

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY GEO. W. HILL & CO., Advertiser Block, Main St. Between 1st & 2d. Brownville, N. T.

TERMS: $3 00 per year, in advance. Subscription, must invariably be paid in Advance. If not paid, the paper will be discontinued.

Nebraska Advertiser

"LIBERTY AND UNION, ONE AND INSEPARABLE NOW AND FOREVER."

VOL. IX.

BROWNVILLE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 1865.

NO. 26.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Table with 2 columns: Description of ad (e.g., One square, One column) and Rate (e.g., $1.00, $0.50).

BUSINESS CARDS.

JAMES MEDFORD, CABINET-MAKER AND UNDERTAKER. Corner 2nd and Main Streets, BROWNVILLE, N. T.

EATING HOUSE! BY FRED. AUGUST, MAIN, BET. FIRST AND SECOND STS. BROWNVILLE N. T.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, BROWNVILLE, NEBRASKA. C. W. WHEELER, CABINET-MAKER AND CARPENTER.

SKY LIGHT GALLERY. B. C. HARE'S SKY LIGHT GALLERY. CHAS. G. DORSEY, ATTORNEY AT LAW.

C. F. STEWART, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. OFFICE AT HIS RESIDENCE.

ESHAH REVIS, ATTORNEY AT LAW, FALLS CITY, NEBRASKA. EDWARD W. THOMAS, ATTORNEY AT LAW, SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY.

Great Western Photograph Rooms. World respectfully announce to the public that he has fitted up a Sky-Light Gallery.

POETRY.

LET IT PASS. "Let former grudges pass."—SHAKESPEARE. Be not swift to take offense; Let it pass!

The Dog and the Copperhead.

BY DAVID BARKER. One day last week, on the railroad train Just east of the Etinabog, Was thundering along through the State of Maine.

Select Story.

The Ambitious Brigand.

A Story of Naples. One day (what matter about the year?) a plainly-dressed man, apparently a foreigner, entered the city of Naples on foot.

best he had. He told them he was a Spaniard by birth, a student from choice, a recluse from whim, and a soothsayer by nature. They bade him predict his own fate, and then arrested and took him before a magistrate.

stand each... what do you require of me? "You have already named what I most desire." "The death of the count and the duchess?"

ber chief. "The Duke Ducarrar is dying of your cursed poison!" she cried, in a wild, lofty tones, with flashing eyes.

barbarous and inhuman by the habit of domineering ourselves. During the progress of the war, fearing an insurrection among her Helots at home, she proclaimed liberty to such as would come forward and join her armies.

and; and the end achieved was free government for the English race everywhere. The writer in the Religious Monthly deduces from the facts he relates several arguments. First comes one in favor of the cultivation of a national military spirit as the surest way of avoiding the shedding of blood of all.