THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 25, 1861.

The State of the Country. The state of the country is indeed de plorable, and rapidly growing worse .-

What the present excitement will lead to The people everywhere are excited to a It must culminate somewhere and somehow, and that very soon. The Government-we speak not now of any particular section, but the Federal Government, under which every and all sections have progressed and advanced in the word's history-has exercised a degree of leniency and forbearance equally unparelled, with and towards a set of men who have for years been plotting the overthrow and downfall of the best form formed guards to protect the bridges until the arrival of Government the sun ever shone upon, and why there should be any opposition Caleb Cushing arrived at Harrisburg Monday he are utterly at a loss to imagine. We injury from the citizens of Carlisle and Chambers- vering a form of government symbolized by the stars and stripes, and secured by the common blood of our forefathers, and why, or for what cause there should be found those who are willing and ready to trail that flag in the dust; yea, trample it under foot, and raise in its stead the Pelican, Palmetto, or Rattlesnake, is strange! incomprehensibly strange! Yet such is the fact. We cannot, will not believe that such a course comes from other than diseased, ill-advised traitorous make outh to the same, and the assessor shall specify brains. The God who smiled upon and controlled the destinies of the Revolutionary fathers, cannot smile upon such men Gov Cuttain to throw troops into camp as rapidly as and their acts. He will arrest them in their mad career, and our glorious country, characterized throughout the world A company of sesessionists 115 in number left for its exhalted, religious, political and social liberties and privileges, will be preserved and perpetuated. We must not be controlled or governed by passion; reason must have her sway. This may not, probably will not be the case for a ism is short lived, and its leaders must and will meet with an ignominious and. sound sense, will step in and regulate .-Let us hope and pray for a speedy restoration of peace and harmony.

Who is to Blame? This is no time to criminate and recriminate. It is enough to know that the lections are lost sight of, and that there is to the traitors of the country. Wm. P. The principal hobby now used by the "The glorious State of Tennessee is leading traitors in the Border States for the purpose of arousing and exciting the masses there to join their ranks, is that the North intends subjugating their brethren of Cottenocracy. General Laws.

We this week publish a couple of short acts passed by the last General Assemthe revenue at all the ports, and espec- bly of this territory. One for the encouragement of the manufacture of Sorgum Sugar, and the other for the encouragement of the growth of fruit and timber trees in Nebraska. We will continue HILL'S SPRING GOODS to publish, for the benefit of our readers, such acts as are of a general nature.

The Legislature has hitherto failed to make any provisions for the publication of General Laws in the Newspapers of the Territory, as is the case in all other Territories and States. There could be no more economical expenditure of reasonable amount of money, and one too, that would meet with the hearty approval of the people, than to provide by law for the publication of all general laws in newspapers. The masses have not access to Law Books; and, in fact, if they had, would read the laws when published in newspapers when they would Dry Goods, not think of, or take the trouble to peruse books. Our children, too, who read a newspaper in preference to anything else, would thus become familiar with the laws of the country, and, to a greater extent, grow up law observing and law abiding

A determination on our part, as a public journalist, to furnish the people all the light possible, induces us to publish at our own expense, such laws as we think the generality of our readers desire to become acquainted with.

Douglas Improved Sugar Mill. The attention of Farmers in Nebraska is called to the owing ceruffcate of D. H. Eilis, who last season ran a No O Douglas mill in Nemaha County where I had It on exhibition. The price of this sized mill is $50 treight Nemaha County, Nebraska. April 10th, 1861 R. W. FURNAS, Esq. -- Sir: I take pleature in furnishing you with the following information us the result of my actual experimenting with the small Danglas inproved Sugar mill. It must be recollected that the seison was extremely dry and the case by no means good While I used it I made from 30 to 60 gallons of good molasses per day-12 pounds to the gallon From one piece of case, the only one I measured securately 50 square rods I made 65 gallons of No I molasses. This is over 200 gallons per acre. I am quite sure of a good season when the cane is rich I can make 300 callons from an acre. In my opinion no farmer or at least neighborhood in the west should be without one of these or similar iron mills.

Yours Respectfully Reference is also made to J. W. Hall, Mr Busley T B Edwards, A J Richardson, Jno Cole Rev S h Collins, J Eastridge and many others in Nemaha County. As the cuttivation of the sugar cane in the West has proved an entire success, and as an extraordinary amount will this season be planted, it is evident farmers manufacturing it. Those who have been using the old List of Gifts, can do so by acting as an agent for wooden mills can compare the result with that above | and see that the price of a mill is saved in a single season by the use of an iron crusher. Where it is not convenient for one farmer to purchase agent, simply by orming a club, sending a dist of a mill, a neighborhood often clubs together when the books, and ramitting the amount of manny required

cost to each is so trifling as not to be felt compared with | for the same. the advantages derived. Parmers will do well to send in their orders early as it fit desirable that the milis be shipped in the early part of Summer when freights are low, and also by shipping a number together the charge will be still less.
