And then apace the infant grows To be a laughing sprightly boy, Happy, despite his little woes, Were he but conscious of his joy! To be, in short from two to ten, A merry, moody child, and then?

And then in coat and trousers clad, To learn to say the Decalogue, And break it, an unthinking lad, With mirth and mischlef all agog-A truant oft by field and fen, And rapture butterflies, and then?

And then, increased in strength and size To be anon a youth full-grown; A hero in his mother's eyes, A young Appollo in his own To imitate the ways of men In fashionable sin, and then?

And then, at last, to be a man. To fall in love, too woo and wed! With seething brain to scheme and plan To gather gold or toll for bread; To sue for fame, with tongue and pen, And gain or lose the prize, and then?

And then in gray and wrinkled eld To mourn the speed of life's decline, To praise the scenes of youth beheld, And dwell in memory of Lang Syne; To dream awhile with darkened ken, Then drop into his grave, and then?

GENERAL BUTLER ON SOUTHERN OUTRAGES.

The following extract from an address delivered by Hon. B. F. Butler to his constituents in Gloucester, diers as the government would bring Mass., on the 12th of September, expresses not only his own views, but They concluded by saying-"Now the Republican sentiment through- that theyknow what is in the Black out the Union: "The King of a barbarous tribe in that country, and they will remove to Africa took five English prisoners who were peacefully trading in his country, marshed them to his capital, and held them as such, with maltreatment, but when asked to release refused. What is the protection which England gives to her citizen? The whole English nation was aroused, war was declared, an army transported half way across the globe. The army of the King of Abyssinia was overpowered in battle, his capitol was assaulted and demolished, and its treasure brought away by the English soldiers as loot and their countrymen freed from imprisonment. And shall it be said that Union men-good honest, peacful men, pursuing the ordinary avocations of life upon an American seil, protected by our flag and our Constituton and our laws, where they should be unmolestedcan not have that protection and safety and redress for their wrongs which England can give to her citizens even when subjected only to imprisonment amid the wild jungles of Africa? Is the red cross of St. George so powerful to protect and save its subjects and the Stars and Stripes so powerless in our land, upon our Country's soil, in one of the richest and what ought to be the most peaceful State in the Union? Let me be just to the men of the South and give the excuse they put forward in justification of this outrage. They say the government human hopes! The first touch on the of the State of Louisiana has been seized from the old white resident by the vote of the negroes, and a State government set up whites and blacks, which is corrupt and eating up their away, unconscious of the joy that fillsubstance. We need not stop to deny or argue the truth of this justification, and that, too, not because the corruption of the government is no justification of the murder of the citizens by
