

THE ADVERTISER

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1881.

The farmers of Nemaha county, next Saturday, at Sheridan, will effect the first permanent organization of a Farmers' Alliance in this county.

The Atchison Globe says the A. & N. railroad managers are thinking of building a track from Humboldt to the new coal mines, seven miles west.

The Sheridan Post, we notice, is still running Schick for Speaker. That paper's racket for Schick makes us think of a tin rattle tied to a mouse's tail.

WANTED—A man and wife to live on my farm. For particulars, inquire at farm, 3 miles southwest of Brownville—1 mile south of Mt. Zion church.

Married, at the residence of the bride's parents, in this city, by the Rev. E. J. Willis, Mr. Joseph Penney to Miss Ida, daughter of Mr. John Sedoras, on Thursday, January 31st, 1881.

The Omaha Bee lies in saying that "Church Howe thrust himself forward on the platform," at the VanWyck reception. Mr. Howe was there, and held a distinguished position on the platform, by special invitation from the new senator, and the committee of arrangements. Rosewater, we are informed, was a self-invited spectator.

The Omaha Bee and Lincoln Globe would make their readers believe that they were originally for Gen. Van Wyck, and were the direct means of his election, when the truth is they neither said a word in his favor nor believed in his election. The very last of their efforts was calculated to weaken his chances, by declaring that he was to be abandoned at a certain time by his lieutenants, for some other man. The Bee, nor the Globe, at any time, called on the members to rally around that "able anti-monopolist, Gen. Van Wyck," and the discovery that he is such a man was made after his election. Those papers are therefore relieved of any responsibility for what Senator VanWyck may do, or may not do, and also from the arduous duties of dictating to him any line of policy. Mr. Rosewater and Mr. Eaton, you can look on, however, and swear just as much as you please.

Newton and Schuttler wagons, Spring and Platform wagons, stock and chain pumps, for sale by David Campbell.

Our county readers doubtless desire to know what sort of man he is just chosen to represent Nebraska in the United States Senate. By a perusal of our columns this week they will find a good deal about him. The biographical sketch will impress them favorably, and his own words, uttered at his reception, it will be observed, are full of patriotic meaning, significant of the policy he will favor toward the State, the people and their interests. "Believing that the anatomy of the body politic," says Mr. VanWyck, "is like the human body—no limb can be injured without a shock to the entire body." In other words, all interests shall be served, fostered and nourished—the farmer's, the railroad's, the laborer's and the capitalist's, the mechanic's and the commercial man's. Being members of one common body, all must be kept healthy, and no one must expect to be exalted at the expense or injury of another, and meet the approbation of our new Senator. And it is also gratifying that he tells the people that he will step from the Senate chamber of his adopted State into the Senate chamber of the Nation without "entangling alliances."

Brownville Library and Reading Room. The officers, directors, card members, and all others interested, are requested to meet at the association room on Thursday evening, February 3d, at 7:30 o'clock, on business of importance.

The attempt to bribe Mr. Schick into the ranks of the monopolists, by the promise of a good committee, etc.—Lincoln Globe.

Now, put that item with the following, also from the Globe, 27th ult: The Paddock men were, with a few honorable exceptions, anxious to serve the U. P. R. R. Company. They only seemed to serve this corporation for the rewards it is accustomed to give.

Now, consider both the above items with the fact that Mr. Schick voted for Paddock, first, last and all the time; and it will at once be seen that Mr. Schick's first move was "into the ranks of the monopolists," where he settled himself, went into a comfortable snore, and there remained, even refusing to go with the anti-monopolists, after he knew they could and would elect VanWyck. That is, he must have known what was going on, if he waked up in time. Why Mr. Schick stayed with Paddock and the U. P. with such pertinacity, was, perhaps, "for the rewards it is accustomed to give," or perhaps he was wrapped in somnambulic leaf-land accumulating oblivion. If we ever find out, as we have a hope to do now, which reason it was that Schick tied up so closely with the monopolists, we will be pleased to gratify the curiosity of "our constituents" on that subject by telling them. Our remarks, it will be observed, are based upon the logic of the Globe—Schick's organ.

Anyone wishing to buy an outfit for housekeeping can save money by buying of Stevenson & Cross, as they keep everything in that line.

An Item of Appropriation. In selling of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, the Republicans, Hudson, N. Y., in its Washington issue: "It seems to be generally understood that an especial appropriation will be made for the purchase, for the use of the members of Senate and House, of Warner's Safe Pills and Warner's Safe Bitters."

We had the pleasure of meeting Elder B. C. Barrow, State Evangelist of the Christian Church, resident at Tecumseh. The Elder preached several sermons in this city, and Sunday at Nemaha City.

