

THE ADVERTISER

THURSDAY, JANUARY 6, 1881.

OUR AGENT AND COLLECTOR.

Mr. A. W. SUTZBAUGH is our authorized agent to receive money from subscribers to THE ADVERTISER, and give receipt for the same, when required. He will commence on or about January 1st, to call on delinquent subscribers, and will see all of them as rapidly as he can. He will also solicit for new subscribers. We hope each one will be ready to pay the small sum due us. Although small, they are numerous, and in the aggregate amount to several hundreds of dollars. We know that all are able to pay, but through negligence, or forgetfulness, or failing to see us or our agent, have failed to do so. Now please hand the pay to Mr. Sutzbaugh, who will see that you are duly credited; and we promise you that in the future, as in the past, we will work incessantly to send you weekly one of the best country papers in the State.

Yours, "to live and let live,"
G. W. FAIRBROTHER & CO.

G. H. Lannon, M. A.
T. F. Gill, I. G.
Henry Royse, O. G.

One of the members of the next legislature stood upon the steps of the Commercial last week, talking with a Lincoln business man who is a devoted Christian. They had been speaking of the late Gov. Williams ("Blue-Jean") and his eccentricities of dress, and the Lincoln man had just made use of the old proverb, "Don't judge a man by the clothes he wears; God made one, and the tailor the other."—Lincoln Globe.

Yes, we have heard of that, and that just then the Globe chief came in sight, when the wicked legislator, calling attention to him, remarked, "But there is a case where both jobs were fearfully spoiled."

We have, upon going to press, heard but little regarding the organization of the two houses of the Nebraska legislature, but understand that Nemaha County's candidate, Hon. Church Howe, was defeated for the Speakership, and that the Hon. Shedd, of Ashland, Saunders county, was chosen to that position. The ADVERTISER is satisfied with the fight it made for Mr. Howe, because in his support it not only advocated the claims of one eminently qualified for the position, but also reflected the will of a very large majority of the people of this county. And now, if those alleged representatives of Nemaha, who through malice and jealousy, have refused to represent the wishes of their constituents in this their first act, and contributed to Howe's defeat, are satisfied with the situation—present and prospective—THE ADVERTISER certainly is.

Iowa brewers have taxed themselves one dollar on each hundred barrels of beer manufactured by them, to form a fund to defeat the proposed prohibition measure, which includes beer and wine. They propose to elect as many anti-prohibition members as possible and buy up the balance needed.—Lincoln Globe.

And wouldn't Webster Eaton like to be an Iowa legislator?

THE UNION HORSE, this city, is the most popular dollar-a-day house in the west, and is receiving patronage as it deserves and merits. It is the best place for farmers to stop to get a good dinner, and every day its tables are crowded. In the desk of the Union may always be found the best brands of cigars. Those who have not put up at this popular hotel are invited to stop and give it a trial.

How the inmates of the penitentiary were treated on Christmas is thus indicated by the Stat Journal:

"The zebra-eat denizens of the stone house over the hill, through the courtesy of Warden Nobles, Boss Stout and the laws of our State, will observe today as a holiday. They will feast on turkey and cranberry sauce, smoke a cigar or two, and listen to a sermon from the lips of Hon. D. G. Hull."

At a meeting of the Nemaha County Sportsmen's Club, Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected:

W. W. Hackney, President.
W. T. Den, Vice President.
W. M. Kaufman, Secretary.
A. R. Davidson, Treasurer.
Board of Managers.—W. W. Brown, Geo. Hatchett, D. D. Adams.

The snow storm which prevailed in this locality Monday and Tuesday of last week was but a touch of a great storm which appears to have been general throughout the States, especially in the southeast. At Watertown, N. Y., 15 inches of snow fell on the 28th. At Danville, Va., the snow fell so deep as to block up the roads and hinder travel. At Galesburg, Ill., 29th, the thermometer was 24 degrees below zero; at Chicago, 22 below. At Richmond, Va., the snow was very heavy, and trains were delayed. At Vicksburg, 1½ inches of snow fell. At Shreveport the weather was 9 degrees below zero. At Montgomery, Ala., snow 5 inches deep, and weather very cold. Heavy snow at Norfolk, Va. At Columbus, Ga., 4½ inches of snow, and weather 20 degrees below. Greensboro, N. C., 15 inches of snow. Washington City, 14 inches of snow. Columbus, S. C., snow 6 inches deep, and 8 degrees below zero; at Dallas, 14 inches of snow, and 10 inches at Yorkville, S. C. At Macon, Ga., heavy snow and weather 14 below. At St. Louis, weather 15 degrees below; at New Orleans it snowed lightly, and the weather freezing. At Deadwood, 30 degrees below.

For Sale.

