

General Business Cards.

Cards of five lines or less, $1 a year. Each additional line, 50 cts.

ATTORNEYS. DEFOREST PORTER, Attorney at Law and Land Agent.

TIPTON, HEWETT & CHURCH, Attorneys and Counselors at Law.

THOMAS & BROADY, Attorneys at Law and Real Estate Agents.

LAND AGENTS. Real Estate Agent and Justice of Peace.

W. M. HOOPER, Real Estate Agent and Justice of Peace.

JONAS HACKER, Collector for the City of Brownville.

DORSEY, HADLEY & CO., Real Estate Agents and Dealers in Land.

McLAUGHLIN & HICHI, Real Estate and Land Agents.

Physicians. H. L. MATTHEWS, Physician, Surgeon and Obstetrician.

C. F. STEWART, M. D., Physician, Surgeon and Obstetrician.

W. H. KIMBERLIN, Oculist and Aurist.

Merchandise. GEORGE MAHON, Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, Shoes, &c.

DRUG STORES. HOLLADAY & CO., Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Drugs.

McCREERY NICKELL, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Drugs.

BOOTS AND SHOES. CHARLES HELMER, BOOT AND SHOE MAKER.

ROOF AND SHED MAKER. A. ROBINSON, ROOF AND SHED MAKER.

HARDWARE. JOHN C. DEUSER, Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, Pumps, &c.

SADDLERY. JOHN W. MIDDLETON, Harness, Saddles, Collars, Etc.

HARNESSES, SADDLES, COLLARS, Etc. JOHN H. BAUER, Harness, Saddles, Collars, Etc.

SALOONS. CHARLES BREGEL, BEER HALL AND LUNCH ROOM.

GARRISON & HOBERTS, BILLIARD HALL AND SALOON.

JOSEPH HUBBARD & CO., The best Wines and Liquors kept on hand.

General Business Cards.

Cards of five lines or less, $1 a year. Each additional line, 50 cts.

ATTORNEYS. DEFOREST PORTER, Attorney at Law and Land Agent.

TIPTON, HEWETT & CHURCH, Attorneys and Counselors at Law.

THOMAS & BROADY, Attorneys at Law and Real Estate Agents.

LAND AGENTS. Real Estate Agent and Justice of Peace.

W. M. HOOPER, Real Estate Agent and Justice of Peace.

JONAS HACKER, Collector for the City of Brownville.

DORSEY, HADLEY & CO., Real Estate Agents and Dealers in Land.

McLAUGHLIN & HICHI, Real Estate and Land Agents.

Physicians. H. L. MATTHEWS, Physician, Surgeon and Obstetrician.

C. F. STEWART, M. D., Physician, Surgeon and Obstetrician.

W. H. KIMBERLIN, Oculist and Aurist.

Merchandise. GEORGE MAHON, Dealer in Dry Goods, Groceries, Shoes, &c.

DRUG STORES. HOLLADAY & CO., Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Drugs.

McCREERY NICKELL, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Drugs.

BOOTS AND SHOES. CHARLES HELMER, BOOT AND SHOE MAKER.

ROOF AND SHED MAKER. A. ROBINSON, ROOF AND SHED MAKER.

HARDWARE. JOHN C. DEUSER, Dealer in Stoves, Tinware, Pumps, &c.

SADDLERY. JOHN W. MIDDLETON, Harness, Saddles, Collars, Etc.

HARNESSES, SADDLES, COLLARS, Etc. JOHN H. BAUER, Harness, Saddles, Collars, Etc.

SALOONS. CHARLES BREGEL, BEER HALL AND LUNCH ROOM.

GARRISON & HOBERTS, BILLIARD HALL AND SALOON.

JOSEPH HUBBARD & CO., The best Wines and Liquors kept on hand.

GRANT CAMPAIGN SONG.

The following campaign song appears in the Atlanta (Ga.) News, and purports to be written by a rebel.

Old Mainie the California song, The welcome, welcome word, And Northward rolling to the South.

By every reasonable rule of construction it seems perfectly plain, and consequently is entitled to its protection.

Having attempted to accomplish this, independent of the Senate, which he failed to secure, he is entitled to the protection of the law.

The plea which he makes in his answer, that he did not believe the act of March 2, 1867, constitutional, cannot be sustained.

When the act regulating the tenure of civil offices passed Congress on 23d day of March, 1867, Mr. Stanton was Secretary of War, having been appointed to said office by Mr. Lincoln.

The strongest possible case that can be made for the act, is that of a Senator who might have declared his belief of the unconstitutionality of the act of March 2, 1867, before its passage over his veto.

