

George Washington was inaugurated first President of the United States April 30th, 1789—just 86 years ago.

We have news from the Brooklyn court that the crowd has somewhat decreased since the old man had a chance.

John Harper, the senior member of the publishing firm of Harper Bros., died on the 22nd inst. in the 79th year of his age.

Hon. Arthur B. Barrett, Mayor of St. Louis, died on the 24th inst. He was elected Mayor this Spring and had been installed into office but a short time.

We have news that forty homesteaders, with considerable stock and other surroundings, were recently destroyed by fire in Webster county, this state.

James Jaffery, of Rockville, N. Y., killed his grandmother, and robbed her house. Subsequently he shot Miss Vanny, who had refused to marry him, and her mother and then killed himself.

On the 23rd inst. Attorney General Williams tendered to the President his resignation of his office, to take effect May 15th. It is denied that Mr. Williams did this by solicitation of President Grant.

It is not necessary that a man should have a war record to make him an efficient Congressman—Mark.

Yet in the same article from which we clip the above the writer thinks that Congressmen from the South should not only have "a war record" but be an ex-rebel at that.

Andy Shore, of Hlawatha, Kansas, was recently sentenced to the penitentiary for 18 months for swindling a boy out of a span of mules. It appears that Shore traded to the boy for the mules a promissory note, on some responsible man, which he had forged for the occasion, and that afterwards he stole the note from the boy and destroyed it.

Becher, before his church committee swore that Moulton levied blackmail upon him, but before the court he swears that he does not believe Moulton intended to blackmail him, and that the reason why he formerly made such a charge was because his lawyers and church members persuaded him to do so. That lets the wind out of the blackmailing subterfuge.

A California paper gives an account of the lynching of a preacher who preached a man, loved by his neighbors, into hell while preaching his funeral. The indignant audience took the preacher out, put a rope around his neck, declaring they would hang him. But upon retracting the aspersions he had cast upon the deceased and promising to leave the country, his life was spared.

Miss Alice A. Early, of Rockford, Ill., in a suit for slander against Wilbur F. Story, editor of the Chicago Times, which recently terminated, received a verdict for $25,000. The libelous matter published by the Times was that a gentleman had been detected in the night time in the act of occupying an deshabille from the bed chamber of the plaintiff. The verdict is generally regarded as a just one.

It is strange to us, if Mr. Becher is the immaculate pure individual he would have people believe him to be, that he would continue to hang around Elizabeth after he had found out that she overplayed a guilty, or at least a very improper love for him; yet he testified that they took a walk together. He says he did not ask Elizabeth if she loved him on that occasion, but took it for granted that she did. Was it in any degree proper for him to encourage and foster such a love? It will not do to say Becher did not know better.

That the Catholic Church is trying, by all its powerful influence, cunning, impudence and arrogance, to get absolute control of the school system of this country, is unquestionable; and that that church expects great assistance from the Democratic party, in overturning the chief corner stone of the American idea of liberty, is equally true. As that church in this country is always found on the side of Democracy when it comes to vote (the exception is very small) on political issues, so may the Democracy, as a party, be expected to be with the Roman Catholics, in the desperate effort they have inaugurated to rule America. The Kansas Chief in reference to this subject says:

Those who look with a jealous eye upon the encroachments of the Church upon the State, have a legitimate cause for apprehension in the movements of the Catholic Church to procure certain privileges inconsistent with the spirit of our laws and institutions, and the readiness with which the Democratic party accedes to her demand, whenever it is in power. The Catholic Telegraph, of Cincinnati, the organ of Archbishop Purcell, says that two-thirds of the Democratic party of Ohio are Catholics and foreigners, and promises that party the solid Catholic vote of the State, at the next election. It certainly means something when a powerful Church votes unitedly with one party. The election of Kernan to the Senate from New York, and of Wallace from Pennsylvania, shows that the same influence, and that the Democratic party in those States. To these facts may be added the other significant one, that for the first time in history, a Cardinal has been appointed in America, and it is in contemplation to appoint two more. Does it not mean that the Church of Rome is about making another mighty effort to rule America, and that the Democratic party is the instrument by which it hopes to succeed? It is a question for the serious reflection of liberty-loving men.

EXTENSION OF THE M. P. R. R.—PROBABILITIES.

