New discoveries of silver mines in Colorado are making great excitement in that Territory.

Six hundred Mormon converts, principally Danes, landed in New York on the 25th inst.

Ex-Gov. Thomas Talbot has been nominated by the Massachusetts Republicans to make the race against Ben. Butler for Governor.

James A. Hamilton, son of Alexander Hamilton, who was murdered by Aaron Burr, died at his country seat, near Irvington, N. Y., on the 25th ult. in the 91st year of his age.

The Nebraska City News says, ex-Collector Newman, the other day in the Republican Convention, modestly declared that the Republican party is greater than Newman. We are glad to have our mind eased about that matter, for by the space devoted to him by the Nebraska City and Omaha papers we were beginning to have some doubt about it.

The New York Democracy held their convention last week. They nominated G. B. Bradley for judge of the court of appeals, reiterated a set of lies about Republican administrations, stressed their hard money ideas; but most important feature of the convention was the triumph of Tammany over the Tildenites, which is regarded as a quietus upon Tilden's further claim for a second nomination.

Some time ago circulars were sent to all the Postmasters in the country with instructions as to the regulation of third class mail matter, to take effect October 1st. Subsequently a letter was received at the Department from a Pennsylvania Postmaster, returning the circular with the remark that it had evidently been sent to him through a mistake, as the circular referred to third class matter, while his was a fourth class office.

The Omaha Herald finds occasion to say of Mr. Davis, the Nebraska greenback candidate for Congress, that he is "riding two horses" in his canvass—that he is a doughface, making hard or soft money speeches as seems to suit the crowd he talks to—but that he recently made a hard money speech at Fremont. The Herald says, "No two horse act will answer now," and gives Mr. Davis to understand that that kind of work will not give him the endorsement of the Democratic party, nor a place on the Democratic ticket. If that Democratic organ is correct Mr. Davis will have failed to do the very thing he plays the doughface to accomplish.

Since the above was written we learn the result of the meeting of the Democratic leaders in Lincoln the other day. These gentlemen, who assume to run the Democratic machinery in this State, and to dictate to the humble but most obedient voters of that party, indorsed Mr. Davis—"Maj." Davis, you know. Anything to beat the Republican party, urged Mr. Vilquin, and when confronted with this most important of Democratic principles, all opposition to the greenback doughface had to succumb; it did not do so however, we learn, without a struggle from the more honorable delegates, who were opposed to giving away the party body, breeches and boots.

Such Democrats as would be somewhat consistent, must learn that it makes no difference with the kings and priests of the party how many horses a candidate rides in his exhibitions before the public, nor how many false faces he may mask in, nor how many somersaults he may turn, nor how hypocritical he may be in his political pretensions, they all go for naught if by indorsing him is the best way of defeating the Republican party. Honest opinions and positions on the great questions that interest the country are of much less moment with the leaders of Democracy than the proposition, "Anything to beat the Republicans."

Maj. Davis in his two horse act.

Our friend Davis is riding several horses in his canvass for Congress, as the candidate of the party of numerous names and strange progeny. He is making hard money speeches at Fremont and other places of the highest quality as the candidate of the party whose platform is nothing, if not Brick Pomeroy all over the finances. The Herald calls a bait in this business. Major Davis must fly his true colors and ride one horse. No two horse act will answer now. No man in our humble judgment, will receive a democratic nomination at Lincoln, Fremont and other places of the highest quality, who does not unequivocally repudiate the monstrous doctrines on finances which the National Greenback Work and Labor party promulgated in their late convention in this State. All hands must be shown. No right-minded and sound-hearted democrat in this state wants to elect anybody to office on false pretences, and no such man will surrender principle for such a nomination. The Democratic party of this state is not agonized about putting Major J. W. Davis much as many of us, including the writer of this article, personally think of him, in Congress, or John D. Howe on the supreme bench of the state. These honors for these aspiring gentlemen can be postponed to a better day, rather than to celebrate this kind of a circus just at this time. [The above appeared in the Herald previous to the Democratic convention which indorsed Mr. Davis.]

Nebraska County at the State Fair.