Rev. & Mrs. Weeber invited the following to make the acquaintance of Ex-Governor Furnas at dinner Friday: Dr. and Mrs. Waller, Mr. and Mrs. Scott, Miss Marsh, Hon. W. P. and Mrs. Kimmel, H. C. and Mrs. Bittender. A delightful social time was enjoyed.—Osceola Record.

Our esteemed Democratic friend, A. J. Richardson, of Peru precinct, called, Tuesday, to renew his subscriptions to THE ADVERTISER. Mr. R. has been a reader of this paper for over twenty years, and we hope he will be one for at least twenty more years.

Miss Hattie L. Slaughter, daughter of Mrs. and the late Rev. W. B. Slaughter, was married on the 30th ult., at Osceola, to Mr. Samuel Hawver, of Omaha. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Adams, of the M. E. church, assisted by President Fairley, of the N. W. C., and Rev. W. J. Weeber, of the Presbyterian church.

Married.

On Thursday, December 30th, 1880, a small company of friends gathered at the home of ex-Marshall Daily, in Nemaha county, the occasion being the marriage of Miss Anna M. Daily, daughter of the Marshall, to Dr. D. B. Farnsworth, of Fairmount. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Isaiah Reed, assisted by Rev. George Reed. The company consisted of relatives and a few intimate friends only. When the hour appointed for the ceremony arrived, the vows were spoken, and thus was a new family constituted. A large number of elegant presents attested the high esteem in which Dr. Farnsworth and his bride are held. Everything was done with that simplicity which is the sure index of good taste. After a beautifully served dinner, Dr. and Mrs. Farnsworth took their departure for Fairmount, their future home, whither the best wishes of their friends will follow them.

So fortunate, O happy day,

When a new household finds its place

Among the myriad homes of earth,

Like a new star just sprung to birth,

And rolled on the harmonious way

Into the boundless realms of space." Guest.

Nemaha County Teachers' Association.

The Nemaha County Teachers' Association will meet in the high school room in Brownville, Friday evening and Saturday, Jan. 7th and 8th.

The teachers of the county are urged to come to this meeting. We must counsel together concerning what we shall do to make our work more efficient. If you are not doing excellent work come and tell us your difficulties, and you may get suggestions that may aid you, or at least encouragement; if you are getting along perfectly well, come and tell us how you do it.

The public schools are charged with inefficiency. Is the charge just? If so, whose fault is it? What have we to say in defense of the schools?

On Friday evening, at half past seven the association is to be called to order for the discussion of the topic, "The efficiency of the public schools." Prof. J. M. McKenize will open the discussion in an address, and will be followed by others. All who are interested in popular education are invited to be present and to participate in this discussion.

The association will assemble again on Saturday morning, at nine o'clock.

The first exercise of the session will be a paper on "Arithmetic in the Public Schools," by Miss Emerson, of the Normal School, followed by discussion.

The next exercise will be a paper on "Some Principles of Instruction," by Miss Emma Morgan. The subject of "Primary Instruction in District Schools" will be under discussion. Also, the question of "Local Educational News," and it is hoped that each teacher will have one practical question for the query box.

JOHN WINTERS,

Wagon timber and iron by Stevenson & Cross.

In Memory of Ada.

The bright young life we all knew and loved so well, in our relations of schoolmate and friends, is taken from our midst, and while we regret the sad occurrence of the early death of our little schoolmate and loving friend, we bow in submission to the will of an All-wise Providence.

Her bereaved parents have lost a loving and obedient daughter, the germ of a true and noble woman; her brother and sisters have lost a joyous playmate and companion, the pride of their loving hearts, and the inspiration of many noble ideas and generous thoughts, and we, her schoolmates, realize the great loss we sustain, and earnestly offer our sympathy to her mourning relatives in their sore distress.

We shall miss her in the hour of recreation, for none had more vital energy than she. In the hour of study we shall miss her example of faithful attention to her duties, and good deportment, which were traits well worthy of emulation. And more than all else, we shall be deprived forever of her kindly sympathy in the hour of distress, and her helping hand in the hour of need.

Her beaming eye, inspiring presence, decisive energy at her task, and quick intelligence, far beyond her years, shall be themes upon which memory will love to dwell, as we pass down the stream of life, are merged into the great ocean of eternity, upon which the pure and stainless spirit of our departed schoolmate is happy with its kindred.

By HER SCHOOLMATES,
Fairview, Neb., January 3d, 1881.

LONDON.

Let us prove our sincerity in wishing a "Happy New Year," by adding our mite to the sum of human welfare.

Weather extremely cold.

Dr. McGrew has been confined to his bed for a week, from the effects of a sudden and severe attack of some stomach trouble. His case for a few hours was exceedingly dangerous. He is now convalescing.