There are three routes talked for the extension of the M. P. R. Railway from Brownville. One is that along the river bank; another, direct from Nemaha City south via Falls City to a connection with the St. Joe & Denver; another, direct from Nemaha City to Salem. Which route will "come down" with the required amount of subsidy, thereby acquiring the right of adoption by the R. R. company, of course we cannot say, and have hardly an opinion as to which, but neither one of those routes need flatter itself that it has a sure thing over the others. The people along the line of each proposed route appear not to be asleep to their interests but are making commendable efforts to raise the requisite subsidy. Perhaps, however, we may except the Falls City route. That prosperous young city appears to be impressed with the idea that it does not need the road very badly. It would take the road and not make a fuss about it if the road cannot find any other way to get south. Some of the citizens say they might possibly raise twenty thousand dollars by individual subscription, but that the "natural advantage" of our neighbor, and the natural disadvantages of the other parts of the country are such as to render the missing of Falls City an absolute impossibility. If the M. P. goes on south in any direction, it will be compelled, they say, to twist around, up or down, and get to Falls City before it can get away.

That is the way our friends at Falls City talk about the matter, so far as we have heard them talk. They do not care much about the road—the road is bound to go via that city any how—the people on that line in Richardson county would not vote any bonds to secure the road. The people in the precincts along that line do not believe it would be "business to vote bonds and tax themselves for an improvement they can get without such expense, and Falls City the same—and then a town might spring up nearer the centre of the county that would be most formidable a rival on the questions of trade and county seat honors, and so our pretty little neighbor really does not know whether she wants another string to her bow or not, but she sincerely hopes that if fate decrees her the M. P. it will not be as great a curse as some of her folks predict that it will be. As to the probabilities and general results to Falls City, we will not discuss, for we care not a fig which route shall be chosen, being well assured that while Falls City may "halt between two opinions," one of the other two lines will "come to time." And as to there being no feasible route except by Falls City, we are well aware is not a fact.

The river line is entirely practicable, the subsidy in bonds and money, we are informed, will be available as soon as the pretexts along the line have had their elections, and as to there being no way for the road to get away from Rulo except up the Nemaha to Falls City and then up Walnut Creek, that is a fancy, which will be made apparent if the river route should be the favored one.

Some whom we have heard discussing the probabilities of this or that route, entirely ignore a thought as to a possibility for the Salem route to be the lucky one; but our opinion is, from the looks of the situation, that the contest really lies between the river and the Salem routes. The people of Salem, and along that line are working to secure the road with much zeal. If we are correctly informed, they stand ready to give from seventy-five thousand to one hundred thousand dollars additional to the $37,000 which will be certain to be given by Nemaha and Aspinwall precincts. This would approximate the amount required to grade, tie, and bridge the road. This route we believe is the shortest, lightest grade, and hence least expensive of any of the routes named.

While at Falls City a few days ago we were informed that it would be nearly impossible to continue the road on south from Salem, owing to the bluffs on the west side of the Big Nemaha, and that in case the road did go to Salem it would be compelled to turn down the Nemaha Valley to Walnut Creek, at Falls City, to find a way out to a connection with the St. Joe & Denver. This is another delusion which our Falls City friends are harboring. Those who are acquainted with the topography of the country in and about Salem say there is a way to go directly on to the St. Joe & Denver by a light and easy grade, as good as Walnut Creek would be.

So, we repeat, that the M. P. will ere long move out southward, we have no doubt, but the course it will take from Nemaha City is very doubtful.

The Lincoln Star, rejoicing over the recent light Democratic victory in Connecticut, says "the people are unable to see any terrible consequences that are likely to ensue from the sixty-eight ex-rebel officers which will be in the next Congress." The Star is right. The people need not be alarmed, seriously, so long as they have a Republican President and Senate to veto and defeat any treasonable designs which the said sixty-eight and their Democratic co-laborers may have on the constitution and life of the nation. But suppose these rebels get control of all the departments of Government and branches of legislation, as the Star hopes and predicts—could the people in such case see any terrible consequences? Most certainly they would and that right speedily. As it was in the days of Buchanan so it would again be. The country would be delivered over to the ex-rebels, the constitution and laws would be trampled under foot, the peculiar institutions of rebel Democracy reestablished, and the great and good results of the rebellion, so dearly acquired, by blood and treasure, be all swept away.

HILLSDALE GOSSIP.

