THE NEGRO.

In an article on this fruitful theme in the Atlanta (Ga.) Confederacy says: "It is thought by many among us that the Confederates should seek chiefly to capture, not slay, the negro soldiers, in order to return them to slavery, both the free negroes of the North and the escaped slaves. But it is the fortune of war that much evil must be done that good may come, and it is impossible, in the heat of conflict, to discriminate. The death of an able-bodied negro is certainly a loss and an evil, but a soldier is not to stop to estimate a negro's value when he meets him in battle, for he devotes himself to capturing negroes. Yankee bullets are all the times threatening him. Besides, it is a matter of doubt whether it would be to our interest to keep these negro soldiers, whether Northern freedmen or Southern slaves, for use as slaves in the future. There are perhaps many of them, seduced or forced from their owners, who might become useful and docile slaves again. But the large majority, including all the free negroes of the North, are a desperate, worthless set of diseased, mind polluted wretches, who could scarcely become again useful and desirable servants among us; and even those who are better inclined have become debauched, and lost value by contact with the Yankees. On the whole, the Confederates should, and they certainly will, kill indiscriminately that can, Yankees, Dutch, negroes, or what not, whom they meet in battle; but if any negroes are captured, it would be better than hanging to sell them to Cuba or Brazil."

ELV S. PARKER—Chief of the Santa Fe National, has accepted the position of Adjutant-General on the staff of General Smith, now at Vicksburg. His departure was made the occasion of a meeting of the nation at Council House, on the Tonawanda Reservation, in New York to bid him adieu. Mr. Parker is an accomplished civil engineer, and has been several times employed by the Government in that city.

A gorse insult was offered to Colonel Hanson, at Lebanon, on Sunday evening after the surrender, by John Morgan. Before our gallant boys had been marched out of the depot, Morgan walked up to Colonel Hanson and grabbed him by the whiskers, saying, "You killed my brother, and I will blow your brains out if you don't rascal." At the same time shaking his fist in Hanson's face.

The individual who "stood upon his own responsibility," is to be indicted for infanticide.

If an empty purse could speak, what loving sentiments would it express? "What you find no change in me."

One of the little fellows got off an odd expression in this form: "Mother did General Mitchell go to Heaven?" "Yes, my child, I think he did." "Bully for him."

Why a dog waggles his tail, Lord Dunderberg tells his friends: "Because the dog is stronger than the tail. If was not, the tail would waggle the dog."

The age of a young lady is now expressed according to the present style of skirts, by saying that eighteen springs have passed over her head!

Why are ladies the biggest thieves in existence? Because they 'steal' their petticoats, 'bone' their stays, and 'crib' their babies. Yes, and 'hook' their eyes, too.

"That's a fine strait," said one gentleman to another, alluding to the tones of a singer, at a concert the other evening. "Yes," said a countryman who sat near, "but if he strains much more, he'll bust."

"A dancer once said to a Spartan, 'You cannot stand upon your legs as long as I can.' 'Perhaps not,' said the Spartan, 'but my goose can.'"

Woman was taken from man's side and the wound was not entirely sewed up. He had had to have an occasional stitch in his side ever since.

"Miss Brown," said a young man to a brick trowel, "I have been learned to tell fortunes. Just let me have your hand, if you please." "Let Mr. White, how sudden you are! Well, go and ask father."

Ministers are poor jockeys. It is related of old Mr. Burnet that he had a horse which he wished to sell, and when exhibiting it to an expected purchaser, mounted and rode the horse gallantly, but did not succeed in hiding his defect. "My good doctor," said the trader, "when you want to take me in, you should mount the pulpit, not a horse."

A dear little girl of four years was saying her prayers not long since, when her roguish brother, three years older, came slyly behind, and pulled her hair. Without moving her head she purred and said: "Please, Lord, excuse me a minute, while I kick Freddy." We have known older persons to excuse themselves from praying, to 'kick' somebody.

From Camden to Hetchley, a distance of forty miles, I travelled along with Mrs. Greaves. She was a sweet and interesting companion, as sweet and interesting that, fastidious as I am, the subject, I believe, I would have been willing to have kissed her. I had, however, several reasons for not perpetrating this act. First, I am such a road hand I wouldn't dream of kissing the appearance of a lady to my sweet wife. Second, I was afraid my fellow passengers would see me and tell Mrs. Greaves. Third, I do not think Mrs. G. would have let me.

Is an Eastern village, when the plate was being passed in church, a newly-appointed editor said to the collector, "Go on, I'm a dead-head; I've got a pass."

It is established by reliable authority that before the next Congress assembles, one hundred to two hundred national banks will have been organized in the Northern States.