Nebraska county made no attempt at exhibition at the late State Fair, outside her fruit display. We are informed by those present that the State Horticulture exhibit was never before so large and fine as at Lincoln last week. Richardson, Nemaha, Otoe, Cass, Douglas, Washington, Burr, Dakota, Pawnee, Chgo, Saline, Lancaster and Steward, were on hand in force, with minor exhibits from Buffalo, Merriek, Gray, and other counties making their first appearance. The contest for the first grand premium on collection of fruits, embracing apples, pears, peaches, plums, and grapes, was hotly contested, especially as between Otoe and Nemaha counties.

The premium was awarded to Nemaha. Thus for the second time, and in succession, Nemaha wins the first prize on fruits. She also took first premiums on collection of pears, and on peaches.

The committee on fruits, this season, was composed of prominent pomologists from other States; men thoroughly posted in that line. The committee was Dr. John A. Warder, now, and for twenty years past, president of the Ohio Pomological Society, and author of the leading fruit book of the United States, American Pomology; Dr. Allen Furnas, president Indiana Horticultural Society; Mr. Coffin, a noted pomologist of the same State; Mr. Spofford, president Iowa State Board of Agriculture, and D. M. Kauffman, Des Moines, Iowa.

The committee, as well as all others who saw the Nebraska fruit exhibit, pronounced it the finest they had ever seen. Dr. Furnas took home with him, for exhibition at the Indiana State Fair, a barrel of the choicest fruits. Not only the best collection of fruits were from our county, but the "boss" apples were also from Nemaha. Four apples from the orchard of Judge E. M. McComas, near Brownville, weighed six and three-quarter pounds. They went East, "young man," to show how the country grows out West!

We understand that J. Sterling Morton, of Otoe, has challenged "old man" Furnas of Nemaha, and the challenge accepted, for a grand competitive fruit show next year, between the two counties named. The toes of a cooper is to decide whether the show shall be held at Nebraska City or at Brownville. All we now have to say in relation to this coming friendly pomological contest, is that if next season should prove favorable to a fruit crop, and these two men keep up their fighting avoirdupois, there will be the grandest fruit display ever shown in the United States. As in the late contest, judges are to be brought from other States.

As the credit of the grand victory won by our county is due to the persons who contributed of their choice fruits to make up the exhibit, and to D. H. McLaughlin and E. H. Burehous for collecting, forwarding and placing the same on exhibition, we deem it just to give their names in this connection. The following are the names furnished us as the contributors, the figure following each name indicating the number of varieties of the fruit named: Jas. M. Hacker, apples, 4; George Hodkin, apples, 3; Mrs. Holmes, apples, 11; A. Skeen, apples, 10; D. Plaster, apples, 6; Sim. Baker, apples, 8; Alex. Starry, apples, 7; Mr. Couch, apples, 6; Wm. H. Hoover, pears, 1; J. C. Deuser, pears, 1; W. H. Lorance, pears, 1; Hyslop crab, 1; W. T. Rogers, pears, 1; E. M. McComas, apples, 1; Fruit from County Fair, apples, 17; pear, 1; Mrs. Robert Teate, plums, 2; Jeff. Bryden, plums, 3; D. O. Cross, grapes, 5; D. S. peaches, 47; apples, 13; chestnuts, 1; Mrs. Jane Loveless, apples, 56; white walnuts, 1; Mrs. J. Harding, apples, 5; John McPherson, apples, 3; Geo. S. McGrew, apples, 6; Richard Kester-son, apples, 13.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES.
An old feud between David Clem and Milo Gutton, farmers, near Danville, Ill., was settled last week with knives. Clem cut Gutton's throat, killing him instantly, while Clem had his abdomen ripped open making a fatal wound.

Sherman City, a village in Michigan, was annihilated, on the 19th ult, by a tornado. Every building in the town, except one, was blown down.

Robert Richardson and Martin Harlan, neighbor farmers near Kingston, Ky., quarreled one day last week while threshing wheat, when Richardson killed Harlan with a pitchfork.

A man named Hoffman is under arrest in New York for bigamy. It has been definitely ascertained that he has been married fifteen times, and his wives are all alive, and about a dozen of them appearing in court against him.

A boy seven years old named Kipets, at Cincinnati last week, put an end to his life by jumping into a river, because his mother, on his return from school, refused to give him a piece of bread and butter.