—Spring is here. —Winter work look well on the bottom. —The song of whippoorwill is heard again. Time to plant corn. —"Cranes are all gone." That is true, but the "Gossip" is still revived. —Fruit trees are budding out nicely. We have every indication of a good crop of peaches this season. —Our old resident, Paris Stephens is keeping the Star Hotel in Brownville. Call and see him friends, and get a good square meal for twenty-five cents. —We learn that Mr. Croxton, of Nebraska City intends prospecting for coal here. We think his efforts would certainly be rewarded by boring deep enough. A small vein has all ready been discovered in the bluffs along the river. —Dr. D. N. Hanlin, of Falls City, made us a pleasant visit on Sunday and Monday of last week. The Doctor was one of the founders of this "burg," and we were very glad to meet him once more. Call again Doc.

—Little Clara Coleman is sick. —The measles are still lingering in London. —Rev. Wheeler is to occupy the Ellis house this summer. —Sorry to hear "early ass" has been injured in St. Deroin. —Rev. Burch will preach in the London school house next Sunday. —The weather has taken an intermittent form. Chills and fever alternate each day. —The grasshoppers are here, in numbers innumerable. The hungry creatures are threatening every green thing.

LONDON LISPINGS.

—Mr. Hayden is still living, rallied a little, some slight hopes of recovery. Dr. McGrew attending physician; Dr. Crane, of Brownville, counsel. —"Cranes all gone, what will the farmers do for gossip?" Try the Beecher-Tilton scandal—that subject is inexhaustible, and the people seem to relish it more than they do "orange."

—"Speak evil of no one," may seem absurd to some people. Altho' the moral eminence may seem difficult to reach, I would advise those quarrelsome ones to try and take a few steps in that direction. It might correct in some measure the habit of continual "fault-finding."

—What does it all mean? A man in Aspinwall is going to have a "hell" at his house, and there is a man in London going to put a "hell" on his house, on the Carson place. These Englishmen will have to be looked after if they are going to raise "hells generally." You see I am interested in this matter. Mr. H. is an Englishman, and there's considerable "H," all about him.

—The question discussed here last Saturday evening, "The Temperance cause has been a general success," was decided in favor of the negative. Ah! yes, humanity is not temperate. The temperance cause, with reference to alcoholic drinks, cannot be a general success until preceded by other reforms. There are many other intemperate habits giving a tendency to drunkenness, a craving for stimulants. There is a recuperative power in human nature, when it is sloth to restore it to health, when acted on by external influences, in that is the salvation of humanity.

SHERIDAN SHORT-STOPS.

—Daily hack from Brownville to Sheridan and Jackson Station. —Cobus Gooseman has not retired from labor, but is still as active as when young. —John Cushman is teaching the Harman school, and shooting lots of ducks besides. —The Sheridan Base Ball Club, "The Ruby Nines"—plays every Saturday on the Public Square. —Our Superintendent of Public Instruction was in Sheridan on Monday, looking after school matters. —Mr. Hall, writing from Phillips Co. Kansas: "The people here are receiving Government rations, and are arley and happy boys."

ST. DEROIN SPLINTERS.

—Ballroad excitement is on the decline. —Groceries are, positively, cash at Ritter's. —Carpenter and wagon work done by G. W. Foutch. —Our enumeration in this precinct is about 320. —H. R. Robbins is appointed esquire, also collecting tax. —The river is still rising and logs are caught by the score. —Several of our many school teachers have located this spring. Scarcity of schools the cause. —The M. D.'s in town are saying naughty words to each other about respectability and "respectable practice."

—Some of us possess "imaginative faculties susceptible of cultivation. We think they are hatching in myriads. —In answer to the query of last week: No one says that it didn't rain him. That it was one of the parties implicated in the "buddy" murder. —Dr. Johnson, of Marietta, Mo., intends stopping in this locality. As he is both preacher and doctor we consider him a double acquisition to the community. —We, as elsewhere, are destined to be troubled with that plague of plagues, the grasshoppers. They are hatching in myriads. Hoppers in the fall, hoppers in the spring and it is a wonder that we are "grasshoppered."

ASPINWALL ASPIRATIONS.

—Small grain appears fine. —Some of the farmers are planting corn this week. —J. W. Trowbridge returned from Iowa last week. —Mr. and Mrs. Lewis has returned from Indiana. —Young grasshoppers are making their appearance in numbers indefinitely great. —On last account coal-diggers were beyond the depth of sixty feet. No coal yet. —Mr. Catlin, brother of H. B. Catlin, is very sick of lung fever at Mr. Brund's.

