ON THE WING. That is if railroad travel, when one is no reached Phelps. We got outside to keep dry, best team in Southern Nebraska-that means

"Jake's" buss team-could take us. Taking the down train at 11:40, we reached and were on their way back; and they pro-business. Mr. Carter kindly showed us first-class bakery in full blast soon. through the establishment. They have a large stock in their line; and from what we saw there and know, they seldom fail to give buyers substantial proof that it is a "wicked waste of time" to go farther than their house for books, wall paper, or printer's stock. A visit to their bindery convinced us that they do and can do as good and fine work in large or small blank books, as can be done anybread" as the substantial; although their work is neatly and tastefully gotten up, of which one order will convince any one. We

From here we dropped into the Union office, but found the "head-centre" of that concern absent. From here, having still a little leasure, we started for the Herald, and on our way were agreeably surprised to meet, in the palatial establishment of Lemon & Hosea, our old friends Thos. Green and A. W. Hawley, of Peru. They were laying in a ortion of their new stock to be opened up in Peru in a few days. They design purchasing at least $20,000 worth of goods, and opening a first class establishment. They are the men for the business.

At the Herald we found A. H. Hollowell, one of the proprietors, with whom we almost forgot that we were going off on the train which was to leave in a few moments. The flourishing condition of the Herald is well deserved, as it is one of the best dallies published on the Missouri river. In the composing room we met our "old friend and fellow pitcher" in the conduct of the Advertiser, Geo, W. Hill. He looks well, and was slinging type lively.

The ride from St. Joseph to Hannibal was without other incident than a heavy rain all night, that made things moist even in the cars. At Hannibal we got aboard the City of St. Paul, and two hours ride brought us to Louisiana-to friends and relatives, whom we found well and prospering. Louisiana is a town of fifty years growth, and has a population of about 4,000. It is the great tabacco emporium on the Mississippi above St. Loument to a great number of men. Next to, yards are plenty, yet no three, according to our observation, do a business equal to J. R. Bell & Son, of our city. It has three large flouring mills, a machine shop and foundry. Many churches rear their spires to the skies, and a school house as large on the ground, and one story higher than ours, has just been completed, and will be occupied for a free school in a short time. There are four pay schools in operation now. Its site is much better than a view from the river would indicate; and its buildings as a class above the average of towns of its size; in fact there are quite a number of beautifully designed and far between. erected dwellings, that would attract attention and admiration anywhere. It has many first class stores, and its streets, on an average, are good, yet susceptible of much im-Improvement.

Its local trade with the surrounding country, is good. Its citizens, like ours have had "railroad on the brain." We say have had, because it is now developed into actual work, and the completion of the grade from this place to Mexico, Their object is a straight connection with the Missouri river and the Central Pacific Raffroad. The road is so faradvanced that there can be no possible doubt that some company able to equip the road will run it; which, once in operation, Louislana will be one of the most flourishing cities on the Mississippi.

We took a strole to Pike County Fair Grounds, just out of the city, on Thursday, which we found beautifully situated and well fixed and arranged. From here we passed on toStark, Barnett & Co.'s nursery, where we found its proprietorsup to their elbows in the ground, busy planting out an orchard of 2.200 apple trees. We walked over their grounds of about 100 acres, which they have all in apples and other fruit, from the seed just put In to two years old. The have set this season Ware, fine Pants, Coats, Vests, Pants Patwhich they now are situated. It is a good looking paper, and just what we like to see save its politics, which are very conservative, in the fullest sense of that word. It, of course, has a large circulation, as this section has been conservstive ever since it first had a chance to be.
