The suit of the city of Beatrice, enjoining the payment of pre-judgment bonds to the U. P. railroad company, was decided last week by Judge Weaver in favor of the railroad. Beatrice takes the suit up to the supreme court.

The real names of the three young train robbers, on the Iron Mountain road, who were sentenced each to 75 years in the penitentiary, are Archibald Horne, Philip E. Sullivan and — Cox, who had no alias. Sullivan is the son of a Texas Methodist minister. Horne has relatives in Illinois.

The following resolution was presented by the delegation representing this state in the late river improvement convention, at St. Louis:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this convention the Missouri river with its 2,000 miles of navigation, and flowing past and through four states and three territories should be placed by the government in charge of a commission of engineers, organized as in the Mississippi river commission.

The Republican's Kansas City special says: "The Executive Committee of the Missouri River Improvement Association, in conformity to the desire expressed by the Missouri River Valley delegates to the recent river convention held at St. Joseph, Mo., on the 20th inst., the purpose being to secure the interests of the Missouri River in any Congressional action that may be taken looking to the improvement of Western rivers."

The Iowa Farmer Co., of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who are the publishers of one of the very best farm and stock journals in the west have, with commendable energy, decided to present an elegant portrait, 19x24, of the late Gen.
Jas. A. Garfield, to each and every one of their readers free of charge. The price of the Farmer is but one dollar a year and well worth twice that amount. The picture is a beautiful one, the original of which was pronounced by Garfield himself, the best he ever saw; and pictures inferior in every way are being sold at 75c to $1.00 each. A copy of this one and the Iowa Farmer is sent a whole year by sending only one dollar to the Co., at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

NEWS ITEMS.

The fast train between Philadelphia and New York city recently run the distance in 25 minutes.

The question of running elevated trains by electricity is under consideration. It is believed a great saving can be effected by this method.

"Arthur will be his own successor," said a gentleman who has seen much of him since September 20th.

The president has appointed J. K.
McCannan, commissioner of railroads, vice Theophilus French.

J. W. Shafer, a gay soldier boy, recently confided Mrs. Wirth, an Omaha landlady, out of $250.

Tom Betts, colored, was hanged at Jonesboro, Ga., last Friday for murdering Judge Moore.

At Tiffin, Ohio, Chas. Madden shot and killed Miss Bernard, the girl he loved, because she failed to reciprocate.
Madden was a divinity student.

A heavy snow storm visited New York on the 4th inst.

At Brandywine, Pa., the team of Wm. Fleetwood and John Quigley was run into by the cars and both men were killed.

At Keokuk recently the packet War Eagle, in attempting to run through the draw bridge, became unmanageable, on account of the current and eddies, and went broadside against a pier, knocking it down, and smashing the boat terribly, tearing one wheel entirely away. By assistance of other boats she was tied up to shore. Several persons reported missing, supposed to be drowned.

Adelina Patti arrived in New York from Europe last week. The receipts for her first concert will reach $14,000.

Henry King was hanged at Plattsburg, N. Y., last Friday, for killing Mike Hugglin.

A Mrs. Marthan, Chicago, suicided by taking poison.

Lincoln horses are taking the pinkeye.

An attempt was made to fire the Nebraska City opera house a few evenings ago. The fire was started in some way behind the stage in combustibles prepared. It was extinguished promptly without having done much damage.

A farmer named Doherty, in county Galway, Ireland, was recently assassinated, it is believed, because he had paid his rent.

U. S. Court commenced at Omaha on the 9th inst. No jurors from this county, we believe.

A Book For Canvassers.

Judge Tourgee of North Carolina, the famous author of "A Fool's Errand" and "Bricks Without Straw," has added to his series of striking historical studies, another work, entitled "A Royal Gentleman."

"A Fool's Errand" relates the experience of a Northern Settler in the South after the war. "A Royal Gentleman," on the other hand, is a study of Southern Society and Character just before and during the war, and throws a flood of new light upon the inner history of that strange epoch.
It deals with the social, industrial, and political phases of Southern life in the ante-bellum days, and reveals the under-current of events at work—the under-current which drew a whole people into civil conflict.

In his Preface, Judge Tourgee says:
"The story is the delineation of a romantic sentiment, having its root in Slavery, but its flower and fruitage in Freedom, and concerns itself with Slavery only in order to mark the growth of character under that influence." The incidents of "A Royal Gentleman" are founded upon real events, and the characters drawn from life. In dramatic power, in romantic interest, and in literary finish, it is the author's masterpiece.

When we consider that in a little more than one year, hundreds of thousands of volumes of this author have been put in circulation among the reading and thinking people of America—books dealing with the deepest and most important problems of our national life, and yet popular, because set forth in the blazing, fascinating light of fiction—we know that the author must be making a profound impression upon his day. There is scarcely an instance in literary history of so sudden a rise to so proud an eminence.

Judged by the sale of his books, which has been the most rapid in the history of book-publishing, Judge Tourgee stands to-day the most popular of American writers. A book from his graphic pen is therefore a great literary event.

It is safe to say that all who have read "A Fool's Errand" will desire to read "A Royal Gentleman," and as it is to be sold exclusively by subscription, thousands will welcome the coming of the canvasser. The book is handsomely illustrated. For particulars address Weston Hulbert, 318 State Street, Chicago, Ill.
