

USEFUL AND SUGGESTIVE.

Common plaster of Paris figures may be made to look like alabaster by simply dipping them into a strong solution of alum water.

A good mixture of grass for pasture is six pounds of timothy, twelve pounds of orchard grass, twelve pounds of blue grass, five pounds of yellow oat grass, five pounds of tall fescue, five pounds of red top and five pounds of meadow fescue. This gives a succession of feed, and makes a close sod. No one single grass will make a close, dense sod as a mixture will.

Brazilian Tea-Dish.—Take some slices of bread about half an inch thick, cut off all crust, steep the bread in a little milk; when soaked through cover each piece with beaten yolk of egg, and fry with butter a light brown; then arrange the slices on a hot plate, and lay on each piece a tolerably thick coating of powdered sugar and cinnamon well mingled.

A successful Boston florist gives the following as his method of starting slips of rare and tender plants. Underneath the usual layer of sand in which the slips are planted, and covering the bottom of the pot or box, he places a layer of oats, which, when soaked with moisture, exude a mucilaginous substance, acting as a stimulant and feeder to the tender roots of the slip. By this method he seldom fails to root his slips.

White Cake.—Five cups of flour, three cups of sugar, one and a half cups of butter, one cup of milk, eleven eggs (whites only), two teaspoonfuls of cream tartar, one teaspoonful of soda, half glass of rosewater. Cream the butter and sugar; beat the whites of the eggs to a froth; add a little at a time, beating well; add milk with soda dissolved in it; then flour with the cream tartar well mixed in it; then rosewater, or any other flavoring you prefer.

Mangoes.—Cut a small piece from the end of a green musk melon, remove the seeds and mix them with mustard seed and shred garlic; stuff the melon full and replace the cut piece. Bind it up with pack thread. Boil vinegar with pepper, salt, ginger and all the sweet spices, pour it boiling hot over the mangoes drying four successive days, and on the last add to it flour of mustard and scraped horse radish. Cover the mangoes well with this vinegar. Large cucumbers may be made into mangoes if desired.

Tomato Preserves.—Nice tomato preserves can be made in the following manner. Select smooth, ripe tomatoes, scald and remove the skins and the hard part near the stem. Cut a gash in each lobe, and with the thumb remove the seeds. Rinse well in cold water, which will remove any stray seeds and the slime. To every pound of fruit thus prepared, allow half a pound of sugar, cook until clear, and just before taking from the fire add lemon cut in thin slices, in the proportion of about one lemon to every pound of fruit. Keep in air tight jars the same as other fruit.

The Rural New-Yorker expresses astonishment that any one whose business it is to plow should not know how to attach a chain for the purpose of covering weeds. But as many do not, it gives the following explanation of the process: The chain is looped around the plow beam at the standard. It is made to trail so that it is just in advance of the falling furrow and barely escapes being covered. The other end is fastened to the double tree; or it may be fastened to a bar bolted to the beam (near the forward end) and braced. This, it adds, should be known by every one who handles a plow.

The Fight Against Chinch Bugs.

The damage done to wheat fields during the current season by chinch bugs has been so widespread and of such a serious nature as to necessitate concerted action among farmers in localities afflicted by this pest. Farmers' clubs are discussing ways and means of prevention, and in several neighborhoods cultivators have pledged themselves to abandon wheat culture until such time as the pest will have been subdued.

Experience appears to have proven that grain on new soil is comparatively exempt from the ravages of the chinch bugs; also that any soil fed liberally with fertilizers rich in nitrogen is liable to escape. Diversified farming is generally considered to be the sovereign remedy. To make this remedy, as indeed any other, effective, farmers must work in concert over the section of country pervaded by these pests.

