We observe that Hon. Church Howe was chairman of the committee on credentials, the first committee appointed; and that Hon. T. L. Schick was one of the committee to request a Supreme Justice to appear in the House and administer the official oath to the members.

The editor of the Sheridan Post thinks we are "afraid he will not amount to something." And he is in error, for we concede that he can flap so quickly as to make people's heads swim, and make them doubt if he is a real editor or an imported clown—the ringmaster with his long whip being at Peru.

They all know that jealousy actuated him to get "off the track" in his supposed witlessness.—Sheridan Post.

Do they, indeed? We thought we stuck to the track pretty well, considering that they were rat tracks. But speaking of getting "off the track," the Post fellow, in his sudden "hop" from Howe's friend to Howe's enemy, is entitled to the belt.

The Hastings Nebraska says a Farmers' Alliance was recently formed in that county, and that it was declared that the object of the same "is not to wage an unjust war against the railroads—in fact, no war at all. All they want is their just rights." THE ADVERTISER will most earnestly advise the farmers, in every legitimate way it can, in so laudable and legitimate a work as that of securing and maintaining their rights.

Some of the leading papers in Omaha are evidently scared at the temperance outlook in this State. The Herald endeavors to show that a prohibition law, or constitutional amendment, would ruin the distilleries at that place and Nebraska City, and if that be done there will no longer be a market for corn in Nebraska, and thus the farmers will be ruined. The proposed law, or constitutional amendment, would, if in existence, only operate against the manufacture and use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage. Their manufacture and use for medicinal and medicinal purposes would not be interfered with. It is only the abominable and poisonous concoctions, and their uses, the good people of the State now propose to abolish. So all this jabber about ruining the farmer is simply nonsense.

A. H. GILMORE, Pres't.

THE UNION HOUSE, this city, is the most popular dollar-a-day house in the west, and is receiving patronage as it deserves and merits. It is the best place for farmers to stop to get a good dinner, and every day its tables are crowded. In the desk of the Union may always be found the best brands of cigars. Those who have not put up at this popular hotel are invited to stop and give it a trial.

There will be a church festival at Nemaha City, Wednesday evening, January 19th, for the benefit of the Presbyterian church. In connection therewith there will be various entertainments, such as supper, oysters, Gypsy fortune telling, postoffice, fishpond, and confectionery. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mr. Hood, of Aspinwall, called on us Tuesday, this week, for the purpose of informing us that we were mistaken in our remarks about the suicide of Wm. Tidrow, in saying that Mr. T. was addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors. Mr. Hood being a clerk for the deceased, for some time previous to his death, was in a position to know the truth, and he says Tidrow was not a drinking man, and mentioned the fact that a jug of liquor purchased last September, and placed in the cellar, was all the liquor that had been brought about the store, that he ever knew of, and the jug, with its contents, is still in the cellar. And that he had no kind of intoxicating bitters used as a beverage, about the store, and the story that he constantly drank bitters is certainly untrue. We make this correction gladly, and it justifies our remark last week, that we had always regarded Tidrow as a temperance man, and incredulity, while we, in our line of duty, would suppress no truth in such an affair, that would benefit the living, it would only be by misinformation that we could cast a stigma upon the sad memory of our dear friend.

It is always ready to "kick" anything that promises to benefit Sheridan, or Nemaha county, even, outside of Brownville or Nemaha City, where his two organs are manufactured. He's afraid we will amount to something.—Sheridan Post.

In the first sentence of the above the Post, in a most reckless manner, "sits down" on the 11th commandment, as the files of THE ADVERTISER will verify. We never kick any of our neighbors, but always speak a good word for any of them when referring to them; and no article ever written for our columns by any citizen of any locality, advocating their locality or town, in this county, but what found a place in our paper, and welcome. In fact, we have a standing invitation for such articles. If the editor of the Post or any other citizen of Sheridan, or any other citizen of any other town or portion of the county, desires at any time to use our columns to present inducements for immigrants or others to locate with them, their articles will be welcome. And we further have a standing offer to any citizen of any town, locality, section or precinct, to not only publish local items for them, but in addition to give them THE ADVERTISER free of charge. We have done this for Sheridan until recently, when for some reason, unknown to us, the weekly items were discontinued. We will give our paper to any one in Sheridan who will furnish us the weekly local news of the locality, including, of course, favorable notices when they desire, of their town and county. THE ADVERTISER is a friend of the people of the county, and desires the growth and prosperity of towns and country and every legitimate business, and its columns, now as heretofore, is offered as an humble medium to the accomplishment of this end.