It is very astonishing that Mr. Stanton is protected in office by the civil-tenure act, which was passed on the 12th of August, 1867.

Under ordinary circumstances I would allow the utter latitude of speech, and never attempt to apply a corrective only where the crime became magnified by virtue of the peculiar situation of the President.

For the reason just specified I would find him guilty of a misdemeanor on the evidence sustaining the first allegation of the eleventh article, which are not in violation of the authority of Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution.

Believing that the stability of government depends upon the faithful enforcement of law, and the laws of a republic being the will of the people, and always repealable by their instruction or change of public sentiment, I would demand their enforcement by the President.

Another wonder of the age. The Suez canal, already passable to boats, will be completed in 1870.

When through the same way Venice maintained her supremacy, until many of Portugal sent Vasco da Gama to discover a rival route by the Cape of Good Hope and the Indian Ocean.

The commerce of the West and East is now being opened up by the Suez canal, and the world is being brought into closer connection than ever before.

The fourth, relative to an unlawful conspiracy with respect to individualizing the Secretary of War, the fifth, affirming a combination to prevent the execution of a law; the sixth, charging a conspiracy to seize and possess the property of the War Department in violation of an act; the seventh, charging a like intent in violation of an act of 1867; and the eighth, charging the appointment of Thomas as Secretary of War, in violation of the provisions of the act of 1867.

By the aid of the Spectator, I have been enabled to obtain a copy of the original of the act of March 2, 1867, which was passed over the veto of Mr. Stanton.

It is very interesting to note that the act of March 2, 1867, is not in violation of the authority of Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution.

Under ordinary circumstances I would allow the utter latitude of speech, and never attempt to apply a corrective only where the crime became magnified by virtue of the peculiar situation of the President.

For the reason just specified I would find him guilty of a misdemeanor on the evidence sustaining the first allegation of the eleventh article, which are not in violation of the authority of Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution.

Believing that the stability of government depends upon the faithful enforcement of law, and the laws of a republic being the will of the people, and always repealable by their instruction or change of public sentiment, I would demand their enforcement by the President.

Another wonder of the age. The Suez canal, already passable to boats, will be completed in 1870.

When through the same way Venice maintained her supremacy, until many of Portugal sent Vasco da Gama to discover a rival route by the Cape of Good Hope and the Indian Ocean.

The commerce of the West and East is now being opened up by the Suez canal, and the world is being brought into closer connection than ever before.

The fourth, relative to an unlawful conspiracy with respect to individualizing the Secretary of War, the fifth, affirming a combination to prevent the execution of a law; the sixth, charging a conspiracy to seize and possess the property of the War Department in violation of an act; the seventh, charging a like intent in violation of an act of 1867; and the eighth, charging the appointment of Thomas as Secretary of War, in violation of the provisions of the act of 1867.

By the aid of the Spectator, I have been enabled to obtain a copy of the original of the act of March 2, 1867, which was passed over the veto of Mr. Stanton.

It is very interesting to note that the act of March 2, 1867, is not in violation of the authority of Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution.

How Chromos are Made.

Chromo-Lithography is the art of printing pictures on stone, in color. The most difficult part of it, which is generally implied when chromos are spoken of—is the art of reproducing oil paintings.

To understand how chromos are made, the art of lithography must first be briefly explained. The stone used in lithography is a species of limestone found in Bavaria, and is wrought into thick slabs with finely polished surfaces.

The drawing is made upon the slab with a sort of colored soap, which adheres to the stone, and enters into a chemical combination with it after the application of certain acids.

Now, if we women had our rights, we would make the Senate walk the plank, all of them, to the letter.

And if you do not like my rhyme, I will stop by adding— The women ought to vote. M. K. M.

An English View.

From the London Daily News, June 4th. There are some circumstances which render the nomination of Mr. Grant a singularly curious one.

He is not a politician, and the nation is tired of politicians. He is a soldier, with a soldier's ideas of duty, but with a civilian's respect for legislative and executive authority.

He has probably no definite policy of his own; but it is of a President with a policy that the people are suffering.

It is curious to observe the irresistible advance of General Grant to the position of a national candidate.

Mr. Lincoln's death has been spoken of for the next President, but he has never, in any way, put himself forward for nomination.

For the reason just specified I would find him guilty of a misdemeanor on the evidence sustaining the first allegation of the eleventh article, which are not in violation of the authority of Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution.

Believing that the stability of government depends upon the faithful enforcement of law, and the laws of a republic being the will of the people, and always repealable by their instruction or change of public sentiment, I would demand their enforcement by the President.