POLITICS AND THE GRANGE.

Editor Nebraska Advertiser. I wish to occupy a small space in your columns to give my views in relation to politics and the Grange, and in doing so I have no other object in view, but to serve the best interests of the agricultural community. In the constitutional prohibition and in the initiation of members to the order each and every one is positively and secretly assured that there is nothing in the Order that will in any manner interfere with his or her religious or political ideas. These were two dangerous rocks that the founders of the Order wisely pointed out-rocks which, if not avoided, would be sure to destroy the farmers' organization. The central and grand idea of the Order was the advancement of agriculture and the social and moral improvement of the farmers and those engaged in kindred pursuits. These were surely honorable and creditable designs; and if carried out in good faith would be productive of much good. Every selfish personal or partisan political design, whether open or covert, whether direct or simulated was positively and distinctly forbidden to cross its threshold. Not that it was intended in the least to prohibit or discourage any member from exercising the right of franchise, or from holding such political opinions as he might choose. It was not, however, intended that the Grange should be used as a political party to carry out measures that would alone benefit a particular class, or to dabble in questions of a local or partisan nature; or in other words, it was not intended that Grangers, as such, should form a separate party at all. Political action was named as the one fatal error that the Grange should avoid. No other subject was given similar prominence. This fact showed how wisely the founders of the Order calculated the power for mischief that lay in this direction, should it be precipitated on the order by selfish policy. Now, in the face of these facts, how is it in this country? Why it is openly proclaimed that the Grangers have formed an Independent (?) party. Is this carrying out in good faith the repeated declarations and sacred pledges of the Order that this was not a political organization? By taking this course the Granges have lost that prestige and power for good that they once proudly possessed. Before this action was taken they were a power in the land. Where are they now? The agricultural and financial stimulus that emanated them has almost entirely fled, and the peaceful and harmonious feelings that should bind its members close within its curtains are fast vanishing. Now this is no fancy picture, no chimera of an excited imagination, but facts that can readily be established. Now, who is to blame, who is responsible for this deplorable state of affairs? Probably no one in particular. But when active politicians (in the early stages of the Grange movement in our country) declare that they intend to get into the organization to run it into politics—that the foremost man would get the spoon. That they had sucked a government teat and would do it again, and actually do get in and run it that way. It looks rather suspicious, you know. There must be something rotten in Denmark, for Grangers to be crying out against politicians and let one run the machine all the time. "O! consistency thou art a jewel!"

SEMPER FIDELIS. At Peru, Nebraska, April 11th, Mrs. Margaret Nevels aged 42 years. In 1849, at Anahit, county Down, Ireland, Miss Margaret McKee was married to Mr. Robert McKee, founder of the McKee School for Freedmen, at Nashville, and of Rev. J. P. McKee, now Missionary to India. In 1859 Mrs. McKee, with her husband, came to New York City, and in 1854 removed to Scroggsville, Ohio, finding there a place they have since loved to call "home." In 1864 they removed to North Bend, Neb., and in 1874, came to Peru to educate their family. From childhood she has been a consistent, earnest, cheerful follower of the Master, exemplifying in a rare manner the spirit of true Christianity. She looked with special pleasure to her connection with D. Eastman's church at Scroggsville. In the pioneer church at North Bend, she was a faithful and efficient worker. For several years she has been an invalid and for weeks suffered excruciating pain, but she bore it with a serenity which elicited our admiration. The sick room was made attractive by her pleasant words and sunny smiles. "She fell asleep in Jesus." The life of so true a Christian mother ceases not with the pulse beats. Six children call her "blessed angel mother."

The Advertiser had Monday, the 19th, set for the "day when the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burnt up"—but that performance didn't come off.

THE ST. DEROIN "BUSS."

