About Money.

In a late number of Harper's Magazine a story appeared, embodying a terse disquisition on money. This is the most of it: When one man has money and another has none, the latter is in possession of it. This is trade or robbery, according to circumstances...

Turks, Lady Mary Wortley Montagu

having made the first experiment of its efficacy by inoculating her son, while residing at Constantinople. Like the ancient Greeks, the Chinese of the present day, content with the legacy of the past, have ceased to invent; but without a doubt they were once among the most ingenious and original of the inhabitants of the earth...

LITTLE FEET AND LITTLE HANDS.

BY GLENN BERNARD. Little feet and little hands, Buy all the day, Never staying in your playing, Long upon your way, Little knowing whether going, Come to me, I pray, Bring the sweetest, in the freshness, Of the early flowers, To the blossoms, and the crocuses, Of your sunny hours...

From the Boston "Commercial Bulletin,"

PICTURES FOR THE PEOPLE. An Art Workshop. If we should say that in Roxbury a 30 horse-power Corliss engine was turning out all paintings at the rate of ten dollars per day, the public would think that a modern Manchester was printing for the Boston market when we say that such an engine is turning out pictures so soft, so spirited and so accurately reproduced, that the average observer cannot distinguish them from any painting...

Conditions for success other than mere excellence of stone and material...

there is something more important than that of the printer's skill; and that is, the perfection of the paper. It is not possible to have a good paper without a good stone, but a good stone is of little use unless the paper is of the requisite degree; but that of these few, Prang's establishment has its full share, as attested by the fidelity and general, but a thorough understanding of the painter with the purpose of the painter whose work is before him, strong powers and a high artistic knowledge of colors. Few men possess these qualifications in the requisite degree; but that of these few, Prang's establishment has its full share, as attested by the fidelity and general, but a thorough understanding of the painter with the purpose of the painter whose work is before him, strong powers and a high artistic knowledge of colors...

Trifles.

It is a question among educators whether "transcendent schools" are really a benefit or an injury to the cause of education. Every community desiring to afford good advantages to their children, and the idea of sending them away from home is not pleasant, and the expenses attending it are so great that only a few more favored ones are able to endure the time; hence, arises the desire to establish a High School nearer home, and we find that every town has had one or more High Schools started, and usually as many failures as attempts...

Early Inventions of the Chinese.

Other nations have outstripped the Chinese in the career of material improvement, but in the arts of peace, the Chinese have led the way in many of the most remarkable inventions, and of anticipating us in the possession of some of those arts which constitute the basis of our modern civilization. We shall briefly notice a few of those discoveries, by which they have established a claim to our respect and gratitude. Tea deserves to head the list of our modern inventions, and it is the basis of our modern civilization. We shall briefly notice a few of those discoveries, by which they have established a claim to our respect and gratitude. Squirrel Wisdom.

Some one has deposited in our cabinet of curiosities a half-dozen nutshells in the state they were first picked of their kernel by a squirrel. Attention is called to the economy of the squirrel in the use of the nut on the paper under them, as follows: 1. That the opening is on that side of the nut which gives access to the kernel. 2. That the opening is nearest to the blunt end of the nut, where the most of the kernel lies. 3. That the opening is not larger than is absolutely necessary, less than a half an inch square. 4. That every particle of kernel is extracted. How does the squirrel know before trying, exactly where and how the kernel lies? There is only one nut in a great hoard which showed a liability of the squirrel to make a mistake. On this he began to gnaw on the wrong side, but he was quickly detected by the usual prominence of the line that passes round the nut at right angles to the mesial. He soon discovered the correct side, however, and worked round and struck the kernel at the right spot.—Oreida Circular.
