Dr. Thomas' Electric Balm. WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD. Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made.

CHRISTOPHER CRINGER. A Christmas Story of a Miser and His Turkey.

By MARGARET G. H. REYNOLDS.

Christopher was a miser. He all knew what that means, for this little planet of ours is prodigal of the animal.

utterly indifferent to his presence, sat in dogged silence, his hands over the grate, which contained a few coals, carefully surrounded with saw-logs to prolong their life.

"You know me, Cringer!" it said, in a tone that would admit of no denial.

"They are every bit as cold as you, Cringer," said the gobbler, drawing his formidable bill uncomfortably near Christopher's nose.

er to write on yonder scroll one act to recommend you, and yet I only await your command.

A Strange Romance. That "truth is stranger than fiction" is once more amply exemplified by the following curious narrative, which reaches the Nazianon from its correspondent at Casca.