As is well known, moisture has a tendency to destroy chinch bugs, and when once a field is overrun, irrigation is the only known means of saving the growing crop. Dry weather being favorable to these pests, there exists an unusual demand for early and concerted action during the fall of 1881 among farmers whose crops have been visited by chinch bugs. Where irrigation is impossible, burning over the infested fields is advised by scientists who have investigated the matter; also, carrying the fiery ordeal into all hiding-places in and about the fields. Small areas that cannot for any reason with safety be subjected to fire should be thoroughly and repeatedly drenched with water. Flooding the land for spring crops during the autumn and rolling it repeatedly after seeding is thought to possess advantages. Clean culture, bringing up of old lands by a generous use of proper fertilizers and discarding grain crops for a time, if adopted as a rule, will not only very materially diminish the army of chinch bugs now abroad throughout the country, but diminish the number of other injurious insects against which farmers have to contend.—N. Y. World.

A Clever Capture.

By the patience and astuteness of a policeman in Paris, a band of very dangerous thieves has just been broken up. The gang consisted of eleven men and three women, the former being attired in the uniform of commissionaires or porters belonging to the Messageries, by which means they were enabled to stand about the streets in communication with each other without exciting suspicion. Their operations were carried on in the business streets, such as the Rue des Jeuneurs and the Rue de Sentier. During the last few weeks many complaints have been made of robberies from clerks and others engaged in carrying goods. The police agent in question, suspecting the plot, and noticing certain signs of recognition between the men and women, caused a cart with some bales of merchandise in it to be driven to a particular house; and, while the driver went in for orders, he noticed that the pretended porters closed up and each of them abstracted a parcel, while the women kept watch. The latter were at once arrested, so that they could not give an alarm, and the thieves were followed to a wine shop and taken red-handed. In their lodgings were found large quantities of goods which had been thus abstracted.

Consumption Cured—Read this Letter from Mr. Ittick, of La Porte, Ind.

DR. SCHENCK: In the year 1872 I was suffering with Consumption, and had gotten so low that I had no hope of ever getting well again. I waited for death to put an end to my sufferings. There was one of my friends who was persistently trying to have me use your Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, but I utterly refused to get any more medicine. I was disgusted with medicine. I had tried so many different medicines without being helped by any. Finding that I was not to be persuaded, he bought some of your Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic himself, and brought them to me. I at first refused to touch them. I did not want to be experimented on, but finally consented to use them merely to satisfy him, not that I expected they would do me any good. I commenced taking the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, and to my great surprise felt almost immediate relief, and was encouraged to continue using them. My condition improved under their use, until, in time I grew perfectly well, no trace of the disease remaining. My lungs had healed up and grew stronger than ever. I was permanently cured, as I have had no trouble with my lungs since that time.

I owe my life entirely to your medicines. Nothing else saved me. I will bear cheerful testimony to the great virtues possessed by your medicines. I know of several other cases here where your medicines have been used with entire success. I am well known here, being one of the original German settlers in La Porte Co., and having been in the livery business for many years.

JOHN ITTICK. N. B.—I can, and will, if necessary, swear before any Justice of the Peace, to all that I have said in the above statement.

From Cedar Falls, Iowa—A Severe Case of Bleeding from the Lungs Cured.

J. H. SCHENCK & SON, Philadelphia: Gentlemen—About four years ago I was attacked with hemorrhage of the lungs, and bled profusely. A physician attended me, but in a short time I had another hemorrhage, and at one time I thought I would bleed to death before I could get any relief. I was advised to try your Pulmonic Syrup, which I did, and I am happy to say that it saved my life. I took five or six bottles of your Syrup, and had not had a hemorrhage in the past two years, or since I used your medicine, and I now consider myself a well man.

I believe your medicines will do all you claim for them.

Yours truly, H. P. NELSON. Cedar Falls Iowa, Nov. 13, 1880.

From a Prominent Dry Goods Merchant of Grass Lake, Michigan.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK, Philadelphia, Pa.: Dear Sir—Some years ago I was told by several of the best physicians of this county that I had Consumption, and that I could live but a short time. I had all the symptoms: night sweats, a dry cough, with severe pain in my lungs at times, and I was very short of breath with the least exertion. My appetite was very poor, and I became so weak that I was unable to attend to any business. I received no benefit from the remedies given me by my physicians, and I was at last induced to try your medicines by reading the certificates of cases published by you. I at once began to improve, and they finally made a perfect cure.

