The News and the Herald flippantly toss about in their columns the following phrases: "The loyal party," "the high moral party," "the party founded on moral ideas," "the party of religious tendencies," as though it were a crime for public men or a great national party to be governed in their political action by Loyalty to the Government, to themselves and to the Supreme Ruler of the universe.

Stabbing Affray. A difficulty occurred on Tuesday evening last a short distance from town between Thomas Murphy and Thomas Angel, both residents of Irish grove, which resulted in the former getting seriously if not dangerously wounded with a knife in the hands of the latter.

An Innocent Man Hung by a Mob. The Dubuque Times tells of an innocent man being hung by a vigilance committee on Monday last at Janesville, Bremer county. It says: "In the Times of yesterday there was an account of the hanging of a supposed horse thief by a mob, or self-styled vigilance committee, between Janesville and Waverly. Fuller particulars have since transpired in regard to the affair, which places it in an entirely different light, and reveals the horrible fact that an innocent man has suffered death at the hands of the mob. It seems that two young men, partially intoxicated, took the horses and rode them down to Cedar Falls, and after they got there turned them loose. Mr. Roberts was arrested at Janesville, as the supposed thief, and hung in a manner already related. When the farmer got home found his animals there. It is also stated that Mr. Roberts was hung by the mob at ten o'clock in the evening, and left hanging by the mob until twelve o'clock the next day. Warrants are now out for the arrest of the ringleaders, and it is to be hoped that the parties concerned in the outrage will be brought to justice. We understand that one of the chief leaders of the mob is the deputy sheriff of the county. It is certainly a sickening affair, and no doubt remains that an innocent man has been hung."

The inauguration of the Benton statue took place in St. Louis last week under very imposing ceremonies. The statue was unveiled by Mrs. Fremont, daughter of the illustrious statesman, and the inaugural address was delivered by Gen. F. P. Blair.

form which has elicited such hearty approval throughout the land, the debt of gratitude it acknowledged to the brave men who saved the Union from destruction, the frank approval of amnesty based on repentance and loyalty, the demand for the most rigid economy and honesty in the Government, the sympathy of the party of liberty we here enjoy, and the recognition of the sublime principles of the Declaration of Independence are worthy of organization on whose banners they are to be written in the coming contest. Its past record cannot be blotting out or forgotten. If there had been no Republican party, slavery would today cast its baleful shadow over the Republic. If there had been no Republican party, a free press and free speech would be as unknown from the Potomac to the Rio Grande as ten years ago. If the Republican party could have been stricken from existence when the banner of rebellion was unfurled, and when the response, "no coercion," was heard at the North, we would have had no nation to-day. But for the Republican party daring to risk the odium of tax and draft laws our flag could not have been kept flying in the field until the long hoped for victory came. Without a Republican party, the Civil Rights bill—the guarantee of equality under the law to the humble and the defenceless as well as to the strong, would not be to-day upon our national statute book. With such inspirations from the past, and following the example of the founders of the Republic who called their victorious General of revolution to preside over the land his triumphs had saved from its enemies, I cannot doubt that our labors will be crowned with success, and it will be a success that shall bring restored hope, confidence, prosperity and progress South as well as North, West as well as East, and above all the blessings under providence of national concord and peace.
