MANHOOD

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure of Spermatorrhea or seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, etc.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post-paid, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. We have also a sure cure for Tape Worm. Address

NEBRASKA ADVERTISER

The exposition buildings at Kansas City were burned last week while the fair was in progress.

Snow fell Friday last along the Rock Island road in Iowa, and at Stewart, Avoca, and Algona, at midnight snow was four to five inches deep.

Speaking of heretics, it is said that Bishop Foster of the M. E. church, who is now presiding over the Nebraska conference at York, does not believe in the resurrection of the body. —State Journal.

Johnson county's whisky bill seems to be growing. The people are now paying up a murder case caused by saloons; and now they have another on hand which will prove no trifling matter.

In behalf of a class of Democrats in Nebraska who have no organ, we would desire to inform the Omaha Herald that when the democrats of this State adopt a free whisky platform the respectability of the party will march out of it. —State Journal.

Real live business men, in addition to those already here, is what this town needs. —Post.

And it still more needs a paper whose editors have some reputation for truth and a little sense.

The Americans in London backed Lorillard's horse Iroquois at the recent St. Leger race, and just filled their pockets with English money. It was a soft game, 3 to 1 against the American; the Johnny's crowding the bets and the Yankee boys promptly accommodating them.

Church Howe has been furnished a plat of the new M. P. Depot. —Post.

The "new Depot." It's essential to define that it is the new one, as there are so many old depots standing around there you know; and the thing wouldn't be at all impressive if not spelled with a big "D."

Court set at Brownville Tuesday. Two more terms will probably relieve that burg of this annoyance. —Post.

Is the idiotic Post authorized to count Sheridan's chickens so long before they are hatched. Premature boasting by hairbrained braggarts have ruined many a cause. A Sheridan man said to us recently "those editors are always slopping over—and do the town about as much harm as good." That's the way every sensible man out there thinks, from what we hear.

The Lincoln Journal, of the 11th inst, records another sad story of a victim of alcohol. Ed. E. Chandler, a jeweler, becoming crazed by a protracted spree wandered off to Palmyra, and near that town threw himself on the track in front of a train of cars and was killed. His wife, who left him because he had become a confirmed inebriate and a worthless husband, lives in Logansport, Ind. And so the long list of the fallen by the mercenary saloon keeper lengthens day by day. The Journal commenting upon the fate of poor Chandler, very truly remarks: "Say ye who read, this man brought himself to death by his own misconduct, by the vice of drunkenness. Be it so. There is evil in the world, and woe unto them by whom the evil comes."

D. S. Hacker was chosen on the grand jury and is in the "village." —Post.

The above item is of no interest to our local readers except the intended insult it shows. And Taggart is here every few days coaxing and boring the lives out of the business men of the "village" for a little lift to help him out on the bread and butter question. And how they do whoop it up to the "village" when they are not watched. We saw a bill the other day made out against a business man in Brownville in which the Post attempted a most preposterous swindle. Their bill demanded ten dollars for an advertisement which THE ADVERTISER for the same—precisely the same as to size and time of insertion—charges only four dollars, and in accordance, too, with its full rates. Such are the kind of thieves that cry "stop thief."

A Letter From Gov. Furnas.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 11, 1881.
Editor Advertiser.

As you are aware, I left Brownville on the 29th of last month, on very short notice, hastily, and with rather vague impression as to where I was going and what for, other than that the then point of destination was San Francisco.

At Omaha I joined my associate on the commission, Judge T. C. Jones, of Ohio—by the way, an exceedingly pleasant gentleman, and traveling companion. Leaving Omaha on the 30th we made quick time from that point to San Francisco. Passing through the fertile valley of our own Platte, we climbed, in due time, the Sherman Summit of the mountains, eight thousand two hundred feet "up in the world." Then on over Laramie Plains, through Rocky Mountains and down Echo and Webber canyons to Ogden, the terminus of U. P. R. R. From there by the C. P. R. R. along the great Humboldt valley, over Sierras, into Sacramento Valley, and across the Bay into the city of magnificent buildings—San Francisco.

Here we spent a day or two, in conference and acquaintance making. The Southern California Horticultural Fair being held here, from the fifth to the tenth, I was delegated to take in that, and here I am, five hundred miles south of San Francisco, and over twenty-five hundred miles from Brownville.