I am now in perfect health, and in active business in this place, where I am well known by all. I have advised many others to use your medicines, and can tell of some wonderful cures made by them, to those who may be interested. I believe that your remedies will cure Consumption, even in its advanced stages, as you claim.

Yours truly, A. SHELLEY. Of the firm of Smith & Shelly, dry goods merchants, Grass Lake, Mich. October 27, 1880.

FROM AKRON, OHIO. CONSUMPTION CURED!

AKRON, OHIO, Feb. 17, 1881. DR. J. H. SCHENCK:

Dear Sir—Having been asked by many in regard to your medicines, and the benefit I had received from them, I have concluded to give you an account of my case. In the winter of 1873 I was pronounced an incurable Consumptive by every physician of this place, as well as several in Cleveland. I had that the symptoms—cough, night sweats, great debility and loss of flesh. I was reduced in weight from one hundred and fifty pounds to eighty pounds. I had given up all hope of recovery, when I was told by Mr. James Scanlan that he had used your medicines with good effect, and he advised me to give them a trial, although I do not think he believed they would cure me, for I was so sick at this time that no one thought that I would ever get well. I thought, however, that they might give me temporary relief, and with this object I commenced to use your Pulmonic Syrup. I had not taken it two days before I felt great relief, especially in the severity of my cough. I then took the Mandrake Pills and Seaweed Tonic, and in two weeks my appetite came back, and I began to gain strength. I took your medicines for about three months. I was too sick to do any kind of work for two years. Your medicines made a perfect cure, and I have been in good health ever since. I do not know that I can say more than this, unless it be that I believe your medicines to be good, and that they will do all that you say they will do. Yours very truly, J. A. BELL.

From Mr. Peter Christopher, of Pawnee, Ill. DR. J. H. SCHENCK & SON, Philadelphia:

Gentlemen—If you will excuse the liberty, I would like to state to you how your medicines have cured me of what seemed a fatal case of Consumption.

Three years ago I was taken sick, and was told by my physicians—who were many and from all parts—that I could not live three months. I took, besides all all their prescriptions, at least Seventy-five Bottles of Cod-Liver Oil. At last, after everything else had proven fruitless, I wrote to you to send me ten bottles of your medicine, to which you replied, advising me, for the sake of economy, to get it of the nearest druggist, which I did; and after having taken two bottles, my cough, which had been very violent, became easier, my friends, who had been despondent, became encouraged as I was, and I continued taking the medicine.

I had coughed up immense quantities of blood, and was very much reduced, weighing less than one hundred pounds. To-day I am well and hearty; my weight has increased to one hundred and eighty pounds. It is without doubt to your medicines that I owe my life. I have no hesitation in declaring that they possess all the qualities you claim for them, and more, too. I am still using them in my family as a preventive, for I have had no sickness for a long time. Yours respectfully, PETER CHRISTOPHER. Pawnee, Ill., June 12, 1875.

JOSEPH'S HOUSE. Emmitsburg, Md., June 19, 1880.

A Gentleman well-known in Zanesville, Dresden and Cohocton, writes from Pekin, Ill.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK: Dear Sir—In the winter of 1872 I was told by three prominent doctors that my wife had Consumption, and that she could not live until spring. Soon after this a friend, who lives in Dayton, Ohio, recommended that she use your medicines, but having been told that she was incurable, we had no faith in them. Her friend finally brought her a bottle of your Pulmonic Syrup, and insisted on her giving it a fair trial. She did so, and thank God, by its use her life was saved. She is now entirely well.

I am well known here, as well as in Zanesville, Dresden and Cohocton, and would refer you to the druggists and others in those towns who will remember my wife's case as a very bad one. I have recommended your medicines to a great many, and have never known them to fail in making cures where they have been given a fair trial. I am induced to send you this by the thought that it will be of such great use to suffering humanity.

