hallam's Hall on Wednesday ployed on it, and who travel on it, live faster and better than on any other stream in the known world. In order to give our readers who reside in other States an idea of what is going on in the Missouri River, we will state that there are now running the Missouri River Trade, Forty-six Steamers, the estimated value of which is, one million two hundred and sicty-nine thousand dollars. We may add also Our city has been peculiarly favor. that there are now building at least a dozon new ed of late in the way of entertainments of va- boats for this trade next spring. 12 1-ly. Brownville, June 18, 1857. El Dorado.

THE PROPRIETORS of this new town, recently I laid off in Nemaha county, Nebrasku, wish to call the attention of the citizens as well as those just coming into the county, to the numerous advantag s, they are confident all who will take the trouble to examine will acknowledge, surround it. In the first place it is as near as possible in the geographioal centre of the county-it is in the centre of popniation and improvement-is on the main throughfare leading North and South and East and West, The town site is nearly level, gently rollin, is sur-rounded by the timbers of the Missouri and Little Nemaha; good water is of easy access, several fine springs are on the town site. Good building stone near at hand-stone coal has been found in abundance within a short days travel, which can be brought into requisition for mechanical purposes of the day is not far distant when a Kailroad will be braska, from the northren to the southren boundary. The nature of the country is such that this road must pass through Elderado. With its position and all these advantages parrounding it, the proprietors with many others, feel-assured that it will be for the best interests of the co nty to locate the County Scat at Eldorado. Be-

Another matter, it is confidently believed that lieveing thus and feeling willing to assist the county-we pledge ourselves and will enter into bond, if necessary, to donate to the County two hundred acres of land in town lots, provided the County Sent is located there within a reasonable length of time, R.
