Bruith, the painter of "The Kid's Playground," is an eminent living German artist. The subject represents a kid gambolling with a calf, while a cow, goats, and ducks are looking gravely at the sport. It is a rural idyl. The managements of lights and shades, and the harmony of the colors, in this favorite piece, display the hand of a master. "The Free Christian Commonwealth" says of itthat, it is a great book, and tell as much of a story as most of the books that describe meadow-pastures, well watered, with their tenants-cows, calves, goats, kids, and ducks. To common eyes, like ours, the copy is just as good as the original.