It is easier to mention those who didn't go up Thursday night to the Van Wyck reception than those who went. The Hon. Wm. Daily and the Hon. T. L. Schick, we noticed, were conspicuously absent.

Mr. Hildebrand, agent for the Lincoln Globe was in the city last Saturday in the interest of that paper. Mr. H. is himself a gentleman, but we think he found that he was whooping it up for the wrong paper for this corner of our moral vineyard.

Died in Lincoln, Jan. 25th, and buried in Nebraska City cemetery, Jan. 27th, Mr. George W. Dorsey, Receiver of the government land office at Bloomington, Neb., in the 48th year of his age. The deceased was well known by the old settlers of Brownville, and by them universally esteemed.

LONDON.

Everybody is wishing for warmer weather; yet it comes not.

Dr. McGrew has returned from Lincoln, and is very busy visiting the sick.

Florence Locke is very sick, with hemorrhage from the lungs. Miss L. has been teaching school in London this winter.

Mr. James Coulter has sold his place here to Alex. McKinney, and bought a farm a few miles west of here, onto which he intends to move soon. Sorry to lose, as neighbors, this good family.

Charlie Sykes has been very sick with diphtheria, but is now able to be out again.

Rose Harding is now sick with diphtheria.

Amid the chaos of philosophical thought and confusion of religious ideas, one certain truth is evolved—character decides destiny. Let us, then, strive for a beautiful and lofty character.

Try to suppress the publication of infidel books by legal enactments? Are we back in the "dark ages," or in the cloister of the nineteenth century? Are Christians losing faith in the power of the gospel of Christ, and going to run the Inquisition again? Don't be alarmed, friend, truth will ever abide, while error will vanish away, for it contains the elements of its own destruction. Equally mistaken and benighted are the infidels who seek to suppress the circulation of the Bible. Away with a persecuting spirit, even with the erring. Persecution is of the devil, and he generally pays well his agents, in such means as he has to command, but then the devil is poor, anyway. Don't work for him in the way of trying to suppress the expression of thought. Truth and error, right and wrong, good and evil, are strangely mixed up, and their fine spun threads cross in divers ways—each man and woman weaving threads in this web. Don't unravel their work. By and by, when the web is completed, each will see the works of hand in the pattern he has wrought. It will be a coat of many colors," yet it will be a family garment. Don't let us hinder our brothers and sisters in working out their destiny, but try and assist each other, so this robe of human destiny may be fair to look upon. I guess it will be all right at last.

Closing out of winter goods at cost as we wish to make room for our new spring stock. Call and take advantage of the low prices offered by McGee & Moore.

SHERIDAN.

VanWyck.

Snow and frozen ground until the 18th of February. At least so says the Canadian prophet.

Representative Schick paid Sheridan a short visit during the recess of the legislature.

Isaac Green and his better half, having, by mutual consent, dissolved partnership, Isaac has sold his possessions in Sheridan, and intends to put himself on the other side of the Rocky Mountains.

Mr. George Reynolds has sold his farm to Mr. Hinelein and bought Mr. Reed's farm, northwest of town.

Mr. Joseph Wyrick informs us that he saw a load of grade stakes going west, as he came in from Johnson, Saturday night. The road will certainly be completed to the Pacific before snow flies.

Mr. James Noble starts Tuesday for Republican city, where he will doubtless locate. Mr. N. is a first class citizen, and we regret to lose him.

One day last week several men, in a sleigh, drove down to the railroad bridge across the Nemaha, on the old B. Ft. K. & P. grade, and hauled some of the large timbers, and hauled them away. We are informed that these men represent themselves engineers in the employ of the B. & M. R. R.

How to Make Soap for a Cent a Pound. Shave into small pieces five bars of Dobbin's Electric Soap, and put in three quart water, until the soap is thoroughly dissolved, so that upon straining through a sieve nothing remains, add to the solution or "suds" three gallons of cold water; stir briskly for several minutes to mix, and set it away to cool. Though it will look like nothing but soap-suds while warm, a chemical reaction will take place, and in twenty-four hours time will develop forty or fifty pounds of pure and excellent toilet soap, costing less than one cent a pound, and as good as many of the adulterated compounds sold, and sold at seven to ten cents a pound. How long would it take for any other soap used the same to make ten cents worth of soap? See it if it can be done with "Domestic" Electric Soap. Sold by all druggists.

See what the druggists say about Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup. "It never fails to cure the worst case of cough or cold promptly and effectually." Price only 25 and 50 cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

George Eliot's Romola.