Los Angeles, the City of Angels, or rather the Angel's City, while old, is yet very new, comparatively speaking. On Monday last—September 5th—its first centennial celebration was held. It is an old Spanish Catholic town, or mission. Until within the decade just closed it was but little else. Since the completion of the Southern Pacific R. R. through the town and valley, a new impetus was given; and now we find a city with twenty thousand inhabitants. American population, enterprise and business predominating. Being a semi-tropical region, the climate is fine and products abundant. In fact I am surprised at the character and yield of products in and about this locality. In addition to the tropical products—oranges, lemons, figs, limes, bananas, pomegranates, olives, and flowers without end, corn wheat, oats, barley, apples, peaches, and our varieties grapes are grown in great abundance. I saw at the fair here specimens of corn yielding one hundred and thirty bushels to the acre! Potatoes—Early Rose—weighing four pounds each, and yielding nine hundred bushels to the acre. Mangel beets, weighing forty-five pounds each! In these I was like Davy Crockett's coon—I just come down without being shot at.

The show of tropical fruits and products was fine—oranges, lemons, figs, dates, limes, olives, grapes, raisins, oils, wines, nuts, etc., ad libitum. Apples, peaches and plums could not be excelled. The finest specimens of Red June, White Winter Pearmain, Jonathan, and Rhode Island Greening apples I ever saw anywhere.

Here much is done without irrigation. Principally with, however. An Indiana colony at Pasadena, thirty miles distant from Los Angeles, presented a fine exhibit, wholly without irrigation, and carried off the first prize. It was under the management of a lady, Mrs. Carr, whose husband was formerly State Superintendent of Public Instruction for California.

I am so agreeably surrounded here that I forget, almost, that I am nearly three thousand miles from home. Yesterday Rev. Mr. Ellis, formerly of Brownville, called on me to my agreeable surprise. I spent the afternoon with the family, and to-day enjoyed the privilege of hearing one of those excellent sermons for which he has ever been characterized. He has been here for two years past. I find here too, old acquaintances and friends, Dr. Nidney, of my native county, and Marcus Eells, of Dayton. At Riverside, sixty miles from here, and where I go next, is S. C. Evans, President of an extensive land improvement company. He and I were school boys together in Troy, Ohio. So, it will be seen, I am quite at home.

Since here I have visited the most extensive and one of the oldest orange groves—orchards—in the State. One hundred and ten acres. Many of the trees were planted near fifty years ago, now yielding four thousand to five thousand oranges each a year. It is known as the Wolfskill orchard. Oranges by the hundred bushel rotting on the ground as our apples, in abundant seasons. His annual shipments average ten thousand boxes.

To-morrow I visit a thirty thousand acre farm near here—Ranch— Everything here is called a Ranch: Horse ranch, cattle ranch, hog ranch, bee ranch, grape ranch, orange ranch, and so on. On this ranch are twenty-five thousand sheep and other stock in proportion; six hundred acres in grapes, and four hundred more being planted. The object being a one thousand acre vineyard.

But I am already spinning out this penning beyond what you care to publish or your readers to peruse.

I return to San Francisco the last of this week, to attend the California State Fair at Sacramento, commencing on the 19th. For the present, our headquarters are at the "Baldwin," San Francisco.

Yours,
ROBT. W. FURNAS.

A national Dairy Fair will be held at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, sometime in November.

Four hundred Jews recently shipped for America, from Europe.

A London special says: "A great sensation was caused at Bristol by the discovery of a cargo of 6,000 tons of human bones being discharged there to the order of a local firm engaged in manufacturing manure. The bones were shipped from Rodosto, at Constantinople, and are supposed to be the remains principally of the defenders of Plevna.

The Pennsylvania and the Baltimore roads recently, by way of liveing up the railroad war, made a remarkable cut of the schedule rates to Baltimore Philadelphia and Washington, making the rate from Chicago to those points five dollars.

The Grand Jury of the District of Columbia adjourned till October without taking any action regarding star route cases.

The late train robbery near Independence, Mo., seems to have been a rather badly put up job, and such an one as the James boys would be ashamed of. A woman seems to have given the robbers all away, and several of them have been captured and jailed, and some of the property stolen on the train has been found by the officers. The names of some of the captured robbers are J. W. Brassfield, Clark, Chapman, Field.

W. W. Doyle, of Maryville, Mo., was recently arrested in St. Joe for selling a horse that did not belong to him.

Seth Coe was killed near Seneca Kas, last week by the caving of a sand bank.

At Newberry, Ohio, Benj. Beatty shot and it is thought mortally wounded Dr. J. F. Adams. B. suspected the doctor of being too intimate with Mrs. B.

this city has acquired under the management of J. G. Russell a popularity that it never had before. By the day it is only $1.50, yet its real substantial accommodations are first-class—comfortable rooms, good beds and excellent table fare with an agreeable landlord and landlady makes those headquarters a pleasant place for the average customer. Farmers, call and get your dinner for 35 cents.