Another wonder of the age. The Suez canal, already passable to boats, will be completed in 1870.

When through the same way Venice maintained her supremacy, until many of Portugal sent Vasco da Gama to discover a rival route by the Cape of Good Hope and the Indian Ocean.

The commerce of the West and East is now being opened up by the Suez canal, and the world is being brought into closer connection than ever before.

The fourth, relative to an unlawful conspiracy with respect to individualizing the Secretary of War, the fifth, affirming a combination to prevent the execution of a law; the sixth, charging a conspiracy to seize and possess the property of the War Department in violation of an act; the seventh, charging a like intent in violation of an act of 1867; and the eighth, charging the appointment of Thomas as Secretary of War, in violation of the provisions of the act of 1867.

By the aid of the Spectator, I have been enabled to obtain a copy of the original of the act of March 2, 1867, which was passed over the veto of Mr. Stanton.

It is very interesting to note that the act of March 2, 1867, is not in violation of the authority of Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution.

Under ordinary circumstances I would allow the utter latitude of speech, and never attempt to apply a corrective only where the crime became magnified by virtue of the peculiar situation of the President.

For the reason just specified I would find him guilty of a misdemeanor on the evidence sustaining the first allegation of the eleventh article, which are not in violation of the authority of Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution.

Believing that the stability of government depends upon the faithful enforcement of law, and the laws of a republic being the will of the people, and always repealable by their instruction or change of public sentiment, I would demand their enforcement by the President.

Another wonder of the age. The Suez canal, already passable to boats, will be completed in 1870.

When through the same way Venice maintained her supremacy, until many of Portugal sent Vasco da Gama to discover a rival route by the Cape of Good Hope and the Indian Ocean.

The commerce of the West and East is now being opened up by the Suez canal, and the world is being brought into closer connection than ever before.

The fourth, relative to an unlawful conspiracy with respect to individualizing the Secretary of War, the fifth, affirming a combination to prevent the execution of a law; the sixth, charging a conspiracy to seize and possess the property of the War Department in violation of an act; the seventh, charging a like intent in violation of an act of 1867; and the eighth, charging the appointment of Thomas as Secretary of War, in violation of the provisions of the act of 1867.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

We read with your columns How a Western Woman writes, About Nebraska Women's Rights, How it is, Woman's Rights.

Yes, I tell you if we women Could only have our way, We would make the Senate walk the plank, all of them, to the letter.

And if you do not like my rhyme, I will stop by adding— The women ought to vote. M. K. M.

Nominations of Chicago Convention.

From the London Daily News, June 4th. There are some circumstances which render the nomination of Mr. Grant a singularly curious one.

He is not a politician, and the nation is tired of politicians. He is a soldier, with a soldier's ideas of duty, but with a civilian's respect for legislative and executive authority.

He has probably no definite policy of his own; but it is of a President with a policy that the people are suffering.

It is curious to observe the irresistible advance of General Grant to the position of a national candidate.

Mr. Lincoln's death has been spoken of for the next President, but he has never, in any way, put himself forward for nomination.

For the reason just specified I would find him guilty of a misdemeanor on the evidence sustaining the first allegation of the eleventh article, which are not in violation of the authority of Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution.

Believing that the stability of government depends upon the faithful enforcement of law, and the laws of a republic being the will of the people, and always repealable by their instruction or change of public sentiment, I would demand their enforcement by the President.

Another wonder of the age. The Suez canal, already passable to boats, will be completed in 1870.

When through the same way Venice maintained her supremacy, until many of Portugal sent Vasco da Gama to discover a rival route by the Cape of Good Hope and the Indian Ocean.

The commerce of the West and East is now being opened up by the Suez canal, and the world is being brought into closer connection than ever before.

The fourth, relative to an unlawful conspiracy with respect to individualizing the Secretary of War, the fifth, affirming a combination to prevent the execution of a law; the sixth, charging a conspiracy to seize and possess the property of the War Department in violation of an act; the seventh, charging a like intent in violation of an act of 1867; and the eighth, charging the appointment of Thomas as Secretary of War, in violation of the provisions of the act of 1867.

By the aid of the Spectator, I have been enabled to obtain a copy of the original of the act of March 2, 1867, which was passed over the veto of Mr. Stanton.

It is very interesting to note that the act of March 2, 1867, is not in violation of the authority of Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution.

Under ordinary circumstances I would allow the utter latitude of speech, and never attempt to apply a corrective only where the crime became magnified by virtue of the peculiar situation of the President.

For the reason just specified I would find him guilty of a misdemeanor on the evidence sustaining the first allegation of the eleventh article, which are not in violation of the authority of Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution.