Two Letters from Ohio—Do Not Fail to Read Them.

HANESVILLE, MORGAN CO., O., July 5, 1880. DR. SCHENCK:

Dear Sir—I write this to give you an account of my case, and to ask if your medicines will do me any good.

I am forty-five years of age, and before this sickness I was a strong, healthy man. I am six feet two inches high and broad shouldered, my usual weight before my sickness being about one hundred and eighty-six pounds. The first indication I had of any disease was a slight tingling in my throat, which in a week or so developed into a hacking cough. This has continued for a long time and troubles me so much that I cannot sleep at night. I have lost my appetite, and from lack of nourishment have grown so weak that I can walk but a short distance before I am completely exhausted and obliged to lie down. I have a great deal of swelling and wheezing in my throat, which leads me to think that the bronchial tubes are all stopped up. My bowels are usually constipated, and I have lost thirty or forty pounds of flesh.

Please let me hear from you soon. Your medicines are not sold in this neighborhood, but if you advise me to use them I will send to Gallopols for them. LEVI JACKS. Yours truly, LEVI JACKS.

HANESVILLE, MORGAN CO., O., Feb. 21, 1881. DR. SCHENCK:

Dear Sir—Please excuse me for not writing to you before this. You will remember that when I wrote to you last July I was very low with Consumption. As soon as I received your letter I sent for the medicines you told me to get, that is, your Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup, and began to use them as directed. I soon saw a marked improvement in all my symptoms, and after using them for some time, I was entirely cured. I am now free from all pain and trouble with my lungs, and weigh more than I ever did in my life. I am very thankful to you for your attention to my case, and I do not believe that I should be alive to-day but for the timely use of your medicines. Consumption is in my family, my father having died of it at the age of forty; as well as several other members of my family. I advise all who have Consumption or any Lung trouble to use your medicines, as I believe them to be the best medicines in the world. Since my recovery, I have been told by a doctor that he did not know what was in your medicines, but that they had cured me of Consumption.

Yours truly, LEVI JACKS.

From Mr. John G. Nothacker, of Shelby, Ohio.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK, Philadelphia: Dear Sir—In May, 1879, I caught a heavy cold, which gradually settled on my lungs, causing great difficulty and pain in breathing. I could not rest at night, being kept awake by coughing. The loss of sleep and appetite at last reduced me very much—from 190 pounds, my usual weight when in health, to 133 pounds. I took the prescriptions of physicians, but they did me no good. One day while looking over the Cleveland Herald, I noticed that your medicines had cured many cases that were at least as bad as mine, and so concluded to use them. They were rather slow in their action at first, but after I had used them for a couple of weeks, I saw that I was getting better; my appetite improved, the pain and difficulty in breathing was relieved, and after using eight bottles I felt that I was restored to perfect health. I soon recovered my former weight, and I have been quite well ever since. I am satisfied that I owe my recovery entirely to your Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills.

Truly yours, JOHN G. NOTHACKER, With C. H. Asken, 546 1/2, Richmond Co., O. February 21, 1881.

From Mr. Robert W. Jones, of London, Ohio. DR. SCHENCK:

Dear Sir—About four years ago I was taken sick with what my physician told me was Consumption of the Lungs. I had a bad cough, and was reduced very much in my weight. At different times I had seven physicians of this place and also one from Bloomsburg, attending me, and although they all thought they could help me, I grew worse very fast under their treatment. I was compelled to give up all business for two years, and no one believed, nor did I myself believe, that I should ever get well. One day I happened to call at Mr. Andrew Smith's drug store, in this place, and passed up one of your pain-bills. In reading the certificates of cures, I found one case so nearly like my own that I at once concluded to give your medicines a trial. I bought the Seaweed Tonic, Pulmonic Syrup and Mandrake Pills, and began their use according to the printed directions, and I can truly say, that from the first I saw a marked improvement in all my symptoms. This encouraged me to continue their use until I was entirely well. I have had good health since my recovery, and I believe your medicines saved my life.
