Hartford Live Stock Insurance Company.—We see that this company have established an Agency in this city, presided over by Jas. McNaughton, at Carson's Bank. This is undoubtedly one of the greatest safeguards to the farmer, or any one owning live stock, that ever was originated. It insures against loss by Death or Theft. The risk by death to a person having but a small supply of stock, or say but the number of horses actually needed, is too great not to be prepared against, and add that of loss by theft, and it behooves every man to insure. This company has a capital of $500,000, and is reliable in every respect.
