

THE ADVERTISER.

Brownville, Neb., Thursday Morning, July 25, 1871.

AGRICULTURAL.

Nebraska State Fair... To be held at Brownville, September 25, 27, 28, 29, 1871.

GEN. HORACE CAPRON who has for several years past filled the office of Commissioner in the Department of Agriculture at Washington...

TIMBER GROWING.

Timber growing is one of the most important features of Agriculture in Nebraska. Our people, and especially the readers of the Advertiser are anxious to obtain all possible information on the subject of tree-growing...

Some persons propose to plant the European larch extensively, and to keep the soil filled between the rows of trees...

One would infer from the above quotations, and the general tenor of the article, that the writer would recommend planting larch, spruce, and Scotch pine...

In Europe several modes are practiced. On moor land, where the vegetation is healthier, broom, furze, and other brushwood, the land is cleared by cutting off the larger brush...

The plowing of the land in the first instance, and running the cultivator between the rows for three years, will be found much cheaper than paring and inverting the soil...

There is any point on which all experienced planters agree, it is in regard to a plantation of larches enriching the ground. The Duke of Athol found that while oak and Scotch pines left the ground in a poor condition...

The writer says: "The timber of the larch is not adapted for beams, joists, or boards, as it warps or shrinks more than any other kind of wood."

This is a remarkable mistake for a writer to make about timber that has been used in such immense quantities for rafters, joists, and the main timbers in buildings...

In the manufacture of furniture is not yet fully appreciated. In thinning a large plantation of thirty-two years of age...

NEBASKA COUNTY.

We quote the following from the pages of Hon. R. W. Furness Report as President of the State Board of Agriculture. It forms a chapter which will be found convenient for residents to send to friends in answer to questions...