Married, Dec. 20th, John Gillespie, of Nemaha City, and Rhoda West, of London.

Born, Dec. 24th, a son, unto Thomas and Millie Miles.

Born, Dec. 28th, a daughter, unto Wm. and Lou. Winters.

Died, Dec. 23d, Ada Caldwell, aged 9 years.

Our young friend, "Lucy, the farmer," is married, and if she is as happy as we wish she may be, she will escape all the ills and secure all the good which will be for her present welfare and future well-being. Miss Pollock was a splendid girl, and we know she will make a noble woman. We invoke a benediction on Mr. and Mrs. Finch.

BEDFORD.

Ellis Tucker has come to Lincoln.

There is some grain yet to be threshed in this section.

Mr. Howe has taken his team and buggy with him to Lincoln.

Rev. Wessels, of Nemaha City, preaches every Sunday, at 11 a. m., at Rosefield.

We know quite a number of drinking men of this section who have of late become disgusted with the saloons and drunkenness of Nemaha City. When the drinking men become disgusted, and say they feel going down and "pulling the miserable den over into the river," it is time the bottom was falling out of the terrible traffic.

It is a question in the minds of some of our farmers why it is that, although the railroad is already graded from Nemaha City to Pipeville, the surveys are still engaged in running surveys southwest from Nemaha City, in the direction of Humboldt. There is one survey east of the Rosefield school house, and one passing near the farm of J. S. Church, and the surveys are still in Bedford precinct.

On last Sunday, about 3 o'clock p. m., Mr. Wm. Tidrow, of Aspinwall, eight miles below Brownville, in this county, committed suicide. The particulars immediately connected with his death were that he procured a strong piece of rope three or four feet long, went into his hen house, fastened one end of the rope to a joist, the other around his neck and jumping or falling, his neck was broken. Soon after he had been missed from the family, search was made for him, and when found the body was warm, but life had flown. The deceased had been a resident of Aspinwall and vicinity for about ten years, and was a highly esteemed citizen. What caused Tidrow to take his own life seems to be a mystery at present, or at least, without a consistent theory. For some time he has been engaged in the mercantile business, and notwithstanding he seemed to be reasonably prosperous, last week he made an assignment of his effects to his creditors; and this is advanced as the cause. But we learn that his creditors did not force him to make the assignment and that it was at his own will and option. So financial embarrassment could not have been the cause. Some three or four weeks ago Tidrow took a dose of Morphine that, but for the prompt and timely efforts of friends and physicians, would have killed him. It was generally thought at the time that it was simply an over dose in allaying the pains of neuralgia; but a few of his friends then believed he feared self destruction, and we learn that he subsequently told his wife that such was his intention. Another theory is that he had become a constant drinker of intoxicating liquors; and that while he never frequented saloons, he imbibed deeply whisky and some sort of poisonous bitters which he kept on hand in his own house. We have always regarded Tidrow as a temperance man, were incredulous, until told that such was the fact by his friends intimately acquainted with his habits, and that for the last two or three years he was scarcely ever free from the influence of intoxicants. We regard the suicide of Tidrow as rather a peculiar case, and finding no social or business reason even approximating to the ordinary or common, that so frequently serve as a pretext for self destruction in these times, we can only attribute it to a morbid condition of the mind and system, probably superinduced by strong drink, and a methodical monomania which led him to premeditated suicide; he having gotten his business in as good shape as he could to secure those who had trusted him, before taking the last and fatal step. The deceased left a wife and six children, at home, and one daughter married. Tidrow was a son-in-law of Rev. W. H. Shockley.

Halls Journal of Health and Miscellany.

It is the oldest and most popular health periodical in the world; and is more largely quoted from by newspapers than any other similar publication.

Commencing with the number for December, 1880, the Journal of Health will be enlarged by sixteen pages, to make room for the miscellaneous department, which will consist of carefully selected reading matter. Some of the best articles from the pen of the late Dr. Hall, founder of the Journal of Health will also appear each month, "Forewarned is forearmed." We aim to teach the best means of avoiding diseases and accidents, and the best methods of treatment when they come. Above all we shall strive to convince, particularly the young, that a course of right living is constantly being rewarded with health, strength and happiness; beside giving assurance to a joyous old age; instead of the unavailing regrets for mistakes and vices—made perhaps through ignorance—but which, nevertheless add their burden to the weight of years.

Subscription price $2.00 a year; $1.00 for 6 months. A sample copy sent by mail on receipt of 20 cents.

Money for subscriptions should be sent by P. O. Money Order, Registered Letter, or draft on New York, payable to E. H. Gibbs & Co. Postage stamps received only for fractions of one dollar. Be careful to address all letters to E. H. GIBBS & CO., Proprietors of Hall's Journal of Health, No. 141 Eighth St., New York City.
