The patrons of this school speak in high praise of Mr. Zuver, and the scholars say it is one of their best schools. We heard his arithmetic class recite their lesson, and explain the principles upon which the rules were constructed, and out of a class of twelve young ladies and gentlemen there was not one failed to clearly comprehend and fully explain the rules of their lessons, and to correctly perform the examples thereunder. We are happy to inform the tax payers of the county, and especially the nonresident ones, that so far as our observation goes, and we have been to some pains to inform ourself, that the school tax is paid for "value received."

We stoped over night with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Phippenney. Two more genial and social people would be hard to find in any community. We called upon most of the families in the school district, who readily subscribed for the Advertiser; and we shall strive to send them a good newspaper for the year
