The President's Veto Message

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Following is the message of the President, returning to the House of Representatives the bill entitled "An Act

Making Appropriations for the Support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and for other purposes." To the House of Representatives:

I have maturely considered the important questions presented by the bill entitled "An Act Making Appropriations for the Support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and for other purposes," and

I NOW RETURN IT to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, with my objections to its approval.

The bill provides, in its usual form, for the appropriations required for the support of the army during the next fiscal year. If it contained no other provisions, it would receive my prompt approval. It includes, however, further legislation, which, attached to it is the appropriations which are requisite for the efficient performance of some of the most necessary duties of the Government, involves questions of the gravest character. The sixth section of the bill is amendatory of the statute now in force in regard to the authority of persons in the civil, military, and naval service of the United States, at a place where any general or special election is held, in any State. This statute was adopted February 25, 1865, after a protracted debate in the Senate, and almost without opposition in the House by the concurrent votes of both of the leading political parties of the country, and became a law by the approval of President Lincoln. It was enacted in 1874, in the Revised Statutes of the United States, sections

2,002 and 5,528, which are as follows:

"SECTION 2,002. No military or naval officer, or other person engaged in the civil, military or naval service of the United States, shall order, bring, keep, or have under his authority or control, any troops or armed men, at a place where any general or special election is held in any State, unless it be necessary to repel the armed enemies of the United States, or to keep the peace at the polls.

"SECTION 5,528. Every officer of the army or navy, or other person in the civil, military, or naval service, who orders, brings, keeps, or has under his authority or control, any troops or armed men at any place where a general or special election is held, in any State, unless such force be necessary to repel armed enemies of the United States, or to keep the peace at the polls, shall be fined not more than $5,000, and suffer imprisonment at hard labor not less than three months nor more than five years."

The amendment proposed to this statute in the bill before me omits from both of the foregoing sections the words "or to keep the peace at the polls." The effect of the adoption of this amendment may be considered—first, upon the right of the United States Government to use military force to keep peace at elections for members of Congress; and second, upon the right of the Government, by civil authority, to protect these elec-which he offers to vote."

The foregoing enactments would seem to be sufficient to prevent military interference with elections; but the last Congress, to remove all apprehensions of such interference, added to this body of laws section 15, of an act entitled "An Act Making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1879, and for other purposes," approved June 30, 1878, which is as follows:

"SECTION 15. From and after the passage of this act it shall not be lawful to employ any part of the army of the United States as a posse comitatus, or otherwise, for the purpose of executing the laws, excepting in such