As to the second and last sentence of the above clipping from the Post—"He's afraid we will amount to something"—had the writer of the silly words inserted the little word "not" immediately after "will," he would for apace have staggered onto the truth.

The difference between Nemaha's two candidates for Speaker, we want the people to mark, was this: Mr. Schick received no votes but his own, and we learn, that of Mr. Reymann. Mr. Howe received thirty-six votes of true friends, who stood by him through the contest. The friends of Mr. Howe, while they desired his election, are proud of him for the positive strength he gathered around him, and are gratified in the reflection that they did not waste their sympathy and favors upon a "wooden man." Further, we desire our readers to bear in mind the position we took regarding Mr. Schick's candidacy and the attitude he assumed, and compare them with the logic of subsequent events. We charged Mr. Schick with being the tool of Mr. Howe's malicious enemies. Mr. Schick said that our "insinuations of malice were unjust to his friends who had mentioned his name," etc. Now who were those friends who, as he publicly stated, brought him out without his knowledge or consent? They were Messrs. Daily and Majors, of course. Now take the fact that Daily, Col. Tom and Wils. Majors were on the ground early, working—for somebody—whom? Was it Mr. Schick, the man they had caused to be announced—his candidate had they been sincere? What did they do for him, after all? What strength did they gather around him? Not a single vote. Now recur the easily answered query: was Mr. Schick the real candidate, or the "fool—my fool"—of Daily and Majors? And were "the insinuations of malice unjust" to Mr. Schick's friends who kindly mentioned his name in connection with the speakership? THE ADVERTISER'S position is confirmed, and those friends of Schick have made him the ridiculous butt in the conversations of the people of this county.

Hygienic. The Express, Chicago, says of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure: "It is, in the highest sense, hygienic, and can be used by young and old with equal advantage. It gives the only relief yet attained, that can be termed permanent, to Bright's Disease, and this alone should rank it higher in the list of medical triumphs."

The best and wisest physicians advise not to let a cold or cough continue, but break it up immediately, and the best thing found yet is Nickell's compound cough syrup.

If you are troubled with fever and ague, dizziness, biliousness, headache, dyspepsia, or any disease of the liver, blood or stomach, and wish to get well, try the new remedy, Prof. Gottlieb's French Liver Sal. Ask your druggist for it, and take one other, and if he has not got it send $1.50 in a letter to French Sal. Co., Toledo, O., and receive one by return mail.

From the Nemaha Times:—The B. M. corps of civil engineers commenced sounding the Missouri river just below the mouth of the Nemaha, this week. If the soundings are favorable, this point will be the location of the railroad bridge across the river. The railroad will cross the Nemaha south of town, and connect with the line running west.

T. C. Bradley was badly wounded on Tuesday last by the explosion of a shell while loading a shot gun. He had his face and hand considerably damaged. Dr. Andrews reports him as doing well.

James Armstrong had a span of horses stolen on Christmas Eve. The horses were tied near the Christian church, and it was at first supposed that they had broken loose, but they have not been heard of since.

LINCOLN CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of THE ADVERTISER: As Nemaha had two candidates for the speakership, no doubt she is desirous of hearing how the campaign was conducted, and what resulted successfully and unsuccessfully. That this desire may be at least partially satisfied, your special correspondent will pen a letter to THE ADVERTISER.

