AFTER THE BUHIAL.

BY JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL. Yes, Faith is a goodly anchor; When skies are sweet as a psalm-

At the bows it lolls so stalwart, In bluff, bread shouldered calm. And when over breakers to leeward The tattered surges are hurled. It may keep our head to the tempest, V. ith its grip on the base of the world.

Pat, after the shipwreck, tell me What help in its iron thews, : 1 ll true to the broken hawser, Deep down among seaweed and ooze?

In the breaking gulfs of sorrow, When the helpless feet stretch out And find in the deeps of darkness No footing so solid as doubt,

Then better one spar of memory, One broken plank of the past, That one human heart may cling to, Though hopeless of shore at last!

To the spirit its splendid cojectures, To the flesh its sweet dispair, Its tears o'er the the thin-worn locket With its anguish of deathless hair!

Immortal? I feel it and know it, Who doubts it of such as she! But that is the pang's very secret-Immortal, away from me!