Wm. Leach, Newark, N. J., on the 26th ult., went to the house of his son-in-law, Chas. Rivers, at midnight, broke in the door, attacked Rivers, struck him, and when he ran into another room followed him, whereupon Rivers reached for his pistol and shot the savage old man, inflicting a fatal wound. Wm. E. Merriek, Indianapolis, Ind., is under arrest for murdering his wife and infant child, many circumstances condemn him beyond doubt.

A man named Charles Viall, formerly named keeper of Plattsmouth, is under arrest at Lincoln, charged with the murder of one Wm. B. Armstrong. It is rather a singular case.

It appears that Viall and Armstrong had long been friends or at least associate toppers, that Viall was jealous of Armstrong's attentions to his wife. He knowing Armstrong's weakness for intoxicating drinks, filled a bottle with some kind of liquor, mixed arsenic with the liquor and left the bottle at an express office addressed to Armstrong. The latter received the bottle, drank of its contents and died soon afterward in great agony.

Prof. Aughey analyzed the contents of the bottle and the dead man's stomach and found both to contain poison. The identification of Viall as the person who left the bottle for Armstrong and other evidence point very directly to him as the murderer.

Col. Wilson Houcheus, residing near Fluvanna Court House, Va., recently, with an axe killed his wife, eleven year-old daughter and his mother-in-law. After this massacre he lit his pipe, went into his barn yard and seating himself on a keg of blasting powder, containing forty pounds, ignited the powder with the fire in his pipe, and was blown into a mine meat.

He left a letter stating that whiskey and the interference of his mother-in-law with his family affairs made him the fiend he was. C. W. Phillips of Delevan, Wisconsin, hanged himself in his barn, on the 26th ult.

Col. W. M. Boone, of Baltimore, Md., was robbed, last Thursday, of $27,850 in bonds and $37,000 in cash.

NEBRASKA NIBBLINGS.
—One day last week a man had his pocket picked of $50, at the B. & M. depot, Lincoln.
—A drunken man named Barton L. Easley, was killed by the cars at Grand Island, last week.
—The District fair at Hastings was a failure.

—The Press says Kearney's greatest need now is a large horse.
—Brownville wants a steam-flouring mill.
—A B. & M. train recently ran down a jack rabbit, and ran over it, which persistently stuck to the track in the race. The Press records the tragic event.
—The Lincoln Journal has been recently enlarged to ten columns in the page. It is now the largest Daily in the State.
—Does the Kearney Press mean that Ben Butler "will have no opposition in the Republican party on the day of election?" That's what it says.

—Pawnee Showman: A few days ago Mr. Weber showed us an apple which measured thirteen inches and a half and weighed eighteen ounces, raised by Hon. W. H. Curtis, of this city. Will the Journal please make the "amende honorable" and call the attention of the Nebraska City and Brownville papers to the fact?

—But the Falls City Journal has the last and biggest story: "We were shown an apple at the P. O. on Wednesday morning, that weighed twenty-one and a half ounces and measured fourteen and one-half inches in circumference."
—The famous bull calf who pawed the earth about Lone Tree had his own nose before he roared so much about the "Hitchcock ring." We don't care much about it, however, and just mention it for the sake of consistency.

A GOOD HAUL.
The Treasure Coach of the Cheyenne Line Robbed of $30,000—One Passenger Killed and two Messengers Wounded.
DEADWOOD, September 27.—The treasure coach of the Cheyenne and Black Hills stage line that left yesterday morning, was stopped by five armed men at Canyon Springs, forty-five miles south of here, at 3 p. m. The two messengers, Captain Smith and Gale Hill, were seriously wounded, and one passenger, H. O. Campbell, a telegraph operator, killed. The treasure taken amounted to between twenty-five and thirty thousand dollars. Ten armed men have started from here in pursuit of the robbers.

DEADWOOD, D. T., Sept. 27.—The coach arriving this evening confirms the reports of the coach robbery at Canyon Springs station. Campbell was killed almost instantly. Gale Hill, one of the messengers, was dangerously wounded, and will probably die. Capt. Smith was slightly hurt by a ball grazing the top of his head, rendering him insensible. Scott Davis escaped unhurt. Two of the robbers were badly wounded—one shot by Davis and the other by Gale Hill, who fired through a window in a barn after being hurt. The coach was run into the timber, and but short time occupied in opening the safe, which contained twenty-five thousand dollars in gold bullion, some gold jewelry, and a small amount of currency, all of which was secured by the robbers.