A timely interest is given, by the death of the author, to the new edition of her masterpiece, "Romola," just issued by the American Book Exchange, New York. It shows her work at its best and strongest, and at the same time gives the reader the opportunity to acquire a lasting familiarity with the scene and society of medieval Italy. It is one of the few really great historical novels of the world. It is issued in handy and beautiful form, extra cloth binding, simple and elegant and tasteful in design, and like the other issues of the "Literary Revolution" is one of a series, viz. 25 cents. It is one of a series intended to form a library of classic fiction, which will in time represent the best characters and work of each of the great authors who have ever lived. It is the work of fiction. Life is so short and so full of pain that the only pleasure of life is in the work of the hand. It is the work of the hand that is beautiful and valuable to the people. Not to be acquainted with them is to be ignorant of much that is most important and most interesting in the history of nations and of the progress of civilization. It is to be deprived of the most fruitful and profitable sources of enjoyment. Among those issued or nearly ready are Scott's "Ivanhoe," Bulwer's "Pompeii," Irving's "Knickerbocker," Cooper's "Moby Dick," "Tom Brown at Rugby," "Adventures of Don Quixote" and "Linda and a Romance of Ancient Egypt." Full catalogues of standard publications will be sent on request, by the American Book Exchange, Tribune Building, New York.

If, after a fair trial, you are not cured of your chronic debility, or any disease of the kidneys, by using Prof. Guillet's French Kidney Pad, then the druggist from whom you bought will refund the money paid.

Very Droll to Think of. If not above being taught by a man, use Dobbin's Electric Soap next wash day. Used without any scrubber or rubbing board, and used differently from any other soap or powder. It seems very droll to think of a quiet, orderly two hours' light work on small day, with no heat and no steam, or wash of the washing through the house instead of a long day's hard work; but hundreds of thousands of women from Nova Scotia to Texas have proved for themselves that this is done by using Dobbin's Electric Soap. Don't buy it, however, if too set in your ways to use it according to directions, that are as simple as to see almost ridiculous and so easy that a girl of 12 years can do a large wash without being tired. It positively will not injure the finest fabric, has been before the public for fifteen years, and its sale doubles every year. If your grocer has not got it, he will get it, as wholesalers keep J. L. Campbell, sole agent, Howard, Neb. I. L. CHASBON & Co., Philadelphia.

Gov. Furnas for Commissioner of Agriculture.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture, the Nebraska State Horticulture Society, and State Farmers' Alliance, at three recent meetings in Lincoln:

WHEREAS, it has become an accepted fact that representative men in the western and eastern states—as also state and county agricultural societies and agricultural and horticultural papers, influenced by the eminent fitness of ex-Gov. Robert Furnas, for the office of commissioner of agriculture, are of their own volition, bringing his name prominently before the country for that office; and

WHEREAS, the West is vitally interested in having at the head of the agricultural bureau a practical man, who is thoroughly familiar with its needs, adaptability, resources and progress; and

WHEREAS, Gov. Furnas, having resided in the west all his life, and for the past twenty-five years in Nebraska, and for over twenty years has been an active and valuable member of this board, and could bring to the bureau a ripe experience such as few men possess, not only as a scientific and practical agriculturist and horticulturist, but as a gentleman of catholic views, and familiar with the necessities of the people and the growing wants of the country; therefore Resolved, By the State Boards of Agriculture, Horticulture for the state of Nebraska, at this its annual meeting, that ex-Gov. Robert W. Furnas, to an extraordinary degree, combines all the qualifications for commissioner of agriculture, and his appointment would be a just tribute to well-deserved merit.

Resolved, That this board do most earnestly unite with the efforts now being made by the state and county boards of our sister states, in recommending to the next elected president of Gov. Furnas for the office of commissioner of agriculture.

Resolved, That the national reputation acquired by Gov. Furnas as a confederally occupying a place in the front ranks of the world in its agricultural and pomological researches and practical experiences, cannot fail to recommend him to the president as a man worthy of the appointment, an appointment which cannot fail to be well received throughout the entire country.

Resolved, That in private, social and public life, Robert W. Furnas has established for himself an irreproachable character, and won the admiration and friendship of all classes of people.

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be forwarded by the secretary of this board to our senators and representatives in congress, with the request that they place them before the president, and use all efforts to their ability to secure for Gov. Furnas the appointment of commissioner of agriculture.

The following, on the same subject, we clip from the Rural World, St. Louis Mo., edited by ex-Lieut. Geo. Colman of that State; and who, politically, is a Democrat:

The Rural World takes pleasure in bearing testimony to the high character and excellent qualifications of Gov. Furnas for this important position. Born on a farm; loving agriculture and horticulture with the devotion that a patriot loves his country; following this pursuit on account of his innate love for it—he would bring to the position a devotion, an energy, an ability, that few men in the nation possess. A gentleman of high culture, courteous manners, fine administrative ability, he would obtain the confidence of the members of Congress and command a respect that few commissioners have ever been able to gain.