Editor Nebraska Advertiser. You will confer a favor on the undersigned by publishing my reply to a few items which have appeared in your paper recently. About the 10th of December, 1874, there was an article among the Saint Deroin Items, that Dr. Fitzgerald had gone to Illinois in search of a location, and that Dr. Williams was making from $50 to $100 per day, and was signed "C. A. G." I answered my part of it, Dr. W. was, at that time, suffering from a severe drunken spree and not able to be up, and was having drunked fire, and his neighbors went in and cared for him, and I am not able to account for how or where the $50 or $100 per day was made. Since then there has been several slurs thrown at me through the papers by, I suppose, the same fellow—upgraded, undermining, two-legged dog that signed his name "C. A. G." I have, up to this time, allowed it to pass almost unnoticed, and I would do so yet only for the benefit of those unacquainted at this place. I have practiced medicine here over two and a half years, and have had good success. I have lost but one patient since February, 1874, and that was Mrs. Richardson of whom there has been so many lies told. James Richardson came to my house and in the presence of three adult witnesses besides myself, emphatically denied that he had ever accused me of killing his wife, or giving her medicine to kill her, and said that any one who accused him thus told a d—d lie. But still there is some mean, low-lived scoundrel who tries to make a great talk of it, and busy himself with other people's affairs, not having enough of his own to make a living at.

I also see an independent article in the ADVERTISER of the 15th inst., signed by E. M. Williams, M. D., claiming that he has all the respectable practice in this community. If such is the case there is but "d—d little" that is respectable, and he is publishing a very poor opinion of his neighbors. I believe when the Doctor was sober he had a reasonable share of the practice, but a good part of the time he has not been able to judge whether they were respectable or not. They may give their own opinion of him. I have had from half to two-thirds of the practice in this vicinity since Dr. W. has been here. I do not play the quack to advertise, nor try to take any other doctor's practice. I did not run off from Missouri because of certain laws prohibiting doctors from collecting, who were not graduates. Neither have I two diplomas. I think one is enough for a new beginner.

Now, Mr. C. A. G., or any other man who has nothing to do only public lies, just keep on if you choose, though you are making me more practice than you take away. Yet I am not asking for practice, nor do I wish any one drumming "for me" in that line.

As I am willing you shall know who wrote this I will sign myself "C. A. G.," "K. E. G." or "B. O. T. L. E.," so do not be mistaken, my name is H. C. FITZGERALD, M. D. St. Deroin, April 18th, 1876.

INDIAN AND MEXICAN NEWS.

Mexicans on the Rampage, and Indians on the War Path. Accounts of Battles. COPUS CHRISTI, TEX., April 24.—A letter from Corlizo, Tex., says: Dr. Lovell, who was murdered by Mexicans on the 19th, was surprised and shot six times. They robbed him of the safe of the Custom House, but failed. Dr. Lovell had many friends, and a feeling of retaliation among the Mexicans. They were in the front for the brutal murder of a doctor. Couriers from all portions of the Mexican moving this way. A party of fifteen Americans, who were endeavoring to ascertain the state of affairs in the vicinity of Laparra rancho about fifty miles from here, were attacked by forty Mexicans. A short fight ensued. One Mexican was killed and one taken prisoner. The Americans lost none, but being outnumbered, were compelled to retreat, but immediately summoned help from here. About fifty armed Americans left here tonight, and as many more will leave to-morrow to meet these raiders who have forced the operator to leave Laparra, and have out the line.

THE ALARM.

WALLACE, KANS., April 24.—On last Saturday, we had intimation that a party of about twenty-five Indians of the Sixth Cavalry were ordered here from Ft. Lyon, near Kit Carson, to go on a scout. They arrived at 10 o'clock on Sunday evening, armed with revolvers for their mission, under command of Second Lieut. Austin Henely, of said company. They left here at daylight on Monday, and struck the trail about five miles north of here. The trail was there three days old. Lieut. Henely, with the confidence of a veteran at once abandoned all of his supplies leaving the under charge of sufficient guard and at once proceeded to the business on hand, and which he effectually done to the satisfaction of all hunters and bordermen, which is told in his words as follows, under date of the 24th inst. "I attacked at daylight yesterday morning on the north fork of Sappa creek a party of sixty Cheyennes, which I believe to be some of those who have not been at the agency, but cut off twenty-seven from their parties and demanded their surrender. My demand was answered by a volley of rifle, upon which I attacked them and after a few minutes they were all killed. Nineteen warriors, including two chiefs and one medicine man, were found among the dead, the balance, eight in number being taken prisoner in the following manner: We captured over one hundred and twenty-five ponies. The remainder being with a small portion of their camp consisting of twelve lodges, and all their effects. Sergeant Papier and Private Tiems of my command were killed. The above were the persons given to the Indian, I believe, will be the means of saving a great deal of trouble to the settlers in this country during the present season. The gallantry of Lieut. Henely and command, consisting of only forty men, all told, has been only equal praise. We are in the midst of a snow storm, extending both east and west of us.
