WHAT BECOMES OF EDITORS!

We've been thinking this question over,

And with dreams disturbs our sleep

What becomes of the Editors?

That's what we'd like to know;

They do a heap of good on earth,

And to heaven ought to go;

But something seems to tell us

Will be "left out in the wet,"

They are a peculiar set,

And in the great hereafter

And it troubles us a heap

t comes to us in the daytime,

The deeper it seems to get,

But the more we con the question

And brings us to this conclusion-

They'll be "left out in the wet."

Wouldn't they go to interviewing,

Now reason yourself a moment,

Would it do to let them in?

And discussing everything?

Wouldn't they have two parties,

It's very well to smile, sir, And to say our head ain't level; But did you ever know an Editor

That didn't have a "devil?"

You don't suppose for a moment That he in there could get

And be calling "copy!"—

There's one more point we'll mention-

We hope you won't get offended— But it's "currently reported"

That "the free list is suspended.l'

That has "pulled his weasel," yet?

AN ELOQUENT ADDRESS.

The following is the welcome ad

Now did you ever know an Editor

They're not agoin' to do it there-

They'll stay "out in the wet."

And a hobby, too, to pet? That thing would never do up there!—

FATHER CARTER.

A Regular "Hard-Shell" Sermon.

The Southern Magazine has sketch of rather Carter, a "hardshell" Baptist preacher, whose youth had been spent in the mountains of Carolina, but who was a famous preacher in his persuasion. He was an enthusiast on the subject of "im-"eagle" sermon, and was from a text delibly imprinted on his mind. Af-

IT HAS THE FOLDING DESK AND SEAT. IT IS FREE FROM NOISE. IT IS STRONG, BEAUTIFUL, CONVENIENT, DURABLE. The castings are one-fourth heavier than those of any other desk, and so flanged as to secure the greatest possible strength. The wood is selected cherry, walnut or ash, thoroughly seasoned and kiln-dried, and handsomely finished in shellac. The seat, arm, and back, are beautifully carved and slatted. We guarantee against breakage in fair usage. It fits the school house for school or church numbers. We also manufacture "THE GEM," as its