All the legislators who had not reported Saturday, the 1st inst., arrived the following Monday, and then the caucus which had hitherto been on a small scale, reached its magnitude, and the buttons flew in promiscuous directions. The political throng would first besiege Howe—then Paddock—then Van Wyeck—finally returning to the hotel office, there to mingle with legislators, office-seekers and men of State and National repute. Monday afternoon the candidates for speaker were Howe, Windham, Slocum, Kaley, Shedd, and Schick. Towards evening Kaley withdrew, and then Schick, Reymann, Daily, Majors and others, who had a particular and personal desire to defeat Howe, labored diligently and incessantly to unite the field against Howe. The difficulty was in agreeing upon a man. Schick knew he was sure of only one vote, and perhaps not that, unless he voted for himself, consequently, with the knowledge that he never could win the victory, he was prominent in agreeing with the Anti-Howe men in order that he might be given a good committee. Slocum, Windham and Shedd each considered himself the strongest man, and neither would withdraw. Finally the lobbyist succeeded in arranging the Anti-Howe men into a caucus Monday night. A few pledges and a little trading resulted in Windham going to Shedd and Slocum's forces dividing. The fight was now between Howe, of Nemaha, and Shedd, of Saunders. The clans agreed upon holding a Republican caucus Tuesday morning. That time arrived, and a united field, including Schick and Reymann, barely succeeded in defeating Howe for the nomination. This action was well illustrated in the election of speaker in the House—Shedd receiving every Republican vote.

Mr. Shedd, although inexperienced, was elected the first speaker, and in the opinion of the majority was the most suitable and fit man for the place—with the exception of Howe—that had been mentioned.

The question in the minds of those who had no knowledge of the inside history of this fight, was why was Church Howe defeated when he was recognized by every one as by far the best man for the place. We are pained to say that this question is answered when we say that Church Howe was defeated by the most effective argument used in the absurd, viz: That Nemaha county did not want the speakership. Howe was maligned, traduced and falsified by the personal enemies of Church Howe, but such barefacedness had no avail. Driven to the last ditch, Howe's enemies became desperate, and swore they would defeat him at any cost and by any means. Then they resorted to the clincher. They whispered into the ears of those who had no better information, that the majority of the people of Nemaha were bitterly opposed to Howe for speaker, and that they thought some other county was more deserving of the speakership than Nemaha.

Ever since the fight the talk of Lincoln has been the disgrace and perjury displayed by Nemaha's representatives and lobbyists in this fight. In consequence of this unfairness, Church Howe to-day stands stronger, firmer and on a higher plane than he did one week ago, and if the election were to be held over to-morrow he would secure the nomination by a comfortable plurality majority. We, for one, and we have heard others express the same thing, are glad Howe is on the floor, for now he can watch Nemaha's interests to a better advantage, and do the people of the State a better service. Had Schick and Reymann done their duty, and given Howe their united support, the Nemaha delegation, as a delegation, would have had more influence, Schick would have received a better chairmanship than the insignificant one on constitutional amendments, and Reymann would have been recognized as a man of a little influence, at least.

In the Nemaha has also fared badly. Daily is given the chairmanship of the committee on Public Charities, and has been dubbed "Charity Bill," by members of the legislature. He is deprived of legislative influence, whereas, had he been more courteous, and better inclined towards Nemaha's welfare, he would have stood in a better light.

Tom Majors, who has had the name of being a shrewd politician, has surprised us who recognized him as such, by his actions in this fight, and prominent men and politicians, hitherto friendly to Majors, publicly assert that they will remember him in the future for such actions.

Speaker Schick, recognizing Howe's ability and the large following he has in the House, allowed him to select his own committee. He is chairman of Accounts and Expenditures, a member of Finance, Ways and Means, and Public Land. He is also a member of three most important committees of the House. It is said Howe refused to accept any position on the Railroad Committee.

My prediction is that Nemaha will be proud of Church Howe's record this session than of any of his previous records.

Mix. We learn that at a caucus of leading temperance men, at Lincoln last week, who have charge of the prohibition movement, it was agreed that the legislature should be asked to submit a constitutional amendment in about the following words:

SEC. 1. The manufacture and sale of all intoxicating liquors is forever prohibited within this State, except for medicinal, mechanical and scientific purposes; and the legislature shall enforce this provision by sufficient penalties.

SEC. 2. The manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors for the purposes excepted in the preceding section shall be regulated by law.

THE ADVERTISER is in favor of submitting the liquor question in the shape of constitutional amendment, so that it will come directly before the people for their discussions and votes. Regarding the above form of the amendment, it appears to be sufficiently concise and well guarded to be made efficacious. It is certainly sufficiently sweeping, embracing as it does all in, intoxicating liquors, that is, all liquors that will intoxicate. This embraces the products of the wine press, cider press, the still, and the brewery. If it does not mean to cover all this ground, and either is to be excepted, let the ex-
