Some one gives the Inter Ocean the following directions for coloring black, and says it never fails to do good work: One box extract of logwood, 2 oz. blue vitriol; dissolve the extract in an iron kettle, also the vitriol in an other. Then wash the goods in strong soap suds, put them in the vitriol water for ten to fifteen minutes, then drain and put in the extract dye for fifteen minutes, then hang out and air. If not the color you want or like dip in both again until you get a good color. Hang out to air and dry, then wash in five or six strong suds, put in a kettle one-third skimmed milk and two-thirds water; let the goods come to a scalding hot boil, then wash in suds and rinse in hot water. The scalding in the milk and water keeps them from fading.

We make the following extract from a letter received from our old friend, Jonathan Higgins, now living at Nora, Nuckolls county, Nebraska: "Do not stop my paper; I cannot think of having it done—it is too much like severing relations with an old and time-honored friend. Its weekly visits are a source of much pleasure to myself and family, and when received from the office it is the first paper to be read, and is not allowed to be idle until all have read it. I have watched with great interest your course during the past winter, and while I have thought you over zealous at times, yet I must say that, in the main, you are right. With the kindest regards for you and all my old friends, I remain Yours, JONATHAN HIGGINS.

The lightning mail train one night last week met with quite an accident as it was making its run down from Nebraska City. As it came down the home stretch it was thrown from the track, and upward of 25 passengers might have been killed or wounded had they been aboard. As it was, however, nobody was hurt but the conductor, who had his elbow seriously peeled. It appears that the catastrophe was caused by a stick of wood being placed on the track by some fiend in human shape, but whether for plunder or pure devilment will probably never be known. The lone conductor saw no one, and after rubbing his bruises and setting his car back on the track, he pumped away unmolested down to town.

Vindication. PLEASANT HILL, NEB., April 9th. To the editor of The Advertiser:

Please allow me a small space in your valuable paper to vindicate my good name. There is a report now in circulation that I went to Ohio and begged money for the benefit of the grasshopper sufferers, and on my return home purchased cattle with the money and appropriated them to my own use. I now say, without fear of contradiction, that whosoever has made said statement is an infamous liar, villain and knave. I further state that I never received as much as a mustard seed from any of the donations made for the benefit of the grasshopper sufferers of Nebraska. JOSEPH CURTIS.

STATE NEWS.

At Blair, cows are dying of "mad itch." Lincoln voted in favor of a street railway proposition. The Democrats of Fremont elected their entire ticket. Nearly one hundred women voted in Lincoln the other day. The K. of P's, of Humboldt gave a ball last Monday evening. A Mrs. Tucker, of Beatrice, recently skipped with a brakeman. The Christian denomination at Waterloo are building a $2,900 church. Covington, opposite Sioux City, was submerged in water, so that everybody had to leave town. The women of Aurora turned out en masse on election day, and a temperance board was elected. Vermillion, above Sioux City, was a good sized town, but the water and ice have nearly annihilated it. Inseall, the Republican candidate for Mayor of Omaha, came near being "skunked" by Boyd, his Democratic opponent. Buckskin Bill, Valley county, recently shot and killed a man named Braden, for jumping his claim. B. B. is in jail. A son of David Mooney, at Beaver City, was recently thrown from his pony onto a barbed wire fence and seriously lacerated. The Falls City Journal of last week speaks of a gentleman from Harlan county being there soliciting aid for the destitute of his county. In Lincoln, J. B. Wright, regular Republican nominee was elected over O. P. Mason, independent, by 314 majority. The whole Republican ticket was elected. Michael Cunningham and Nicholas Keenan, U. P. employes, were drowned in the river at Omaha Thursday last. The former had a wife and three children. Frank Thorn, a brakeman on the U. P. recently had one of his feet caught under the wheel of a car, injuring it so badly that a part of it had to be amputated. State Journal: Hon. H. C. Wells, of Franklin county, has been appointed superintendent of the Agricultural farm, and has entered upon the discharge of his duties. The ice gorge below Yankton broke on the 7th. The lower floor of 200 buildings in lower Yankton was from Monday to Thursday from two to three feet under water. The society styling itself "Earnest Worker," of Omaha, will give an "egg sociable" on the Friday evening preceding Easter Sunday, when eggs will be served in every conceivable shape. In Lincoln they had a ticket gotten up by the soreheads, Democrats, rag-tag-and-bob-tails, in opposition to the Republican ticket. That's the ticket that was scooped. The Globe supported that ticket, of course. A Mrs. C. A. Evans, of Omaha, one day last week presented her husband with a litter of four babes. All perfectly formed—two boys and two girls. Their weight was about 3 1/2 lbs. each. One of them has since died. David Mooney has already sold 400,000 young cottonwoods in Furnas county. Those are from the nurseries of R. W. Furnas, of Brownville. Parties desiring any thing in the nursery line will do well to make a note of this.—Beaver City Times. The Tidal Wave at York, a green-back paper, just before expiring, turned its column rules and dashes, and presented as mournful aspect as possible over the death of the party whose principles it advocated but which failed to give it succor. We hope the report is true that Judge Mason was placed on the recent mongrel ticket of Lincoln without his prior knowledge, against his will, and that his sympathy and support were with the Republican ticket. It would be to the Judge's glory were such the facts. The Hastings Nebraskan says: In corresponding with printers, we have found a number of weak-backed fellows, who could not work a hand press. But Miss Field, Regent Field's daughter, works off the Literary Notes, on a large Washington hand press—and she does it more than well. Score one for women's rights, and for Miss Field. Kearney Press: Hon. C. J. Dilworth, Attorney General, was in Kearney Monday morning, just from his ranch, and from him we learned that about 3,000 hides had been bought and shipped from Plum Creek. These hides were taken from cattle that perished during the winter. It is General Dilworth's opinion that the loss will be from 40 to 50 percent.
