

A man named Alexander Vandorf was murdered at Omaha last week.

Mike J. Waldron has been appointed U. S. Marshal for the district of Tennessee.

George Gregory, Hartford Ct., fatally shot his wife on the 22d, because he was jealous of her.

Stanley Matthews, the new Ohio Senator, is not a brother-in-law of President Hayes, as the papers generally are asserting.

Senator David Davis, whom the Democrats of Illinois elected, says that while he acknowledges no party affiliations he intends to give President Hayes a cordial and active support.

A farmer named M. S. White, an Englishman, near Seward Nebraska, attempted suicide one day last week, by cutting his throat. His life was saved. Cause, whisky, and habitual drunkenness.

The President has invited Wade Hampton and Chamberlain to visit Washington so that he may talk with them face to face. They have accepted the invitation and will soon be in the national capital.

The Kearney Press brings its roster out and crows over the news that mail service, try-weekly, has been ordered from Kearney to Deadwood.

The President has determined to call an extra session of Congress to meet about the first of June. The last Congress refused to make any appropriation for the support of the army, hence this necessity and extra expense to the country.

Next Saturday Goldsmith Maid and Rarus will trot at San Jose, Cal., for a purse of $2,000. One thousand is also offered as a speed premium in case the fastest time ever made in the State, 2:16, made by Occident at the State Fair a few years ago, is beaten.

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars of Massachusetts having refused to admit colored men into the organization, many Good Templars are dissatisfied and have made a move toward establishing a system that will admit colored people to membership.

If liquor selling is right, why levy a special tax upon it, and force the saloon keeper to show good moral character? -No. Editor.

An evil which cannot be exterminated should be regulated in the best manner possible for the protection of society. The license regulation for the retailing of spirituous liquors is certainly better than no regulation whatever. Does the Plaindealer want "free whisky?"

Some of the rag-tag-and-bobtail politicians who still cherish the memory of the Greeley campaign, give Stanley Matthews the credit of having supported Mr. Greeley. This is a mistake. We are glad that he has a better record. The Cincinnati Gazette speaking of this matter, says:

The Chicago Tribune, in its excellent and well-deserved notice of Judge Matthews' election to the United States Senate, falls into one error that may as well be corrected. He did not support Greeley for President in 1872. He sympathized in the sentiment that originated the Cincinnati convention, but disgusted with the result, he supported and voted for Grant. One of the ablest and most effective speeches for the Republican party in that campaign was delivered by Judge Matthews, and widely published.

A Washington telegram says, "Provision was made in the sundry civil appropriation bill for the appointment of a commission to investigate the grasshopper plague in the West. Secretary Schurz appointed as such commission Prof. Riley, State Entomologist of Missouri; Prof. Thomas, State Entomologist of Illinois, and Dr. Packard, of Salem, Mass., editor of the American Naturalist. These gentlemen are now in Washington preparing for their investigation, but will start out at once, in order that they may reach the grasshopper country before the time of hatching of eggs, and watch the development of the insects. They will cover every State which has been visited with the plague and will experiment with methods for their prevention and destruction. The commission has authority to employ local experts to assist them, and General Meyer has tendered the services of the operators of the signal service, who will be of great assistance, acting under the direction of the commission. The report will be submitted as early as possible, and will be published as a part of the Hayden survey series."

Col. Bob Ingersoll recently delivered a great lecture in the city of New York. Amongst other vivid lifelike pictures, he drew one of the office-seeker, as follows: Professional office-seeker is one of the meanest and lowest and basest of human beings. [Trendentious applause.] A little higher than the lower animals, and a little lower than man. There is no earthly or heavenly independence—not a particle. A successful office-seeker is like the center of the earth; he weighs nothing himself and draws all things toward the office he seeks. He has no temper. You cannot offend him; you cannot insult him. Shut the door in his face, and so far as he is concerned, it is left wide open, and he is standing on the threshold with a smile, extending the hand of welcome. He crawls and he cringes, and he flatters and he lies, and he swaggers and he brags, and tells of the influence he has in the ward where he lives. We cannot too often repeat that splendid saying, "Office should seek the man, not man the office." [Applause.] If you will lengthen the term of office, it will be long before menials get or starve. [Loud laughter.]

Wonder if Ingersoll is acquainted with Church Howe? That picture of an office-seeker looks as much like Howe as if he had "set" for it.

"Wants to be an Angel." Senator Tipton's incensed political "feelings" have endured the torment as long as possible. He finally "un-buzzed" himself to his ancient friend, Dr. Miller, of the Omaha Herald, in this wise:

DEAR DOCTOR:—While speaking of my own I spoke, in the presence of the "morning" friend I have been silent. Had I been in charge of an editor's pen, I would have attempted to emulate you in painting the crime and the criminal. I do not feel able to do justice to the occasion.

So happy am I that I escaped from that political association just when the lower depths were being reached. I feel proud of the impulse that moved me. And then, who could have followed so sagacious and prudent a leader, as I had in Mr. Tipton?