Believing that the stability of government depends upon the faithful enforcement of law, and the laws of a republic being the will of the people, and always repealable by their instruction or change of public sentiment, I would demand their enforcement by the President.

Another wonder of the age. The Suez canal, already passable to boats, will be completed in 1870.

When through the same way Venice maintained her supremacy, until many of Portugal sent Vasco da Gama to discover a rival route by the Cape of Good Hope and the Indian Ocean.

The commerce of the West and East is now being opened up by the Suez canal, and the world is being brought into closer connection than ever before.

The fourth, relative to an unlawful conspiracy with respect to individualizing the Secretary of War, the fifth, affirming a combination to prevent the execution of a law; the sixth, charging a conspiracy to seize and possess the property of the War Department in violation of an act; the seventh, charging a like intent in violation of an act of 1867; and the eighth, charging the appointment of Thomas as Secretary of War, in violation of the provisions of the act of 1867.

By the aid of the Spectator, I have been enabled to obtain a copy of the original of the act of March 2, 1867, which was passed over the veto of Mr. Stanton.

It is very interesting to note that the act of March 2, 1867, is not in violation of the authority of Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

One square, first insertion, 40 cts. Each subsequent insertion, 20 cts. Business Cards (Five Lines or less), 50 cts. Each Additional Line, 10 cts.

One Column, six months, 2.00 One Column, three months, 1.00 One Column, one month, 50 cts.

Half Column, six months, 1.00 Half Column, three months, 50 cts. Half Column, one month, 25 cts.

Fourth Column, one year, 10.00 Fourth Column, three months, 3.00 Fourth Column, one month, 1.50.

Single Column, one year, 15.00 Single Column, three months, 4.00 Single Column, one month, 2.00.

Stray Notices, each insertion, 10 cts. Entitled to be regarded as a means of educating the popular taste, and thereby raising the national ideal of art.

A correspondent, looking at chromos from this point of view, says that it may be somewhat enthusiastically their possible influence on the culture of the people.

The discovery of the art of printing pictures on stone, in color, has been a great boon to the people, that of chromo-lithography seems destined to accomplish for them what the printing-press has accomplished for the masses.

Two friends, one an Englishman, and the other a Frenchman, chanced to meet at the Paris Exposition.

"Not very well. I have been married since I saw you last." "That's good." "No it isn't; for my wife was a show."

"Not altogether; for she brought me a dowry of ten thousand pounds sterling." "The thousand pounds! That's good. It makes you—"

"No, it doesn't; for I invested the money in heads of cattle, and they all died of the disease that has just been discovered in England." "That's bad."

"Not at all; for the skins brought me more than I paid for the cattle." "Oh, what a misfortune!" "Oh, what a misfortune!" "Oh, what a misfortune!"

"No more altogether; for I bought a fine house with the money, and it has just been burned." "Oh, what a misfortune!" "Oh, what a misfortune!" "Oh, what a misfortune!"

The Union Pacific Railroad is being built more rapidly this year than ever before. Six hundred and forty miles are now in running order, and a hundred miles more are nearly ready for the start.

The English have been realizing what may be considered as a new colony. It is an island, slightly separated from the continent of Australia, and is named the "Island of the South Sea."

The English have been realizing what may be considered as a new colony. It is an island, slightly separated from the continent of Australia, and is named the "Island of the South Sea."

The English have been realizing what may be considered as a new colony. It is an island, slightly separated from the continent of Australia, and is named the "Island of the South Sea."

The English have been realizing what may be considered as a new colony. It is an island, slightly separated from the continent of Australia, and is named the "Island of the South Sea."

The English have been realizing what may be considered as a new colony. It is an island, slightly separated from the continent of Australia, and is named the "Island of the South Sea."

The English have been realizing what may be considered as a new colony. It is an island, slightly separated from the continent of Australia, and is named the "Island of the South Sea."

The English have been realizing what may be considered as a new colony. It is an island, slightly separated from the continent of Australia, and is named the "Island of the South Sea."

The English have been realizing what may be considered as a new colony. It is an island, slightly separated from the continent of Australia, and is named the "Island of the South Sea."

The English have been realizing what may be considered as a new colony. It is an island, slightly separated from the continent of Australia, and is named the "Island of the South Sea."

The English have been realizing what may be considered as a new colony. It is an island, slightly separated from the continent of Australia, and is named the "Island of the South Sea."

The English have been realizing what may be considered as a new colony. It is an island, slightly separated from the continent of Australia, and is named the "Island of the South Sea."