STATE NEWS.

— Tecumseh barely avoided a conflagration last week—Friendelle Telegraph.

But she didn't avoid saloons, about as bad.

— James Davis, a colored man employed at the Cincinnati House, Neb. City, is now in jail for stealing the satchel of a guest.

— Falls City Journal: The President should telegraph N. K. Griggs, Consul to Chemnitz, Saxony, to come home at once. Some terrible malady has attacked him, judging by the poetry he writes.

— For the boys: Mr. W. C. B. Allen, of Omaha offers a special premium of a thoroughbred short horn bull or heifer—optional with the winner—for the Nebraska boy who shall cultivate and produce the most corn on one acre of ground in the season of 1881. Now, boys, pitch in.

— Lincoln Globe: Nebraska now has nearly three hundred Farmer's Alliance clubs and before fall there will be three hundred more. It is more than probable that they will make their influence felt by the time the election of 1882 rolls around.

— Pawnee elected the temperance ticket.

— The Central City Courier, which we have always regarded as one amongst the best of our state exchanges, comes to us enlarged and in the form of an octavo, this improvement denotes enterprise on the part of the publishers and good sense for the people of Merrick county in properly sustaining a good paper.

— Adams county fair comes off first week in September.

— Pawnee Enterprise: Blue Springs voted $5,000 bonds to the U. P. railroad to move their road to the side of the river on which the village stands and build a depot there.

— Prohibition carried in Kearney.

— Republican City will have a grain elevator erected this summer.

— Western Nebraska paper speaks of busy farmers sowing wheat.

— Plattsmouth elected a Democratic mayor and council.

— J. O. Talmage, a school teacher of Alexandria, Neb., was run over by a train of cars near Atlantic, Iowa, 15th inst. It is thought that he purposely put himself in the way of the cars.

— The Seward Blade gives one A. G. Hall a free notice as a "dead beat," who after attempting to steal the money of a negro woman skipped the town, leaving his creditors in the lurch.

The Flooded Region.

Omaha Republican.

Capt. J. C. McVay, president of the First National bank of Yankton and largely interested in the Coulson line of steamers, was in the city yesterday on his way to St. Louis to bring up two steamers, the Dakota and Montana, to take the place of boats that were wrecked by the ice at Yankton.

Capt. McVay, in an interview with a Republican reporter, gave a thrilling account of the situation in the flooded region. He came from Yankton to Vermillion, forty or fifty miles, in a yawl boat with a crew of men, and from Vermillion he came to Sioux City by sleigh over eighteen inches of snow nearly all the way, arriving at Sioux City on Friday. The immense ice gorge below Yankton remains, blocking up the river channel for miles and miles and causing the river to flow around it and over the bottoms, and the ice will remain there until thawed out by the summer sun in June, so great is its extent, solidity and depth. The ice is piled up all over the flooded region from ten to twenty feet deep, covering farms and every thing, and it will not melt in time for them to plant their crops this spring. All their horses, cattle, farm implements, etc., have been swept away, and they escaped with nothing except the clothes they had on. At Meckling there are 72 people in an elevator, with only three days' rations, and relief parties cannot get to them, the ice being blocked up around them to such an extent as to form a prison. There are between 6,000 and 7,000 that have been rendered homeless in Dakota and Northern Nebraska, and the greater number of them are being taken care of at Yankton, where all the houses have been thrown open for their reception, and the ladies are organizing relief societies and furnishing them with food and clothing. They are being brought in every day from the submerged districts in boats, managed by relief parties. They are being landed on the bluffs, and conveyed to Yankton in wagons.

The adventures of many of the rescued parties are of the most thrilling character. All the spare boats belonging to the steamers at Yankton are being used in the rescue of the sufferers. Ninety-two houses were swept away from Vermillion; Elk Point was submerged, but the inhabitants are now all returning from Portlandville, whither they fled on a railroad train. Green Island, a Nebraska town of about 100 population, opposite Yankton, was entirely wiped out.

The probability is that the channel of the river will be changed so as to leave a portion of Dakota in Nebraska, owing to the ice gorge remaining so long. It is one vast pile of immense blocks of ice.

Capt. McVay had photographs taken of the wrecked steamers, which were crowded out of the water and loaded high on top of immense piles of ice. No one can form any adequate idea of the scenes that took place during the flood and of what yet remains to be seen in the flooded region.

Given up by Doctors.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?" "Assure you it's true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!" "Well—a day! That is remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George—I know hops are good."

The Revised New Testament, Official Edition.

The University Presses of England, the official printers of the Revised New Testament have consented to issue for the American market very low priced editions. Each copy will bear the certificate of the revisers as a guarantee of its correctness. The cheapest edition will be in Nonparell type, 32mo, and will be retailed at 15 cents, paper bound, and 20 cents, cloth bound. The next cheapest edition will be in Brevier type, and will be sold at 50 cents, cloth bound. The books will be beautifully printed, as are all of the Bibles of the University Presses. May 17th has been fixed as the day of issue in both countries. These cheap editions will be sold by I. K. FUNK & CO., New York.

The Companion to the Revised New Testament.

Explaining the reasons for the changes made on the Authorized Version, by Alex. Roberts, D.D., member of the English Revision Committee—will be issued in cheap form, through an arrangement with the English publishers, by I. K. FUNK & CO., New York. The American edition will have, bound in the same volume, a second book now preparing by a member of the American Committee of Revision, who has been connected with the work from the beginning, and who is acquainted with all the facts. This second book will be an explanation of the Appendix to the Revised New Testament. It may not be generally known that, by an arrangement between the two Committees of revision, the changes suggested by the American Committee, but which were not finally adopted by the English are to be published as an appendix to the Revised New Testament. The Companion volume will be then an explanation of all the changes thought advisable by either committee. This book will be indispensable to right understanding of the revision. To correct any misapprehension, it is well to add that by far the greatest part of the changes suggested by the American Committee were adopted by the English Committee. This cheap edition of the combined books, although authorized and copyrighted, will be sold for 25 cents. Those desiring it, on the day of issue are requested to forward their orders at once to the publishers.