I almost wish I were in Omaha and your Herald demanding an assistant editor that I might have an opportunity of standing in the ranks, and continuing the fight for constitutional liberty, stricken and defamed. But I must not prolong these thoughts for you would I have given them to paper had not silence become oppressive. Very truly,

T. W. TIPTON.

And the "stricken and defamed" Doctor puts the Senator on the head, and says: Mr. Tipton is a man who has not only ability of a high order, but like-wise the courage of his opinions, and his clear and consistent public record will show, and few men in the country have deserved or secured stronger proofs of public respect and confidence.

If there is no opening in the assistant editorship of the Herald, there is a huge vacancy in both, the principal and assistant of the Home Organ of this place. The Senator perhaps could secure a situation a sufficient length of time to enable him to "stand in the ranks of the stricken and defamed" and sing two lines at least of "I want to be an angel. And with the angels stand."

J. D. Lee was shot to death at 11 a. m. on the 23d, at Mountain Meadow, where twenty years ago he deceived the emigrants to their death. Seated upon his coffin five shots struck him in and near the heart, and he fell back on his coffin dead. He made a confession statement regarding the massacre, detailing minutely everything of interest pertaining thereto, in which the most prominent Mormon leaders, amongst them Brigham Young, himself, are implicated. The massacre of the Indians and a few men, but of the Mormon church—the execution of an official order of a council of the elders and leaders. He claims that he did no killing, that he did all he could or dared to do to avert the calamity and save the emigrants, that when he could not do this, he endeavored to save the children and recites several instances where he rescued little children from the knives of savages. Immediately before his execution he said, "I have but little to say this morning; of course I feel that I am upon the brink of eternity, and the solemnity of eternity should rest upon my mind at the present. I have made out, or endeavored to do so, a manuscript and an abridged history of my life. This will be published. Sir I have given my views and feelings with regard to all these things. I feel resigned to my fate; I feel as calm as a summer morning. I have done nothing wrong; my conscience is clear before God and man. I am ready to meet my Redeemer. This is that place me upon this field. I am not an infidel; I have not denied God or his mercy; I am a strong believer in those things. The most I regret is the parting with my family; many of them are unprotected, and will be left fatherless. When I speak of those little ones, they touch a tender chord within me. (Here Lee's voice faltered perceptibly.) I have done nothing wrong in this affair. I used my utmost endeavor to save these people; I would have given worlds were it at my command to have avoided that calamity, but I could not; I am sacrificed to satisfy feelings, and I am used to gratify parties; but I am ready to die; I have no fear of death; I have no terror, and no regret of having been asked from court or office to appear in my life; I do not fear death; I shall never go to a worse place than the one I am now in; I have said it to my family, and I will say it to-day, that the government of the United States is sacrificing its best friends, and that is saying a great deal, but it is true; I am a true believer in the gospel of Jesus Christ; I do not believe in everything that is now taught and practiced by Brigham Young; I believe he is leading the people astray, but I believe in the gospel as taught in its purity by Joseph Smith, in former days; I have my reasons for saying this; I used to make this man's will my pleasure, and did so for thirty years; see how and what I have come to this day; I have been sacrificed in a cowardly and dastardly manner; there are thousands of people in the church who are honorable and good-hearted, whom I cherish in my heart; I regret to leave my family; they are near and dear to me; I do not say these things to arouse sympathy; I declare I do nothing designedly wrong in this unfortunate affair; I did every thing in my power to save all the emigrants; but I am the one who must suffer; having said this, I feel resigned; I ask the Lord, my God, to extend his mercy to me, and to receive my spirit; my labors here are done.

Sylvester W. Norris, of Hall county, Neb., was recently found dead beside the road near his place of residence and Grand Island. The coroner's jury said he died from disability and exposure.

The Game Law. Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Nebraska, That from and after the first day of June A. D. 1877, it shall be unlawful for any person to take, wound, or kill any wild bird within this State, at any time. That the months of October, November and December, in each year, shall be open to shooting wild grouse, and wild turkeys, with the common shoulder gun; Provided, also that this act shall not be applied to water fowl, jack snipe, sand pipers, waders, and woodcocks.

Section 2. Any person violating the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any court having jurisdiction, shall be fined in any sum not less than five nor more than fifteen dollars for every wild bird taken, wounded or killed, and for every wild bird's egg, or nest taken or destroyed; such fines when collected, to be paid into the county treasury for the benefit of the public schools; and the person so convicted shall be committed to the common jail of the county until such fine and cost are paid.

Section 3. Those having in possession any wild bird recently killed; shall be deemed and taken as prima facie evidence that the same as killed by the person or persons having in possession the same.

Section 4. Any person who is convicted under this act shall be liable to the common jail of the county until such fine and cost are paid.

Section 5. Those having in possession any wild bird recently killed; shall be deemed and taken as prima facie evidence that the same as killed by the person or persons having in possession the same.

Section 6. Any person who is convicted under this act shall be liable to the common jail of the county until such fine and cost are paid.

Section 7. Any person who is convicted under this act shall be liable to the common jail of the county until such fine and cost are paid.

Section 8. Any person who is convicted under this act shall be liable to the common jail of the county until such fine and cost are paid.

Section 9. Any person who is convicted under this act shall be liable to the common jail of the county until such fine and cost are paid.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS. SHERIFF'S SALE.—Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a certain order of the District Court of Nebraska County, State of Nebraska, and to me directed as Sheriff of said county, upon a judgment
