City Sun: The county of Nemaha is to be stirred to its depths The village of Sheridan, located in Apples the interior, is ambitious for the removal of the county building from Brownville, and are making themselves warm on the subject. The Turkeys, dressed, & ib., Sun predicts there will be no removal. A large majority of the voters of Nemaha are content to let "well Flour, R. T. Davis ... enough alone," and will not make a large county debt to please the whims of a noisy equad of village politicians in Sheridan.

- The Sheridanites tendered to Commissioner Pohlman a vote of thanks "for his nerve in opposing the appropriation of means for the erection of county buildings at Brown- comes, Rio, 5 bs., ville." Has there been any proposition to erect county buildings? We guess not. It must have been something else that that nerve was exerclaed about.