But his best qualification is that he is an eminently practical man, and we have a large fund of common sense, perfectly balanced in his mental organization, possessing a sound judgment and fully appreciating the high responsibilities of the office. Above all, he is in full sympathy with the great industrial classes of the nation, and would give his heart and brain to the work of placing the Agricultural Department of our government in a higher position for usefulness than it has heretofore occupied.

These remarks are made without the knowledge of Gov. Furnas, and are called out on seeing that his name is mentioned for the office. We feel confident that all who know him will say as we do, that no better appointment could be made.

In addition to these, we are permitted to read other testimonials and recommendations tendered the Governor: A memorial signed by the members of the present legislature, State, and Federal officials, United States Supreme and District Judges, Faculty and Regents of the State University, State Normal School, together with special letters and resolutions from representative agricultural and horticulture gentleman of national repute, state and county associations, representing seven or eight other States than Nebraska.

Quite a number of farmers having met, according to call, on Saturday, January 29th, they proceeded to a temporary organization by elect- Alexander McKinney chairman and Geo. S. McGrew secretary.

Judge Peery being called upon, read the proceedings of the State Alliance, and spoke in regard to the organization of such an association in this county, believing it to be to the interest of every farmer to unite with such an organization, for the purpose of protecting themselves in their occupation.

Mr. J. C. Deuser, being called, made appropriate remarks, favorable to the cause, believing that where there is union there is strength.

Farmers J. W. Brush, George Crow, Alex. McKinney, Charles Campbell, Richard Kesterson, and others, spoke in behalf of organization.

Geo. S. McGrew offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the farmers of Nemaha county should organize a Farmers' Alliance, or Alliances.

Dr. S. W. McGrew offered the following:

Chancellor Fairfield, a few evenings ago, delivered his excellent lecture on temperance, in the city of Omaha; and as a matter of course, the lecture and lecturer are alike the subjects and the occasion for an elaborate display of clean cut, cold blooded malice by the Omaha Republican. Mr. Brooks asserts much but proves nothing. For instance he asserts that the address "lacked the first elements of scholarship"—that it "utterly misrepresented and falsified the philosophy of government," that "it abounded in false reasoning," that it was "the vicious ranting of a demagogue," that he denounced a large class of business men as criminals, that "he came to arraign the manufacturers and vendors of alcoholic liquors as worse than counterfeiters, forgers, horse thieves and highway robbers; that "he, in effect, cast upon those who kneel at the altar of communion, and partake of the wine, the reproach of complicity with the evil one," that he is "a communistic demagogue in the liver of heaven." But the following quotation defining what the Chancellor meant to help effect by his attack on distillers, grogshops and their keepers, opens a window and throws a flood of light upon the animus of Mr. Brook's unreasonable and illtempered tirade upon the Chancellor. Brooks says, "if the Chancellor's argument means anything it is the disruption of the social compact; it means the destruction of personal rights; it means a trampling under foot of the laws of property," etc. We have not time now to reason from the Republican's assertions and overthrow his implied positions—which any intelligent man or woman can do, if not in a "scholarly" manner, by their innate sense of right and broad common sense. Such an effusion as this of the Republican, needs little answering, however. It does not the least harm to the Chancellor or the cause of temperance. The writer rants himself out of breath and his cause fails by the exerting exercise of striking heavy blows and missing the mark every time. Mr. Brooks evidently does not intend to effect anything more with temperance man than to excite their disgust, and seeks only the applause of the makers, sellers, and drinkers of whisky and beer. He is welcome to the plaudits of such. There is not a single humanitarian, or christian man or woman in all this commonwealth, who cares to deprive him of that boon so ingloriously achieved or to share it with him. Chancellor Fairfield has the approbation of those people, and the prayers of every mother who has a son susceptible of being a drunkard. Mr. Brooks may declare that Chancellor Fairfield is a demagogue, hypocrite, wolf in sheep's clothing, and so on; but the Chancellor now has decidedly the advantage in the company he keeps. Mr. Brooks may assert that the Chancellor's lecture is unscholarly, illogical, full of faults and inconsistencies; yet there are hundreds just as able to pass judgement upon literary and forensic display as Mr. Brooks, who say the Chancellor's lecture is more convincing than any temperance lecture they have ever heard. And thus are we convinced, in connection with the well known personal hatred of Mr. Brooks toward the Chancellor, that his effort to write down the lecture is an abortion.
