tion than may be necessary to provide for the due celerity, certainty and security of such transpotation. Under this law a new description of bids have been received. They do not specify a mode of convergence, but engage to take the entire mail each trip with certainty, celerity and security, using the terms of the law. These bids are styled from the manner in which they are designated on the books of the department, star bids, and they will be construed as providing for the saveyance of the paire mail, however large, and whatever may be the mode necessary to insure its celerity, certainly and security.

In all cases where the lowest grade of persice is believed to be sufficient, the lowest bid will be accepted in ace to a star or specific bid. When the lowest bid is not a surrbid, and specifies either no mode or an inadquate mode of donveyance, it will not be accepted, but set aside for a specific bid proposin When the bid does not specify a mode of conveyance also when it proposes to carry "according to the advertisement," but without such specification, it will be considered as a proposal for horsebank service. 20. A medification of a bid in any of its essectial terms is tantamount to a new bid, and cannot be received, so as to interfere with a regular competition, after the last hour set for receiving bids.

21. Postmasters are to be careful not to certify the sufficiency of guaranters, or surecles, without knowing that they are persons of sufficient responsibility; and all bidders, gurantors, and sureties are distinctly notified that on a failure to enter into or perform the contracts for the service proposed for in the accepted bids, their legal Habilities will be enforced against them.

22. Present contractors, and pursons known at the department must equally with others, produce guarantors and certificates of their sufficency substantially in the forms above prescribed. The certificates of sufficiency must be signed by a postmaster or by a judge of a court of record.
